House Refuses To Curtail President's Troop Power

$28,684,250,486 Defense Budget Approved 377-0

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—The House today upheld President Eisenhower's request for a flexible world strategy by beating down, 214-37, a proposal to limit the use of American troops in combat zones.

Then it voted the armed services a post-Korea low of $28,684,250,486 in new money for the year ending in mid-1955. The defense budget, which now goes to the Senate was approved on a rollcall vote of 377 to 0.

Amendment Beaten 214-37

The House overwhelmingly defeated an amendment, by Rep. Coudert R—NY), which would have required prior congressional approval before any of the new money was used to support forces in combat in Indochina or other parts of the world which the United States is not obligated by treaty to defend. The 214-37 vote that beat the Coudert proposal was a standing tally, in which members are not recorded by name.

President Eisenhower told his news conference this morning that any artificial restraint on his power to send troops anywhere in the world could not fail to damage his flexibility in trying to protect the United States.

The House changed money items in the bill only by adding $3,543,986 to continue full operation of the Murphy General Hospital at Waltham, Mass. The proposal, by Rep. Donohue (D—Mass), was approved on a 93-69 standing vote.

Ike Asked Billion More

The final total was $1,202,804,514 less than President Eisenhower originally requested. Of this 541 million dollars represented cuts by the House Appropriations Committee, and the balance were bookkeeping changes, some of which were volunteered by the services.

The measure earmarks $10,819,310,600 for the Air Force; $9,705,818,500 for the Navy and $7,619,066,986 for the Army.

Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, deputy Democratic leader, sparked an attack by Democrats who raised the question whether the budget is too small. He said "there is some doubt in my mind that the United States is strong enough to repel an attack."

But there was no attempt to restore any major funds, unlike the sharp Democratic fight last year to give the Air Force more money.

Mitchell Lashes Out At Hearings

WILMINGTON, Del., April 29 (AP)—Stephen A. Mitchell, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, tonight called the Army-McCarthy hearings "a spectacle that has disgusted the rest of the world and that makes an American pinch himself to be sure he isn't having a nightmare."

In a speech prepared for a Delaware state Jefferson-Jackson dinner, Mitchell said:

"For a solid week now—and nobody knows how much longer—eight United States senators, the entire civilian leadership of the Army, top Army generals headed by Chief of Staff Ridgway himself, and many of the heads of the Department of Defense, have all been engaged in a deadly serious, life-and-death struggle. And about what? The grave crisis in Indochina, maybe? Or what to do about the H-bomb?

"Not at all. The struggle is about who did what in regard to an officer's commission, the weekend passes, and the K.P. duty of one Private G. David Schine. Whatever has happened to the dignity and the majesty of the United States government!"

Dickenson Won't Testify At Trial; Defense Rests

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson waived his right to testify in his own defense today on charges that he informed on fellow prisoners of war in Korea and collaborated with the Chinese Communists.

"I choose to remain silent," said the 23-year-old soldier from Cracker's Neck, Va. when told that it would not be considered an admission of guilt if he preferred not to testify.

The defense then rested its case after an 8½ day court-martial trial during which Dickenson was pictured alternately as (1.) trying to curry favor with his Red captors by acting as a stool pigeon, and (2.) a victim of intimidation and cajolery by the Communists.

Case Nears Court

The case will go the eight-member court tomorrow after closing arguments by both sides. If convicted, Dickenson would be liable to a possible maximum sentence of life imprisonment.

One of the final defense witnesses was Maj. John Bojus, a member of the Army explainer team that talked with U.S. prisoners who refused to return to the Allied side after last year's cease fire.

Dickenson was one of 23 such prisoners, two of whom finally changed their minds and decided to come home.

Pressured By Reds

Bojus testified the Reds told Dickenson he would "suffer physical harm and possibly be killed" if he went home, and that "even his family might be harmed."

Bojus said that the day after Dickenson returned to the Allied side he wrote a letter to the remaining 22 nonrepatriates indicating surprise that he had been so well received.

The letter urged the 22 to return, Bojus said, telling them they would receive their back pay and assuring them that what the Communists had told them was "entirely false."

Dr. Mayo Declares Hearings "Raise Blood Pressure"

TRENTON, N.J., April 29 (AP)—Dr. Charles Mayo, chief of the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., said today the Army-McCarthy hearings are "so far below the dignity of this country that it is almost not understandable."

Mayo, a member of the U.S. delegation to the United Nations, said watching the hearings on television "raises your blood pressure."

Mayo's remarks were made after he completed his address at a United Nations conference. He said the hearings are a "strange thing that's happening in Washington today."

FHA Probe Told Some Builders 'Gypped' On Plans

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—The Senate Banking Committee today ended two weeks of a preliminary probe of housing scandals after hearing an FHA official testify he was "certain" that some builders "gypped" on plans and specifications of big postwar rental housing projects.

Laban C. Chappell, assistant director of FHA's underwriting division, told the investigators that FHA inspectors, charged with checking projects during construction, were "entirely too thinly spread" to do the job.

Chappell's testimony followed earlier statements by Federal Housing Administration officials that FHA-insured loans were often increased during the building period at the request of the builder but never decreased, even though actual costs might be running far less than the loan.

"Windfall Profits"

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind), committee chairman, has estimated that sponsors of the 7,000-odd projects built during the life of the expired program ran up "windfall" profits to an aggregate of half a billion dollars — the difference between their FHA-insured loans, supposed to represent no more than 90 per cent of estimated cost, and their actual construction costs.

Capehart read into the record, meanwhile, a letter from George M. Gross, one of the sponsors of 11 projects known as Glen Oaks Village in Long Island. These 11 projects, it has been brought out in testimony, received FHA-insured loans of more than 24 million dollars and were built for 20 millions.

$799,995 "Dividend"

The letter from Gross, dated Oct. 27, 1949, was addressed to Lester Thompson, FHA comptroller. It was in answer to an earlier letter from Thompson asking information about a Dec. 15, 1948, "dividend" payment of $799,995 to sponsors of one of the 11 projects. The letter said in part:

"Although the cash outlay made by the company is less than the estimate made by you of the normal current cost to reproduce the property (the FHA-insured loan was based on this estimate), this difference is explained by the fact that no payment was made for some expenses usually incurred in a building operation."

U. S. Army Pvt. Schine 'Sirs' Committee Over 300 Times

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—In one respect at least, G. David Schine is a very model U.S. Army private.

The young man about whom so much has been said during the Army - McCarthy hearing today made a sudden, unexpected appearance before the Senate committee he once served as an unpaid consultant.

And from the first question put to him—will you please state your name?—he showed the effects of his brief military training.

"Gerard David Schine, sir," he said.

From then on, almost every question asked, Schine carefully added the "sir." All told, he "sirred" the committee more than 300 times.

It's ironic that this polite appearance should have been made today. For it produced some of the roughest language used yet in the six-day hearing into charges (1) by Army officials that Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and aides used pressure to get favors for Schine and (2) by the McCarthy camps that Army officials used blackmail tactics to halt an inquiry into alleged subversives in the Army.

Until today, both the Army counsel, Joseph Welch, and McCarthy have been gracious and deferring to Ray Jenkins, the special counsel who is supposed to be unprejudiced, whose lone function is to dredge out facts.

But this afternoon McCarthy insisted, and loudly, that Jenkins—who, he said, has been going about bragging about his ability as a criminal lawyer—was "badgering this private."

Jenkins denied he had done any bragging about his lawyering ability. He said the only thing he bragged about was his intention to be fair, to get at the truth, "let the chips fall where they may."

Way Cleared For Indochina Discussions

Molotov Endorses Red China's Policy Of Asia For Asians

GENEVA, April 29 (AP)—East and West appeared to have cleared the way tonight for talks on the war in Indochina. Efforts to reach agreement on a formula for Korean unity bogged down in a welter of old and repetitious argument.

While Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov was solidly backing Red Chinese and North Korean plans for divided Korea in the conference hall, a French official announced the last obstacle to calling the conference on Indochina appeared to have been surmounted.

Bao Dai, Vietnamese chief of state, has agreed reluctantly after long objection to permit Viet Nam representatives to sit at the same conference table emissaries of the Communist Vietminh regime now waging bitter war against French Union troops in Indochina, the French official said.

May Open Next Week

The Indochinese conference possibly could get under way next week. It will bring together the Big Four powers, Red China, the three Associated States of Indochina, Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia, and the Vietminh representatives.

Molotov had insisted on the inclusion of the Vietminh. The French had long resisted such an invitation.

The agreement had nothing to do with negotiations to reach a truce at Dien Bien Phu, which have now collapsed. Molotov wanted to bring Vietminh representatives here to discuss a truce which would permit evacuation of the French wounded from Dien Bien Phu.

Molotov Backs China's Demand

Prince Wan Waithayakon, chairman of today's session at the conference in the old League of Nations building here, said he expected the general statements on the Korean question to be completed by Saturday.

This would permit the transfer of the Korean discussions into smaller working groups. If the conference so decided, the Indochinese question could be tackled simultaneously.

Molotov's speech today was notable for one more effort to bring China into a Big Five and his support of the Chinese demand yesterday for an "Asia for the Asians" program.

30 Atom Cannon In West Germany

FRANKFURT, Germany, April 29 (AP)—U. S. Army sources said today there are now 30 atomic cannon in West Germany capable of defending a 150-mile Rhine River front against Soviet ground attack.

Five atomic cannon battalions, each equipped with six 280mm guns, now face a potentional aggressor. Only three such battalions in Germany were identified until today, when the Army disclosed that it now has five here.

The first such battalion arrived in Germany last October. The others have been shipped here since under tight military security. They are believed to be the only American atomic cannon stationed outside of the United States.

The big 85-ton guns, the world's largest artillery, have a range of 20 miles, an elevation up to 55 degrees and can fire in almost all directions.

Their positions are somewhere west of the Rhine between Coblenz and Karlsruhe. They could hurl atomic shells across the river on enemy targets within minutes after an attack. North of Coblenz the British are responsible for defense.

Russian Diplomats Sail From Australia

PERTH, Australia, April 29 (AP)—Soviet Ambassador Nicolai Generalov and his staff sailed for home today aboard the British liner New Australia.

The Soviet party of 51 arrived at Perth in two special planes from Canberra and motored to Fremantle. No incidents were reported.

The Russians were called home when Moscow broke relations with Australia last week over the case of Soviet diplomat Vladimir Petrov, who fled communism and brought Australian officials details of alleged Red spy activities.

Pvt. Schine Takes Over At Hearing

Rep. Cole Urges U.S.-Canadian Air Defense Pact

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP)—Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-NY), asserting the Soviets soon could launch a "saturation attack against our nation," called tonight for an American - Canadian air defense pact to hasten the erection of outflung defenses.

Cole, chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, said American scientists "have devised radical new weapons and electronics devices," including atomic warheads, which promise "hitherto unattainable degrees of success" in intercepting enemy planes.

Interdependent Defenses

But, he added in a speech prepared for a Colgate University banquet that adequate defense depends upon correlation of weapons and sufficient warning time.

Cole said Canada's defense is interdependent with that of the United States and he proposed:

"That our government, as speedily as possible, enter into a mutual continental defense pact with Canada, under the authority of the United Nations, comparable in purpose, scope and organization with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization."

Threat Also "Unprecedented"

He said this should create a North American continental defense organization, under a supreme commander, with American and Canadian land, sea and air forces assigned to it.

Conceding that such a North American defense organization would be "radical and unprecedented," Cole said it would be no more so "than the threat we now face from the Soviet Union."

"I submit that all other considerations notwithstanding, it would be suicidal for Canada and the United States not to recognize the new dimensions to sovereignty brought by the threat of atomic and hydrogen warfare," he said.

Strike Against Bell System Is Threatened

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP)—The CIO Communications Workers of America today threatened a strike at any time against the vast Bell telephone system.

Vice President John L. Crull of the CWA said in a statement:

"We are still seeking peaceful settlements, even though contracts have expired in some places. However, this situation can't go on forever. We are not ruling out the possibility of a strike at any time."

The union said it has a two-million-dollar strike fund to call on if needed.

A demand for an unspecified general wage increase, plus company paid hospitalization and surgical benefits, is at the root of the CWA deadlock with American Telephone & Telegraph and its subsidiary companies.

Smith Heads For Geneva

GENEVA, April 29 (AP)—U.S. Under Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith is expected to arrive in Geneva by plane from Washington Saturday, an American source said tonight.

Smith is expected to take over the work of Secretary of State Dulles immediately at the East-West conference here.

Ike Expects No Ideal Solution In Indochina

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today a practical settlement of the Indochinese War may be possible even though a completely trustworthy peace with the Communists appears to be something over the horizon.

The President told his news conference the most the United States can hope for is to work out a practical way of getting along with the Communists. That is what we have been doing in Europe, he said.

But Eisenhower declared emphatically it would be unacceptable to permit the whole anti-Communist defense of Southeast Asia to crumble and disappear.

"Cork In The Bottle"

The President thus laid new stress on his statement earlier this week that Indochina is "the cork in the bottle" whose loss to the Communists would affect the fate of hundreds of millions in Asia.

Touching on a wide range of topics, Eisenhower made these points at his news conference:

1. A congressional proposal designed to bar the dispatch of troops to Indochina or anywhere else in the world without the advance approval of Congress would damage the President's flexibility to cope with emergencies.

2. The United States will not get into a war except through the constitutional process, involving a declaration of war by Congress.

No British Influence

3. No British advice or counsel has influenced U.S. decisions in conversations between Washington and London on the question of aid to Indochina. This was his reply to a question whether the French had asked the United States for air intervention and the request was refused on British urging.

4. On a question of lagging legislation, Eisenhower said congressional leaders have assured him they will enact his program, but he wishes they would get it on the books—and soon.

5. He believes the big issue in the forthcoming congressional elections in November is whether the administration has made a record of accomplishment or—as he put it—has dilly-dallied by the way.

6. The whole business of the McCarthy-Army row on Capitol Hill is a subject he doesn't think is something to talk about very much. He just hopes it is all concluded very quickly.

Commandos Hit Rebel Besiegers Of Dien Bien Phu

HANOI, Indochina, April 29 (AP)—French commandos in pre-dawn raids today struck Vietminh positions pressuring Dien Bien Phu's shrunken defenses. The raiders smashed a string of rebel fortifications and killed at least 70 Vietminh before they were driven back into the bastion.

The French concentrated their assault on the weakened northwest corner where the Red-led rebels have been massing for an all out thrust toward the heart of the fortress barely 600 yards away.

Other raids were launched to the east and southeast where rebel pressure has been strong.

While the Union commandos were in action, Vietminh mole men continued to bore relentlessly toward the bastion's last ditch defenses, now about one mile in diameter.

In Saigon, Gen. Nguyen Van Hinh, chief of staff of the Vietnamese Army, declared "whatever the results of the Geneva conference, the internationalization of the Indochina War should be avoided at any price."

11 Die In Truck Mishap

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, April 29 (AP)—A truck loaded with passengers and merchandise bound for a religious festival in San Luis Province blew a tire and overturned in a flooded ditch early today. Eleven passengers were killed in the crash or drowned and nine were severely injured.

Huge Photo Of Stars Took Seven Years To Complete

MT. HAMILTON, Calif., April 29 (AP)—An enormous photograph of the night sky, which in a few years will begin to tell astronomers how the milky way galaxy rotates, has been completed at Lick Observatory.

It took seven years of work with a specially constructed star camera to do the job. Completion of the project was announced today by Dr. C. D. Shane, observatory director, who with observer C. A. Wirtanen carried out the assignment.

The giant picture is made up of 1,246 photographs each 17 inches square. Each film required an exposure of two hours. The finished product, if assembled all on one surface, would cover a space about 50 feet square, or 2,500 square feet. This is approximately the floor area of a medium sized dwelling house.

The films show the stars observable in the northern hemisphere and they cover about three-quarters of the entire sky. Stars as far away as 100 million light years are included.

Because astronomers can tell which of the stars in the picture are relatively nearby and which are far away, they will be able to determine in future years something about galactic rotation.

Republic Steel Plans To Enter New Fields

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP)—Republic Steel Corp., the nation's third largest steel producer, is branching out into new fields which embrace atomic energy and the wonder ore, titanium.

The company also looks for a pickup in its steelmaking operations this year and sees little likelihood of a strike.

This was reported today by President Charles M. White.

McCarthy Protests "Abuse" Of Former Assistant By Jenkins

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—Pvt. G. David Schine, the millionaire draftee in the McCarthy-Pentagon case, took the witness stand and the TV spotlight today. And, under a protective barrage of shouted objections by his former boss, Sen. McCarthy (R—Wis), Schine testified:

1. McCarthy is right — Schine posed for a photograph with Secretary of the Army Stevens last Nov. 17 at the specific request of Stevens. The Army secretary says he doesn't remember it that way at all.

Schine explained that when he turned the photo over to McCarthy aides, the colonel was in it. He had nothing to do with cutting the colonel out, he said, and doesn't know who did it.

The wavy-haired, 6 feet 3 Schine took over the witness stand from Stevens over the vehement objections of McCarthy, who was far from finished with cross-examining the Army secretary and protested that to break up the testimony was "changing the ground rules in the middle of the game."

McCarthy, Jenkins Clash

McCarthy's hottest blasts, however, were delivered after Schine—who said he gave the original photo to George Anastos of the Investigations subcommittee staff last Thursday—testified he couldn't remember whether Anastos attended a restaurant meeting of the McCarthy staff last Monday.

Ray H. Jenkins, special counsel to the subcommittee, demanded a yes or no answer, and McCarthy came up fighting.

He accused Jenkins of "badgering" Schine. He said the questioning was "indecent" and "improper" — "the most improper thing I've ever seen." And he shouted: "Maybe it will serve a purpose — because the American people are watching this spectacle."

Obviously seething, Jenkins retorted he was only trying to get at the facts. The uproar ended when the personable young Schine—who confined his answers to military - type "yes, sirs" and "right, sirs" as much as he could—said he thought he ought to see a lawyer.

Schine To Return To Stand

Amid laughter, Schine explained he wanted a lawyer to advise him whether he ought to have a lawyer with him in further testimony. He'll be back on the witness stand tomorrow morning at 9:30 a.m.

Schine's appearance—under subpoena—followed testimony by Secretary Stevens that he (Stevens) might conceivably have suggested a phone call in which a top aide sought to quash charges against some employes at Ft. Monmouth, N.J., last November—just before those employes were to be suspended on security grounds.

The Army secretary, plainly wilting in his sixth day on the witness stand, acknowledged this possibility after Jenkins dramatically produced a memo dictated by the Ft. Monmouth commander, Maj. Gen. Kirke Lawton, just before the morning session opened.

That memo referred to John G. Adams, Army counsel, and said: "Adams asked Lawton by phone if he could see his way clear to withdraw certain cases which you

Heads Of Labor Unions To Meet

CHICAGO, April 29 (AP)—Presidents of three powerful labor unions, the teamsters, steelworkers and mine workers, will confer in Washington tomorrow.

Dave Beck, head of the AFL Teamsters Union, announced the meeting tonight.

He said he and John L. Lewis, of the United Mine Workers Union, and David J. McDonald, of the CIO United Steel Workers, would discuss ways the three unions could help each other.

In Washington, there was one report that Beck intended to invite the other two unions into the AFL. The UMW is independent, but has been affiliated at various times with both the AFL and CIO.

Capehart read into the record, meanwhile, a letter from George M. Gross, one of the sponsors of 11 projects known as Glen Oaks Village in Long Island. These 11 projects, it has been brought out in testimony, received FHA-insured loans of more than 24 million dollars and were built for 20 millions.

$799,995 "Dividend"

The letter from Gross, dated Oct. 27, 1949, was addressed to Lester Thompson, FHA comptroller. It was in answer to an earlier letter from Thompson asking information about a Dec. 15, 1948, "dividend" payment of $799,995 to sponsors of one of the 11 projects. The letter said in part:

"Although the cash outlay made by the company is less than the estimate made by you of the normal current cost to reproduce the property (the FHA-insured loan was based on this estimate), this difference is explained by the fact that no payment was made for some expenses usually incurred in a building operation."

U. S. Army Pvt. Schine 'Sirs' Committee Over 300 Times

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—In one respect at least, G. David Schine is a very model U.S. Army private.

The young man about whom so much has been said during the Army - McCarthy hearing today made a sudden, unexpected appearance before the Senate committee he once served as an unpaid consultant.

And from the first question put to him—will you please state your name?—he showed the effects of his brief military training.

"Gerard David Schine, sir," he said.

From then on, almost every question asked, Schine carefully added the "sir." All told, he "sirred" the committee more than 300 times.

It's ironic that this polite appearance should have been made today. For it produced some of the roughest language used yet in the six-day hearing into charges (1) by Army officials that Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and aides used pressure to get favors for Schine and (2) by the McCarthy camps that Army officials used blackmail tactics to halt an inquiry into alleged subversives in the Army.

Until today, both the Army counsel, Joseph Welch, and McCarthy have been gracious and deferring to Ray Jenkins, the special counsel who is supposed to be unprejudiced, whose lone function is to dredge out facts.

But this afternoon McCarthy insisted, and loudly, that Jenkins—who, he said, has been going about bragging about his ability as a criminal lawyer—was "badgering this private."

Jenkins denied he had done any bragging about his lawyering ability. He said the only thing he bragged about was his intention to be fair, to get at the truth, "let the chips fall where they may."

Way Cleared For Indochina Discussions

Molotov Endorses Red China's Policy Of Asia For Asians

GENEVA, April 29 (AP)—East and West appeared to have cleared the way tonight for talks on the war in Indochina. Efforts to reach agreement on a formula for Korean unity bogged down in a welter of old and repetitious argument.

While Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov was solidly backing Red Chinese and North Korean plans for divided Korea in the conference hall, a French official announced the last obstacle to calling the conference on Indochina appeared to have been surmounted.

Bao Dai, Vietnamese chief of state, has agreed reluctantly after long objection to permit Viet Nam representatives to sit at the same conference table emissaries of the Communist Vietminh regime now waging bitter war against French Union troops in Indochina, the French official said.

May Open Next Week

The Indochinese conference possibly could get under way next week. It will bring together the Big Four powers, Red China, the three Associated States of Indochina, Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia, and the Vietminh representatives.

Molotov had insisted on the inclusion of the Vietminh. The French had long resisted such an invitation.

The agreement had nothing to do with negotiations to reach a truce at Dien Bien Phu, which have now collapsed. Molotov wanted to bring Vietminh representatives here to discuss a truce which would permit evacuation of the French wounded from Dien Bien Phu.

Molotov Backs China's Demand

Prince Wan Waithayakon, chairman of today's session at the conference in the old League of Nations building here, said he expected the general statements on the Korean question to be completed by Saturday.

This would permit the transfer of the Korean discussions into smaller working groups. If the conference so decided, the Indochinese question could be tackled simultaneously.

Molotov's speech today was notable for one more effort to bring China into a Big Five and his support of the Chinese demand yesterday for an "Asia for the Asians" program.

30 Atom Cannon In West Germany

FRANKFURT, Germany, April 29 (AP)—U. S. Army sources said today there are now 30 atomic cannon in West Germany capable of defending a 150-mile Rhine River front against Soviet ground attack.

Five atomic cannon battalions, each equipped with six 280mm guns, now face a potentional aggressor. Only three such battalions in Germany were identified until today, when the Army disclosed that it now has five here.

The first such battalion arrived in Germany last October. The others have been shipped here since under tight military security. They are believed to be the only American atomic cannon stationed outside of the United States.

The big 85-ton guns, the world's largest artillery, have a range of 20 miles, an elevation up to 55 degrees and can fire in almost all directions.

Their positions are somewhere west of the Rhine between Coblenz and Karlsruhe. They could hurl atomic shells across the river on enemy targets within minutes after an attack. North of Coblenz the British are responsible for defense.

Russian Diplomats Sail From Australia

PERTH, Australia, April 29 (AP)—Soviet Ambassador Nicolai Generalov and his staff sailed for home today aboard the British liner New Australia.

The Soviet party of 51 arrived at Perth in two special planes from Canberra and motored to Fremantle. No incidents were reported.

The Russians were called home when Moscow broke relations with Australia last week over the case of Soviet diplomat Vladimir Petrov, who fled communism and brought Australian officials details of alleged Red spy activities.

Pvt. Schine Takes Over At Hearing

Rep. Cole Urges U. S.-Canadian Air Defense Pact

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP)—Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-NY), asserting the Soviets soon could launch a "saturation attack against our nation," called tonight for an American - Canadian air defense pact to hasten the erection of outflung defenses.

Cole, chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, said American scientists "have devised radical new weapons and electronics devices," including atomic warheads, which promise "hitherto unattainable degrees of success" in intercepting enemy planes.

Interdependent Defenses

But, he added in a speech prepared for a Colgate University banquet that adequate defense depends upon correlation of weapons and sufficient warning time.

Cole said Canada's defense is interdependent with that of the United States and he proposed:

"That our government, as speedily as possible, enter into a mutual continental defense pact with Canada, under the authority of the United Nations, comparable in purpose, scope and organization with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization."

Threat Also "Unprecedented"

He said this should create a North American continental defense organization, under a supreme commander, with American and Canadian land, sea and air forces assigned to it.

Conceding that such a North American defense organization would be "radical and unprecedented," Cole said it would be no more so "than the threat we now face from the Soviet Union."

"I submit that all other considerations notwithstanding, it would be suicidal for Canada and the United States not to recognize the new dimensions to sovereignty brought by the threat of atomic and hydrogen warfare," he said.

Strike Against Bell System Is Threatened

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP)—The CIO Communications Workers of America today threatened a strike at any time against the vast Bell telephone system.

Vice President John L. Crull of the CWA said in a statement:

"We are still seeking peaceful settlements, even though contracts have expired in some places. However, this situation can't go on forever. We are not ruling out the possibility of a strike at any time."

The union said it has a two-million-dollar strike fund to call on if needed.

A demand for an unspecified general wage increase, plus company paid hospitalization and surgical benefits, is at the root of the CWA deadlock with American Telephone & Telegraph and its subsidiary companies.

Smith Heads For Geneva

GENEVA, April 29 (AP)—U.S. Under Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith is expected to arrive in Geneva by plane from Washington Saturday, an American source said tonight.

Smith is expected to take over the work of Secretary of State Dulles immediately at the East-West conference here.

Ike Expects No Ideal Solution In Indochina

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today a practical settlement of the Indochinese War may be possible even though a completely trustworthy peace with the Communists appears to be something over the horizon.

The President told his news conference the most the United States can hope for is to work out a practical way of getting along with the Communists. That is what we have been doing in Europe, he said.

But Eisenhower declared emphatically it would be unacceptable to permit the whole anti-Communist defense of Southeast Asia to crumble and disappear.

"Cork In The Bottle"

The President thus laid new stress on his statement earlier this week that Indochina is "the cork in the bottle" whose loss to the Communists would affect the fate of hundreds of millions in Asia.

Touching on a wide range of topics, Eisenhower made these points at his news conference:

1. A congressional proposal designed to bar the dispatch of troops to Indochina or anywhere else in the world without the advance approval of Congress would damage the President's flexibility to cope with emergencies.

2. The United States will not get into a war except through the constitutional process, involving a declaration of war by Congress.

No British Influence

3. No British advice or counsel has influenced U.S. decisions in conversations between Washington and London on the question of aid to Indochina. This was his reply to a question whether the French had asked the United States for air intervention and the request was refused on British urging.

4. On a question of lagging legislation, Eisenhower said congressional leaders have assured him they will enact his program, but he wishes they would get it on the books—and soon.

5. He believes the big issue in the forthcoming congressional elections in November is whether the administration has made a record of accomplishment or—as he put it—has dilly-dallied by the way.

6. The whole business of the McCarthy-Army row on Capitol Hill is a subject he doesn't think is something to talk about very much. He just hopes it is all concluded very quickly.

Commandos Hit Rebel Besiegers Of Dien Bien Phu

HANOI, Indochina, April 29 (AP)—French commandos in pre-dawn raids today struck Vietminh positions pressuring Dien Bien Phu's shrunken defenses. The raiders smashed a string of rebel fortifications and killed at least 70 Vietminh before they were driven back into the bastion.

The French concentrated their assault on the weakened northwest corner where the Red-led rebels have been massing for an all out thrust toward the heart of the fortress barely 600 yards away.

Other raids were launched to the east and southeast where rebel pressure has been strong.

While the Union commandos were in action, Vietminh mole men continued to bore relentlessly toward the bastion's last ditch defenses, now about one mile in diameter.

In Saigon, Gen. Nguyen Van Hinh, chief of staff of the Vietnamese Army, declared "whatever the results of the Geneva conference, the internationalization of the Indochina War should be avoided at any price."

11 Die In Truck Mishap

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, April 29 (AP)—A truck loaded with passengers and merchandise bound for a religious festival in San Luis Province blew a tire and overturned in a flooded ditch early today. Eleven passengers were killed in the crash or drowned and nine were severely injured.

Huge Photo Of Stars Took Seven Years To Complete

MT. HAMILTON, Calif., April 29 (AP)—An enormous photograph of the night sky, which in a few years will begin to tell astronomers how the milky way galaxy rotates, has been completed at Lick Observatory.

It took seven years of work with a specially constructed star camera to do the job. Completion of the project was announced today by Dr. C. D. Shane, observatory director, who with observer C. A. Wirtanen carried out the assignment.

The giant picture is made up of 1,246 photographs each 17 inches square. Each film required an exposure of two hours. The finished product, if assembled all on one surface, would cover a space about 50 feet square, or 2,500 square feet. This is approximately the floor area of a medium sized dwelling house.

The films show the stars observable in the northern hemisphere and they cover about three-quarters of the entire sky. Stars as far away as 100 million light years are included.

Because astronomers can tell which of the stars in the picture are relatively nearby and which are far away, they will be able to determine in future years something about galactic rotation.

Republic Steel Plans To Enter New Fields

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP)—Republic Steel Corp., the nation's third largest steel producer, is branching out into new fields which embrace atomic energy and the wonder ore, titanium.

The company also looks for a pickup in its steelmaking operations this year and sees little likelihood of a strike.

McCarthy Protests "Abuse" Of Former Assistant By Jenkins

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—Pvt. G. David Schine, the millionaire draftee in the McCarthy-Pentagon case, took the witness stand and the TV spotlight today. And, under a protective barrage of shouted objections by his former boss, Sen. McCarthy (R—Wis), Schine testified:

1. McCarthy is right — Schine posed for a photograph with Secretary of the Army Stevens last Nov. 17 at the specific request of Stevens. The Army secretary says he doesn't remember it that way at all.

Schine explained that when he turned the photo over to McCarthy aides, the colonel was in it. He had nothing to do with cutting the colonel out, he said, and doesn't know who did it.

The wavy-haired, 6 feet 3 Schine took over the witness stand from Stevens over the vehement objections of McCarthy, who was far from finished with cross-examining the Army secretary and protested that to break up the testimony was "changing the ground rules in the middle of the game."

McCarthy, Jenkins Clash

McCarthy's hottest blasts, however, were delivered after Schine—who said he gave the original photo to George Anastos of the Investigations subcommittee staff last Thursday—testified he couldn't remember whether Anastos attended a restaurant meeting of the McCarthy staff last Monday.

Ray H. Jenkins, special counsel to the subcommittee, demanded a yes or no answer, and McCarthy came up fighting.

He accused Jenkins of "badgering" Schine. He said the questioning was "indecent" and "improper" — "the most improper thing I've ever seen." And he shouted: "Maybe it will serve a purpose — because the American people are watching this spectacle."

Obviously seething, Jenkins retorted he was only trying to get at the facts. The uproar ended when the personable young Schine—who confined his answers to military - type "yes, sirs" and "right, sirs" as much as he could—said he thought he ought to see a lawyer.

Schine To Return To Stand

Amid laughter, Schine explained he wanted a lawyer to advise him whether he ought to have a lawyer with him in further testimony. He'll be back on the witness stand tomorrow morning at 9:30 a.m.

Schine's appearance—under subpoena—followed testimony by Secretary Stevens that he (Stevens) might conceivably have suggested a phone call in which a top aide sought to quash charges against some employes at Ft. Monmouth, N.J., last November—just before those employes were to be suspended on security grounds.

The Army secretary, plainly wilting in his sixth day on the witness stand, acknowledged this possibility after Jenkins dramatically produced a memo dictated by the Ft. Monmouth commander, Maj. Gen. Kirke Lawton, just before the morning session opened.

That memo referred to John G. Adams, Army counsel, and said: "Adams asked Lawton by phone if he could see his way clear to withdraw certain cases which you

Heads Of Labor Unions To Meet

CHICAGO, April 29 (AP)—Presidents of three powerful labor unions, the teamsters, steelworkers and mine workers, will confer in Washington tomorrow.

Dave Beck, head of the AFL Teamsters Union, announced the meeting tonight.

He said he and John L. Lewis, of the United Mine Workers Union, and David J. McDonald, of the CIO United Steel Workers, would discuss ways the three unions could help each other.

In Washington, there was one report that Beck intended to invite the other two unions into the AFL. The UMW is independent, but has been affiliated at various times with both the AFL and CIO.

Tax Collections In State Running Near Estimates

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 29 (AP)—The Comptroller's office reported today that state tax collections through March 31 totaled $4,828,000 only $58,000 more than Gov. McKeldin and the Legislature estimated in putting together the 1954-55 budget.

A spokesman said the increase could be attributed primarily to the release of money which had been held in reserve for appropriations in previous years.

He predicted receipts by the end of the fiscal year, June 30, would "come very close to hitting the estimates." In the last few years they've been considerably ahead.

Income taxes and receipts from franchise taxes were the only major sources lagging behind expectations, but income taxes especially were expected to show a sharp rise when the current bundle of returns is included.

Income tax receipts for the first nine months totaled more than 18 million dollars but were almost $890,000 behind last year's figure. Franchise taxes amounted to nearly five million dollars, and sales and use taxes had brought in some 24½ million dollars.

Sailor Prevents Woman's Suicide

NEW ORLEANS, April 29 (AP)—An off-duty Navy man leaped into the Mississippi River today and saved a 40-year-old woman who said she jumped into the river because she has cancer.

Police Lt. Eldred Paternostro identified the woman as Mrs. Irma Parker of New Orleans. Her rescuer was identified as W. D. Schmidt, an electrician's mate 3rd class aboard the USS Kenneth M. Willet.

Police said the woman dropped into the water at Eads Plaza where Canal St. ends at the river. Schmidt grabbed a life preserver from a ferry and leaped after her.

The sailor managed to keep the woman afloat until both were taken aboard a small boat.

President Asks Nation Observe Mother's Day

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—President Eisenhower called today for nation - wide observance of Mother's Day on May 9.

In a proclamation, the President said "our mothers are enshrined in our hearts as symbols of those high ideals which have fostered our growth as a great nation."

Eisenhower urged the public generally to display the American flag at their homes and in other suitable places on May 9 "as an expression of love for their own mothers and reverence for the mothers of our country."

Stevens Asked

(Lawton) have recommended for removal as bad security risks."

Lawton Is Quoted

It then quoted Lawton as saying: "I will not. Let the secretary (Stevens) take the responsibility."

Stevens, explaining his stand on the issue of alleged security risks, said he did not want to be a party to any unfair suspensions based on "meager or almost nonexistent information." He said he feared Gen. Lawton might be moving too fast "without sufficient information."

Schine's appearance as a witness renewed a previous hot controversy over the picture which everybody agreed was taken at McGuire Air Force Base, near Ft. Dix, N.J., when McCarthy and Stevens—among others—flew there from New York last Nov. 17.

The McCarthy forces say the picture proves Stevens was going out of his way to be nice to the just-drafted Schine, who met them at the plane, even though Stevens now charges McCarthy and aides had resorted to improper pressure to get favored treatment for Schine.

Schine Gives His Version

Schine gave his version of that today after Jenkins studiously avoided asking—at this point in the hearing—who suggested that he pose with Stevens.

"I was asked by the secretary of the Army to stand next to him while the picture was being taken," Schine said.

The young soldier—who was the unpaid chief consultant to the McCarthy committee before the Army trapped him last Nov. 3—said he got a copy of the picture from Air Force photographers and hung it on the wall of his New York office.

Schine said the picture showed Col. Jack T. Bradley on his right and Stevens on his left. He added: "My own personal opinion is the fact that Col. Bradley . . . was in the picture in no way detracted from the fact that the secretary asked me to pose with him."

Schine testified he discussed the picture with Roy M. Cohn, McCarthy chief counsel, last Wednesday, then flew to New York, picked it up, and turned it over to Anastos here on Thursday.

Apparent Discrepancy

(Cohn, who testified previously, said the picture first was mentioned in a discussion with Jenkins "late last week" and that Schine brought it here from New York during the weekend. This apparent discrepancy was not explored today.)

Schine said he didn't know how Col. Bradley came to be snipped out of the photo as it appeared when Schine turned it over to the subcommittee.

McCarthy then intimated the Army might have done some "doctoring" of its own in the picture it produced to back up its charge the Stevens-Schine photo was "doctored." This point got lost in the shuffle, too.

England, fourth grade; Thomas M. Wagner, sixth grade; Miss Sara E. Wright, principal and sixth grade teacher; Mrs. Ruth Rice Wolford, first grade, and Mrs. Elizabeth Kalbaugh Rank, second and third grades.

Area Man Is Sought On Check Count

A detainer against one of two men being held in Howard County Jail, Ellicott City, on charges of breaking and entering, has been obtained by Allegany County authorities and sent to police of that city.

The detainer was issued for William Kenneth Kuhn, 23, Mineral County, W. Va., who is wanted for questioning concerning an alleged forged check he is said to have passed at a local tavern.

According to County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya, Kuhn is said to have cashed a check here bearing the forged name of G. Blake Hanlin. The check, he added, was drawn on the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Keyser.

Kuhn and Alvin Eugene Losh, 24, also of Mineral County, had detainers placed against them by authorities of that county in connection with a breaking and entering of a Mt. Storm service station earlier this month.

West Virginia State Trooper D. G. Peters and Mineral County Prosecutor Vernon E. Rankin questioned both of the men Wednesday after Trooper Peters had traced the pair to Washington and then alerted Maryland State Police of their presence in the Ellicott City area.

Trooper Peters said the men are to be charged with entering the service station of Kuhn's uncle, Paul Kuhn, on April 11. The trooper said a search of the apartment of Losh's wife in Washington uncovered the keys to the cash register of the Mt. Storm service station and also some of the articles which were reported missing after the entry was made.

Kuhn is said to have admitted to the Mt. Storm breaking and entering and to have implicated Losh, although Trooper Peters said the latter has denied having participated in the crime. Strangely enough the two men's actions are reversed in the Howard County affair, Losh admitting to the action and Kuhn denying being implicated.

Prosecuting Attorney Rankin said several charges of forgery will also be placed against Kuhn in Mineral County.

To Get Certificates

Sixteen members of the Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company will receive certificates signifying their completion of a 60-hour course in basic firefighting today at the unit's fire hall.

IOOF Lodge Plans Program Tonight At IOOF Temple

C. E. Dowlan, vice grand of Chosen Friends Lodge 34, IOOF, is in charge of a program to be held today at 8 p. m., at Odd Fellows Temple, South Mechanic Street, honoring all past vice grands of the area lodges in Western Maryland and nearby West Virginia.

Members of the order who have served a term as vice grand of their respective lodges have been urged to attend.

This is the second in a series of events honoring elective officers. The next such meeting will be held July 30 when financial secretaries will be honored.

This program is open to Odd Fellows and friends. Chosen Friends Lodge will hold a short business meeting at 7:30 p. m.

The initiatory degree will be conferred on a class of candidates by Chosen Friends Lodge on Friday, May 14.

One Protest Received On New Bus Fares

The Maryland Public Service Commission has received a protest against the increase in rates by the Cumberland Transit Lines that goes into effect Saturday.

Albert L. Deen, executive secretary of the PSC, said yesterday that the commission, however, has decided not to intervene and block the higher rates.

Deen said the PSC has information that indicated that the company operated at an $8,000 deficit in 1953.

The protest was received from Cumberland Lodge 212, International Association of Machinists, signed by C. F. Schelble, recording secretary.

The lodge noted that the membership of the union is unanimously not in favor of any increase of rates by the Cumberland Transit Lines or the C&A Gas Company.

The union referred to unemployment of the Cumberland area and said that an increase in the cost of living should be avoided.

While the commission said it will not block the fare hike Saturday, Deen stated it will make such investigation and keep watch on the operations of the company in regards to future action for fare revision.

"General Staff School" For World's Army Of Christians Is Set Up In New York City

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP)—You might call it a "general staff school" for the world's army of Christians.

Its objective: to train a picked group of leaders from around the globe in a common strategy for meeting modern challenges to religion.

The unusual program, first of its kind, is being set up at Union Theological Seminary here.

Its launching was announced today by Union President Dr. Henry P. Van Dusen under a half-million-dollar Rockefeller Foundation grant.

Involved is a new approach toward staffing Christianity with a high-level cadre skilled in combatting current ideological foes.

Dr. Van Dusen said the program will serve "a compelling need" for welding church leadership into more effective, mutual action.

Outstanding younger clergymen—the rising leaders of churches in various countries—will be brought here for advanced religious studies, focused on such matters as these:

1. Gauging the methods, strengths and weak points of movements such as secular humanism, and fascism and communism.

2. Assessing Christianity's position in this arena of international conflict, and sharpening its tools against the forces of antireligion.

3. Surveying relationships of differing religious beliefs, and the bases for common stands.

The Rockefeller grant of $525,000 is to keep the program going for its first five years, and cover fellowships for up to 125 persons.

Each year, 20 to 25 select men and women, expected to become pillars of their denominations, will be brought here for the year-long courses. The first group will be assembled by the fall of 1955.

They will be chosen by church leaders in their home countries, subject to approval of the seminary and an American advisory board, including national figures in church and other fields.

The program, Dr. Van Dusen said, hopes to give a "highly qualified" body of leaders an "awareness of common responsibilities and strategy for the Christian churches in the critical period ahead."

He said the program also should make a "tremendous contribution" to the worldwide Christian cooperative movement.

Explosion Makes Open Truck Of Closed One

READING, Pa., April 29 (AP) — Jack Bair, 32, sat in his closed truck yesterday and started to light a cigarette.

A moment later, Bair was sitting on an open truck, his face burned slightly but otherwise unharmed.

Police said gas from a compressor tank had leaked into the cab of the truck. The blast tore the roof and sides off the truck cab.

Army Produces List Of Officers At Hearing

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP) — At the insistence of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), the Army produced a list of its uniformed personel attending yesterday's McCarthy—Pentagon hearings.

It included three generals, four colonels, a major and a corporal.

McCarthy said this looked like a waste of manpower to him—he thought the officers should be carrying on their regular military duties.

Army Secretary Stevens contended they all were present to supply such information as Senate investigators might call for.

Catholics Forbidden To Reed Greek's Book

VATICAN CITY, April 29 (AP)—A decree of the Vatican's holy office today placed "The Last Temptation," a novel by Greek author Niko Kazantzakis, on the index of books Catholics are forbidden to read.

In Berlin, publisher Walter Kahnert who brought out the book under the German title, "Die Letzte Versuchung," said it pictures the life of Christ in a deeply religious spirit but does not follow church dogma.

He said he thought the part the Vatican objected to was the author's description of a vision by Christ on the cross of what his life might have been had he been a normal man and not a Messiah.

Clara June Dougherty Is Honor Guest Of YBW Club

The Young Business Women's Club held a combined record party and surprise bridal shower for Mrs. Clara June Dougherty, Wednesday evening at Central YMCA.

The former Miss Clara June Helmick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Helmick, Thomas W. Va., became the bride of John E. Dougherty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Dougherty, 709 Lincoln Street, March 27. The wedding ceremony was solemnized at 1 o'clock in St. Patrick's Catholic Church with Rev. John U. Lyness officiating.

For the record party the members came in costume representing the name of a record. Mrs. Dorothy Shroyer and Miss Joan Schaidt received the prize for the most original with their "Walking My Baby Back Home;" Mrs. Marian Ryan, the prettiest, "The Gypsy;" and Mrs. Dougherty, the funniest, "Old Black Joe."

Entertainment featured piano selections by Miss Mary Louise Firley and group singing.

The bridal motif was carried out in the party with wedding bells and the cake adorned with miniature bells.

Other members present were Mrs. Mary Frye, Mrs. Barbara Merritt, Ms. Mary Ellen Cousins, Mrs. Bernadetta McKenzie, Miss Beatrice Parks, Miss Naomi Parks, Miss Mary Linn Baker and Miss Joan Nichols.

Miss Edith Ross of Merle Norman Cosmetics Studio will be the speaker and will give a demonstration at the May 12 meeting.

Homemakers Have Time Management Training Class

A Homemakers training school on time management and household tasks was conducted by Miss Joann Reitz, home demonstration agent, in three areas of the county, yesterday, Wednesday and Tuesday. The meetings were held in the court house here, Lonaconing and the Spring Gap Community Center.

The meetings were held in the form of discussion groups. First the groups discussed the reasons why the homemaker does not have enough time to do all her work, followed by solution suggestions.

Reasons listed for lack of time were too high a standard for work, as well as too great a quantity, clutter, the use of outdated equipment and products, increased outside interest, lost time in movement and travel, rearrangement of equipment, and physical condition which also have an influence on the time element for work.

Solutions suggested were the use of a time plan or schedule, stressing it may be either weekly or daily, and lists must be first. It was pointed out the plan must be flexible so that the schedule is a tool to help get things done, not an end in itself.

Improved methods were emphasized and it was pointed out that one task must be studied at a time, breaking it down into various parts. Preparation for the job, with a good work area is to be considered first, then a well lighted area, enough space and comfortable working heights, using right equipment and keeping it in good condition, assemble tools and supplies and arrange conveniently.

After doing a task the homemakers were urged to analyze it, retracing each step required.

In the last step of cleaning and putting away, the importance of keeping the equipment for one job in one spot, and trying to keep things in place while working was stressed.

Entertainment consisted of an Easter egg hunt, and various games.

Miss Mary Frances Coffey was the guest of honor.

Members present were Patricia King, Charlotte King, Grace Herold, Charlotte Murphy, Caroline Stephens, Anna McDade and Mary Kimberlin.

Posture Week To Be Observed

Governor Theodore R. McKeldin has proclaimed May 1, 7 inclusive, Correct Posture Week in Maryland, sponsored by the Maryland Chiropractic Association, as part of the national observance.

In making the proclamation he said, in any general program planned to better the health of the people of this nation, posture must be considered as one of the main factors in promoting sound bodies. The week has been set aside to stress the importance of correct posture that the health of the nation may benefit thereby.

Dr. Rita Brinker, chairman for Western Maryland, has placed posters and literature on the subject in all schools of the Tri-State area, she said last evening.

Memphis Church Will Defy Ban, Show Chaplin Picture

MEMPHIS, April 29 (AP) — The Charlie Chaplin film "Carmen," banned sight unseen by the Memphis Board of Censors, will be shown Sunday night by the First Unitarian Church.

The film had been scheduled for showing last Sunday but was withdrawn after Chief Censor Lloyd T. Binford advised the church that presentation of the film would "violate the law."

All Chaplin films have been banned here because the board objected to the actor's private life.

The Rev. Richard B. Gibbs, pastor, said the film was not being shown "in the spirit of controversy or self-righteousness. We simply feel that a principle is at stake here, whether or not a group of mature people shall be told what or who is morally fit for them to be associated with in their church life."

The church Board of Trustees viewed the film privately Monday night and said they saw nothing morally improper. The movie is a burlesque of the opera "Carmen."

Gibbs said the film "is one in our series of films shown fortnightly as part of our program of showing pictures not ordinarily available through the commercial theaters. All of our meetings, religious and educational, are open to the public at any time. The admission charge (50 cents) is to cover the expenses, including refreshments."

VA Nursing Services Kept Upset By Cupid

KANSAS CITY, April 29 (AP)—The director of nursing services for the Veterans Administration says there are times when she'd like to see cupid slow down.

Miss Dorothy Wheeler told about competition with the lad of the bow and arrow today at the annual convention of the Mid-West Hospital Assn.

"Recruitment for all hospitals is a perpetual race with cupid to whose machinations we owe 60 per cent of our nurse losses each year," she said. "While I'm not against love and romance there are times when I wish the lad with the bow and arrow would take a sabbatical."

Hearing In Lewis Case Set May 7

ELLICOTT CITY, Md., April 29 (AP)—Circuit Judges James Clark has set May 7 for hearing preliminary arguments in the perjury and libel cases against radio commentator Fulton Lewis Jr.

Clark made the date tentative, subject to agreement of all parties involved.

Lewis' case was transferred here on a change of venue from St. Mary's County, where he was indicted by a grand jury which investigated charges Lewis himself had made of lax law enforcement in the county.

The probe also resulted in indictments against seven tavern keepers on charges of selling liquor to minors.

Lewis was cited on one charge of perjury and three of libel. The perjury count accuses him of lying in telling investigations that he never served alcoholic beverages to minors at Placid Harbor, Lewis' 75-acre estate in St.Mary's County.

He is accused in two indictments of having libeled trial magistrates Willson Knight and J. Donelan Hurry Sr. in a letter to Gov. McKeldin.

The other libel charge involves a letter published in the St.Mary's Enterprise involving State Sen. Paul J. Bailey, Leonardtown attorney Joseph D. Weiner and former State Sen. Philip H. Dorsey Jr.

The spleen is the most important of the so-called ductless glands of the body.

Greeks Certainly Made Boner When They Named Atom

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—Additional evidence that the Greeks pulled a boner when they gave the atom its name was described today to the National Academy of Sciences.

The word atom is from the Greek meaning indivisible.

Even before the atom was split—opening up the era of atomic energy—scientists had found that an atom contains a nucleus made up of at least two kinds of particles called neutrons and protons and that the nucleus is surrounded by electrons.

Today Dr. Hans Bethe of Cornell, whose theories about how the sun derives its energy was the basis on which [illegible] was built, told the academy this:

In recent times, the nucleus of an atom has been found to contain so many other different particles that "none of the experts can tell you (offhand) how many there are."

Memphis Church Will Defy Ban, Show Chaplin Picture

MEMPHIS, April 29 (AP) — The Charlie Chaplin film "Carmen," banned sight unseen by the Memphis Board of Censors, will be shown Sunday night by the First Unitarian Church.

The film had been scheduled for showing last Sunday but was withdrawn after Chief Censor Lloyd T. Binford advised the church that presentation of the film would "violate the law."

All Chaplin films have been banned here because the board objected to the actor's private life.

The Rev. Richard B. Gibbs, pastor, said the film was not being shown "in the spirit of controversy or self-righteousness. We simply feel that a principle is at stake here, whether or not a group of mature people shall be told what or who is morally fit for them to be associated with in their church life."

The church Board of Trustees viewed the film privately Monday night and said they saw nothing morally improper. The movie is a burlesque of the opera "Carmen."

Gibbs said the film "is one in our series of films shown fortnightly as part of our program of showing pictures not ordinarily available through the commercial theaters. All of our meetings, religious and educational, are open to the public at any time. The admission charge (50 cents) is to cover the expenses, including refreshments."

VA Nursing Services Kept Upset By Cupid

KANSAS CITY, April 29 (AP)—The director of nursing services for the Veterans Administration says there are times when she'd like to see cupid slow down.

Miss Dorothy Wheeler told about competition with the lad of the bow and arrow today at the annual convention of the Mid-West Hospital Assn.

"Recruitment for all hospitals is a perpetual race with cupid to whose machinations we owe 60 per cent of our nurse losses each year," she said. "While I'm not against love and romance there are times when I wish the lad with the bow and arrow would take a sabbatical."

Car Crash Fatal To Son Of Famed Baseball Hurler

WATERLOO, Md., April 29 (AP)—A 20-year-old Anne Arundel county youth and Robert W. Johnson, 33-year-old son of the famed pitcher, Walter Johnson, were killed in Maryland highway accidents overnight.

Their deaths brought to four the highway accident toll in less than 24 hours, with three on the same stretch of Washington-Baltimore Boulevard.

Johnson was killed as he and three companions were returning to their homes in Montgomery county from a day at Bowie Race Track. Their car went off the road near Fairland, northeast of Washington, and rammed a fence. The other three were slightly hurt.

Robert C. Houck Jr. of Marley Park was the victim of a head-on crash about 3 a.m. on the boulevard two miles north of the Waterloo State Police barracks.

State troopers said he veered across the center line of the four-lane highway and collided with a car driven by George W. Thomas, 34, of Richmond, Va. Thomas and five other persons in the two cars were hospitalized in Baltimore.

The accident in which Houck was killed was on the so-called "Dorsey Stretch" of the boulevard where Mr. and Mrs. George R. Pappas of Philadelphia were killed Wednesday afternoon when their car collided head-on with a truck.

Bethlehem Dividend Of $1.25 Is Declared

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP)—The Board of Directors of Bethlehem Steel Corp. today declared a dividend of $1.25 a share on common stock, and Chairman Eugene G. Grace said that for the first time since mid-1953 new orders are matching current production rate, now 71 per cent of capacity.

The dividend, payable June 1 to stockholders of record May 10, is 25 cents more than the usual $1 quarterly dividend, although Bethlehem started the year with an unusual $2 dividend following record-smashing 1953.

Grace reported that net income for the first quarter was $27,802,938, equal to $2.73 a common share, compared with $30,961,033, or $3.06 a share, for the first quarter of 1953. In the last 1953 quarter net income $40,422,497, or $4.05 a share.

22 Are Fined $9,250 For Liquor Violations

PRINCESS ANNE, Md., April 29 (AP)—Twenty-two persons convicted of liquor law violations after a Somerset County grand jury probe were fined a total of $9,250 today. Most faced jail terms if they don't pay up.

Two state troopers in plainclothes took part in the investigation that led to the indictment of 28 persons. The charges were sale or possession of whisky. One person was charged with selling beer without a license. Liquor is sold only at county dispensaries.

Two of the 28 were acquitted, one case was dismissed, another defendant was hospitalized and two are still at large.

Of the 22 fined today, four were fined $750, two $500 and eight, $400. The other fines ranged from $350 to $100.

Japan's Inland sea is 250 miles long, stretching from Osaka at the eastern end to Moji at the western. No other sea on earth embraces so many islands. They number from 700 to 3,000, depending on whether the term "islands" is extended to cover numerous islets.

Windshield "Pox" Strikes Used Cars At Havre De Grace

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., April 29 (AP) — The pock-marked windshield epidemic spread to this northeast Maryland community today. Nearly 250 cars, all parked on used car lots, showed cracked or pocked windshields this morning.

Police had no explanation for the outbreak immediately, but a preliminary examination by them and newsmen disclosed these facts:

All the cars affected were parked on used car lots.

Only windshields were cracked or pocked, regardless of the angle at which the cars were parked.

Some marks were round, as though the result of a B-B shot. Others looked like they may have been made by sharp objects.

Police have been unable to find any objects which might have caused the marks.

Hospital Women Meet

FREDERICK, April 29 (AP)—Some 300 women of the Maryland Association of Hospital Auxiliaries met at nearby Urbana today with Mrs. Helen Cann Janne of Baltimore, presiding.

About 25 Maryland hospitals were represented.

Father Is Fined $50 For Beating Of Son

HAGERSTOWN, April 29 (AP) — Charles L. Shank, 30, drew a fine and a suspended jail sentence today for what Magistrate William Kreykenbohm called the "sadistic and brutal" beating of Shank's 9-year-old son.

Shank testified he became angry because the boy had sold his bicycle to a neighbor boy for $5.

Kreykenbohm fined Shank $50, suspended a 1-year term in the House of Correction. The magistrate said, however, he would reimpose the sentence if Shank lays a hand on his son during the next year.

Shank was arrested on a warrant sworn out by his wife. She testified that Shank dragged the sleeping boy from his bed and beat him with a belt until the child was black and blue.

Baltimore Continues Fight For Inner Harbor Tunnel

BALTIMORE, April 29 (AP)—The City Planning Commission decided today not to give up its fight to change the location of a 142-million dollar tunnel which Maryland plans to build under Baltimore harbor.

The State Roads Commission announced yesterday new traffic studies confirmed its decision to run the big tube across the lower part of the harbor from Fairfield to Canton.

The Planning Commission decided today to make its own traffic study. It wants a route across the inner harbor from Ft. McHenry to Canton.

Planning commission members complained the Roads Commission analysis did not include a comparison of traffic on the two routes.

They had asked the Roads Commission to hold up the start of detailed engineering work on the project until they can assemble more data for the Ft. McHenry-Canton route. Russell H. McCain, chairman of the Roads Commission, declared yesterday, however, that there was no reason for further delay.

The Planning Commission argues that the inner harbor route would do much to unsnarl Baltimore's downtown traffic as well as speed cars and trucks across the city between southwest and northeast.

The Roads Commission has taken the position its primary duty is to speed motorists on the intercity highways rather than facilitate city traffic. It's 13-mile, nonstop route across Baltimore will take about 30 per cent of the traffic off Hanover Street, the bad south side bottleneck in the city, it contends.

Car Crash Fatal To Son Of Famed Baseball Hurler

WATERLOO, Md., April 29 (AP)—A 20-year-old Anne Arundel county youth and Robert W. Johnson, 33-year-old son of the famed pitcher, Walter Johnson, were killed in Maryland highway accidents overnight.

Their deaths brought to four the highway accident toll in less than 24 hours, with three on the same stretch of Washington-Baltimore Boulevard.

Johnson was killed as he and three companions were returning to their homes in Montgomery county from a day at Bowie Race Track. Their car went off the road near Fairland, northeast of Washington, and rammed a fence. The other three were slightly hurt.

Robert C. Houck Jr. of Marley Park was the victim of a head-on crash about 3 a.m. on the boulevard two miles north of the Waterloo State Police barracks.

State troopers said he veered across the center line of the four-lane highway and collided with a car driven by George W. Thomas, 34, of Richmond, Va. Thomas and five other persons in the two cars were hospitalized in Baltimore.

The accident in which Houck was killed was on the so-called "Dorsey Stretch" of the boulevard where Mr. and Mrs. George R. Pappas of Philadelphia were killed Wednesday afternoon when their car collided head-on with a truck.

Bethlehem Dividend Of $1.25 Is Declared

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP)—The Board of Directors of Bethlehem Steel Corp. today declared a dividend of $1.25 a share on common stock, and Chairman Eugene G. Grace said that for the first time since mid-1953 new orders are matching current production rate, now 71 per cent of capacity.

The dividend, payable June 1 to stockholders of record May 10, is 25 cents more than the usual $1 quarterly dividend, although Bethlehem started the year with an unusual $2 dividend following record-smashing 1953.

Grace reported that net income for the first quarter was $27,802,938, equal to $2.73 a common share, compared with $30,961,033, or $3.06 a share, for the first quarter of 1953. In the last 1953 quarter net income $40,422,497, or $4.05 a share.

22 Are Fined $9,250 For Liquor Violations

PRINCESS ANNE, Md., April 29 (AP)—Twenty-two persons convicted of liquor law violations after a Somerset County grand jury probe were fined a total of $9,250 today. Most faced jail terms if they don't pay up.

Two state troopers in plainclothes took part in the investigation that led to the indictment of 28 persons. The charges were sale or possession of whisky. One person was charged with selling beer without a license. Liquor is sold only at county dispensaries.

Two of the 28 were acquitted, one case was dismissed, another defendant was hospitalized and two are still at large.

Of the 22 fined today, four were fined $750, two $500 and eight, $400. The other fines ranged from $350 to $100.

Japan's Inland sea is 250 miles long, stretching from Osaka at the eastern end to Moji at the western. No other sea on earth embraces so many islands. They number from 700 to 3,000, depending on whether the term "islands" is extended to cover numerous islets.

Windshield "Pox" Strikes Used Cars At Havre De Grace

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., April 29 (AP) — The pock-marked windshield epidemic spread to this northeast Maryland community today. Nearly 250 cars, all parked on used car lots, showed cracked or pocked windshields this morning.

Police had no explanation for the outbreak immediately, but a preliminary examination by them and newsmen disclosed these facts:

All the cars affected were parked on used car lots.

Only windshields were cracked or pocked, regardless of the angle at which the cars were parked.

Some marks were round, as though the result of a B-B shot. Others looked like they may have been made by sharp objects.

Police have been unable to find any objects which might have caused the marks.

Hospital Women Meet

FREDERICK, April 29 (AP)—Some 300 women of the Maryland Association of Hospital Auxiliaries met at nearby Urbana today with Mrs. Helen Cann Janne of Baltimore, presiding.

About 25 Maryland hospitals were represented.

Father Is Fined $50 For Beating Of Son

HAGERSTOWN, April 29 (AP) — Charles L. Shank, 30, drew a fine and a suspended jail sentence today for what Magistrate William Kreykenbohm called the "sadistic and brutal" beating of Shank's 9-year-old son.

Shank testified he became angry because the boy had sold his bicycle to a neighbor boy for $5.

Kreykenbohm fined Shank $50, suspended a 1-year term in the House of Correction. The magistrate said, however, he would reimpose the sentence if Shank lays a hand on his son during the next year.

Shank was arrested on a warrant sworn out by his wife. She testified that Shank dragged the sleeping boy from his bed and beat him with a belt until the child was black and blue.

Final Barter Performance Set Tonight

Last Appearance For This Season

A soaring skylark, Jane Wagner, is making her first tour with the world famous Barter Theater of Virginia, which is presenting A. A. Milne's "Mr. Pim Passes By," this evening in Allegany High School auditorium. Curtain time is 8:30 o'clock.

The production is being sponsored by the Junior Association of Commerce and reserve seat tickets are available at the S. T. Little Jewelry Store, Baltimore Street, or may be purchased at the door.

For the first time, student tickets will be on sale and are lower in cost than the regular tickets. Proceeds are used by the Jaycees toward their youth activities program.

Jane Wagner is no stranger to the Barter boards, and has appeared at Robert Porterfield's Abingdon playhouse in "Charley's Aunt," "Two On an Island," and "Emmy."

She began her career at John Richard's Gateway Theater, Gatlinburg, Tenn., and is described as irrepressibly gay with a flashing wit and sense of humor.

Sponaugle Given Year On Delinquency Charge

William Glenn Sponaugle, 200-block Union Street, yesterday was given a year's sentence in the Maryland House of Correction on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Magistrate Alban C. Thompson in Juvenile Court remanded Sponaugle to the county jail until he is taken to Jessups.

Thompson withheld sentence on a woman also involved in the case pending further investigation.

Bankers Planning May Convention

A number of local and county bankers plan to attend the 58th annual convention of the Maryland Bankers Association scheduled in Atlantic City, May 8 through May 11.

Those who plan to attend are Kenneth R. Malcolm, vice president, First National Bank, Barton; George C. Cook, cashier, Commercial Savings Bank, Cumberland; John L. Conway, cashier, Cumberland Savings Bank.

O. W. Tindal, president, T. V. Fier, vice-president, Ray Blose, vice-president, Miss Hazel H. Oder, assistant cashier, A. A. Helmick, assistant cashier, First National Bank, Cumberland.

Charles A. Piper, president, Thomas J. McNamee, assistant vice-president, Liberty Trust Company, Cumberland; J. M. Naughton, president, Second National Bank, Cumberland; William B. Yates, president, Fidelity Savings Bank, Frostburg, and Charles J. Laughlin, cashier, Citizens National Bank, Westernport.

McNamee and Yates are members of the convention committee for Allegany County.

terrace, contour strip cropping and other conservation items at the Maryland Game Commission on Watson Road.

A visit to the wild turkey farm on Watson Road will conclude the morning portion of the tour. Luncheon will be served at Piney Plains School at noon and at 1:15 p. m. the group will leave for the second part of the tour.

At 1:30 the tour will include a discussion of pasture improvement and land use at the junctions of Orleans Road and Mann Road; thence the group will go to Smith's woods along Mann Road where results of woodland selectively cut will be studied; a roadside stop nearby will point out contour strip cropping, sod waterways and crop rotation; later the teachers and instructors will study water pond stocking, tree planting and subsoiling in the same general area and finally the tour will be concluded with a visit to Dale T. Mann's poultry farm on Mann Road.

The group will return to Cumberland at 4 p. m.

D. C. Works Bill OK'd

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—The Senate today passed a bill designed to finance a 10-year, 305 million dollar District of Columbia public works program after defeating two attempts to eliminate from it new taxes on food.

15 Voters Register At Eckhart School

In the smallest single day turnout since the first day the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors began its tour of the county to register new voters, only 15 persons were signed yesterday at Eckhart.

Substitute registrars reported 11 Democrats and four Republicans registered yesterday from 1 to 4 p. m. and 6 to 9 last night at the school house. Opening day's total of three at Flintstone in the lowest mark since the tour began April 12.

Today the registrars will be at Allegany Ballistics Plant from 9 a. m. to 12 noon and again from 1 to 4 p. m.

Resident Jailed For Receiving Stolen Goods

A local resident was taken into custody last night by City Police and is being held for the State's Attorney's Office.

He is Willis True, of 901 Maryland Avenue, who was arrested at 9:08 p. m. yesterday by Officers Carl Williams and Richard Lashley. The state warrant on which he was picked up charged that he had in his possession scrap metal valued in excess of $100 which was taken from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company and which he unlawfully received with knowledge it had been stolen.

his career has been a good one. Asked if he would advise young people to enter the field he replied, "Yes, I certainly would. The opportunities are unlimited and job security is excellent. In this field, if a youngster has the ability, will prepare himself, and then will continue to study all the time, there is no limit to how far he can go. Taxes can be complicated and constant study is essential." He then revealed that the department has a program of correspondence courses for employes, some of which he has studied. "Preparation is necessary, he said. Continued application and study are almost essential."

Stakem doesn't plan to quit work "and dry up, become senile and wither away". He said he plans to take a short vacation, open an office and continue to do tax work on his own.

He says he hopes to keep active and interested in the work as well as in many other civic activities. He says he also plans to keep abreast of tax law changes and to watch developments as time goes on. "I've seen taxes come and go", he smiled wryly, "and I expect to see them come and go for a long time."

Stakem was honored last night at a surprise party held in the social rooms of Cumberland Brewing Company by his employes and other federal workers here. He was presented with a number of gifts, and plans to be at his office today to greet friends and say his farewells.

his career has been a good one. Asked if he would advise young people to enter the field he replied, "Yes, I certainly would. The opportunities are unlimited and job security is excellent. In this field, if a youngster has the ability, will prepare himself, and then will continue to study all the time, there is no limit to how far he can go. Taxes can be complicated and constant study is essential." He then revealed that the department has a program of correspondence courses for employes, some of which he has studied. "Preparation is necessary, he said. Continued application and study are almost essential."

Stakem doesn't plan to quit work "and dry up, become senile and wither away". He said he plans to take a short vacation, open an office and continue to do tax work on his own.

He says he hopes to keep active and interested in the work as well as in many other civic activities. He says he also plans to keep abreast of tax law changes and to watch developments as time goes on. "I've seen taxes come and go", he smiled wryly, "and I expect to see them come and go for a long time."

Stakem was honored last night at a surprise party held in the social rooms of Cumberland Brewing Company by his employes and other federal workers here. He was presented with a number of gifts, and plans to be at his office today to greet friends and say his farewells.

Frog Experiment May Help Solve Cancer Mystery

BALTIMORE, April 29 (AP) — A frog with two mothers and a glass rod for a father was the star in an experiment which may answer some questions about cancer, a doctors meeting was told here yesterday.

Dr. Stanley P. Reimann mentioned the experiment in a panel discussion at the 156th annual meeting of the Maryland Medical and Chirurgical Faculty. He is scientific director of the Institute of Cancer Research in Philadelphia and director of the Lenkenau Hospital Research Institute.

Reimann showed a picture of the frog, one of many used in experiments with frog eggs in Philadelphia. In the experiments the nucleus was transplanted from one egg cell to another by means of delicate micromachinery.

The research is part of an attempt to learn what it is in the cell itself that makes one cell behave normally and grow as part of an organ, while another might become part of a malignant or cancerous tissue.

Dr. John R. Heller Jr., director of the National Cancer Institute at Bethesda, Md., and moderator of the panel, gave statistics indicating that incidence of stomach and gastrointestinal cancer seems to be leveling off. Lung cancer is increasing, the statistics showed.

Since 1914 cancer of the lung in the white male has multiplied by 25, Heller said. But he was reluctant to blame the increase on cigarette smoking.

Dr. Raymond F. Kaiser, another panel member and chief of the Bethesda institute's field investigations, said other factors—such as dyes, coal tars and petroleum products—may have some bearing on the upsurge.

The panel discussion was one of the highlights of the meeting's final day. Earlier the faculty's house of delegates elected Dr. George H. Yeager of Baltimore as 1955 president of the organization.

Investigation Of Navy Tug Building Program Forecast

MIAMI, Fla., April 29 (AP) — The Miami Herald said this week a tug building program of the Navy will be investigated by the Senate Small Business subcommittee, beginning within two weeks.

The newspaper said the committee will have "some very hot" public hearings as a result of disclosures the Herald made in a series of articles over the weekend.

It quoted Sen. Smathers as saying the stories already had been turned over to investigators and added:

"We have submitted some searching questions to the Navy with regard to handling of the program. We want to give the Navy several days to get up some facts."

The Herald added that Eward J. Powers, special agent in charge of the Miami FBI office, said the FBI is investigating Smith's Basin and Dry Dock Co., Port Everglades, Fla., "to determine if there have been any violations of federal laws."

Smith's is one of five contractors involved in the phases of the tug-building project investigated by the Herald.

The Herald said it found that "out of 99 tugs originally contracted for by these firms two and three years ago, only about 12 have been delivered to the Navy long after the completion deadline."

Capt. Leroy V. Honsinger, chief of the technical division of the Bureau of Ships, said in Washington that the Navy "did everything humanly possible to straighten out the program."

One of the contractors involved is the Missouri Valley Steel, Inc.

J. V. Oliver, president, of Leavenworth, Kan., said he had "no comment at this time."

However, the company announced three years ago it had received a $7,500,000 contract to build 14 65-foot passenger cargo vessels and 28 65-foot harbor tugs.

The company has delivered the 14 cargo vessels, has delivered one tug at Charleston, W. Va., and four others are enroute to Charleston via the Mississippi River and the Gulf.

"Cars-To-Detroit" Mission

Preliminary Work Begins On Riverside Park Bridge

The contractor on the Cumberland-Ridgeley bridge to be built on the superstructure of the industrial dam at Riverside Park has begun preliminary work.

The American Bridge Company has a crew installing twin columns of steel on the center pier of the dam.

This temporary structure will rise 70 feet in the air and will be guyed to the Maryland and West Virginia abutments of the dam.

Through a scheme of cables, the tall bent, as it is known as in engineering circles, it will support the steel of the bridge as it is being assembled.

Dam About Finished

All steel is being fabricated in a plant and will be placed together by the American Bridge Company and local steelworkers.

Delivery on the fabricated superstructure is scheduled in August.

However, the bridge builder could go ahead right now as the contractor on the dam, the E. J. Albrecht Company, of Chicago, is practically finished.

All concrete has been poured and the Corps of Army Engineers say the dam is 93 per cent completed. All that remains to be done is placing rip rap around the wingwalls on both sides of the river.

The Albrecht Company's original schedule called for completion of the dam in 540 days from starting date. The deadline would have been October. However, aided by dry fall and winter, with not much high water the firm was able to keep working most every day.

Poured During Cold

The contractor's officials here devised a scheme of pouring concrete, covering with tarpaulin and heating with hot air blowers.

By this method, the firm was able to pour during freezing weather this past winter.

The Corps of Army Engineers has not awarded the next contract — the construction of 800 feet of flood levee on West Side from Beall Street to a point upstream past the C&A Gas Company property.

The Wright Construction Company of Georgia was low bidder on the project. The official awarding of the contract is still pending.

Navy Reserve Unit Praised

The reservist must bear a greater load and responsibility in the face of the economy program that is decreasing the regular service, the head of a Navy inspection party told members of Cumberland Surface Division 5-9, Naval Reserve, Wednesday night at the Cumberland Marine and Naval Reserve Training Center.

Capt. J. B. Azer, USN, senior officer of the party who is Fifth Naval District reserve coordinator, added the future depends greatly on the reserve program for a ready defense.

At final muster, he told the reservists that the unit had made a very favorable impression on him during the inspection.

Following the drill, the inspection party consisting of Capt. Azer, Cmdr. W. F. Heyer, USN., assistant district reserve coordinator, and Lt. J. R. Gross, USN, a district training officer, held a critique with the officers of the division headed by Lt. Cmdr. Wayne W. Hill.

Wednesday afternoon the inspectors checked the personnel of the center, their records, procedure and administration.

Three Post Bond In Morals Case

Three young men were freed under $1,000 bond each yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court on charges of having carnal knowledge of a 15-year-old girl.

State Police listed the trio as Joshua Paul Green, Milton Lee Crowe and Forrest Elwood Miller, all of RD 1, Lonaconing.

Magistrate Donald W. Mason set bond after the State's Attorney's office asked for a jury trial in Circuit Court. County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya obtained the warrants.

Mason said Trooper Harry Bosley probed the case.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

The passing of Easter traditionally indicates the half-way mark of a legislative session, and the spurt of activitiy on the Washington scene makes this year no exception.

Between now and adjournment there is much to be accomplished, and in the next few weeks it may at times appear as if Congress is in a great hurry to pass laws — but the thing to remember is that during the weeks prior to the Easter holidays the preliminary and spade work was being done.

This week should see the Senate complete discussions on the wool price support bill, which it is believed will give an indication as to how the Eisenhower administration's farm program will fare in Congress.

There are some who are endeavoring to amend the wool price support bill to cover other basic crops, and it is reported that if this is done the President will veto the bill.

A veto would mean that next year the flexible price support program favored in part by Secretary Benson would go into effect, since the present rigid price support program expires and under the law would be succeeded by a flexible system permitting lower parity.

Also scheduled for Senate action soon are amendments to the much debated Taft-Hartley Act. House amendments are still in committee, but the Senate cleared its bill for early action, and the discussion should separate the Senate on fairly partisan lines.

Labor unions, which once called the Taft-Hartley Act a "slave labor act," now contend that they prefer to keep the law as is rather than see it amended. It should also be added that a number of business men, who formerly argued that Taft-Hartley should be made stronger, likewise favor leaving it unamended.

At this point the only sure thing is that regardless of what action is taken on Taft-Hartley you will hear a lot about it between now and November, because it will undoubtedly be an issue in the campaign.

Housing legislation should also be cleared for Senate action soon, possibly this week, despite the charges of irregularities in the Federal Housing Administration.

The Committee on Banking and Currency is continuing to hold hearings on the housing bills in order to permit Senate passage, the necessary House-Senate conferences, and signing by the President.

Following action on the housing bills the committee will launch a full scale investigation into reports that some individuals took advantage of the law to make huge profits — allegedly running into millions of dollars.

Coming up for action also are appropriations bills providing funds for the operation of government agencies during the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1954. Appropriation bills are time consuming and ordinarily are the last to receive congressional action, but so far this session three bills already have become law. The House has finished action on ten, the Senate has six pending in committees, and one has been reported to the floor.

Other activities in Congress may be monopolizing the newspaper headlines, the radio and television broadcasts, and attracting spectators by the score, but such spectacular events move no legislation through the congressional mill and in the meantime the unglamorous, laborious tasks which occupy the time of the great majority of members go on as usual.

Bill Would Establish Rank Of Washington As General Of Armies

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP) — Sens. Martin (R-Pa) and Duff (R-Pa) have introduced a bill to establish the final rank of George Washington as general of the armies, and date it back to June 18, 1775.

That was the date on which the second Continental Congress elected him to head the army of the united colonies.

Martin told the Senate that as the situation now stands, Washington's name is 46th on the rolls of the U. S. armed forces. He leads the lieutenant generals, but is outranked by all generals, Generals of the army and the one general of the armies, the late John J. Pershing.

Ike Adviser Sees Business Pickup

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP) — President Eisenhower's top economic adviser, Dr. Arthur Burns, yesterday told the nation's state governors the current "business contraction" is one of the least serious in history and he was most hopeful for the future.

Burns, chairman of Eisenhower's Economic Advisory Council, said, however, the administration is busy rounding up an emergency public works program and a new tax cut plan for use in case the economic picture worsens instead of improves.

No details of possible further tax cut recommendations were given, but higher income tax exemptions have been suggested as one way of raising consumer purchasing power. Eisenhower has expressed belief that conditions will straighten out without invoking any emergency plans.

Burns spoke to the governors privately, but a sumup of his views was provided for reporters later by Frank Bane, executive secretary of the Governors' Conference.

Producer Divorces Movie Magnate's Daughter

LOS ANGELES, April 29 (AP) — Film producer Fred M. Packard, 35, yesterday divorced Mrs. Shelagh Mary Packard, 31, daughter of British movie magnate J. Arthur Rank, on grounds of desertion.

He testified his wife left him in October 1952 because she wanted to live in England. He said they were married in 1945 when he was an Army lieutenant stationed in London. Mrs. Packard, who resides in London, did not contest the suit.

Packard's attorney, S. S. Hahn, told Superior Judge Wallace L. Ware the parents had agreed she should have their two children with her for 10 months each year. Her husband will have them the other two months.

Commuting Robin

LAFARGEVILLE, N.Y., April 29 (AP) — A robin built a nest on a New York Central milk car and for the last week has ridden in it daily on the car's 20-mile run, a station agent said today.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

The passing of Easter traditionally indicates the half-way mark of a legislative session, and the spurt of activitiy on the Washington scene makes this year no exception.

Between now and adjournment there is much to be accomplished, and in the next few weeks it may at times appear as if Congress is in a great hurry to pass laws — but the thing to remember is that during the weeks prior to the Easter holidays the preliminary and spade work was being done.

This week should see the Senate complete discussions on the wool price support bill, which it is believed will give an indication as to how the Eisenhower administration's farm program will fare in Congress.

There are some who are endeavoring to amend the wool price support bill to cover other basic crops, and it is reported that if this is done the President will veto the bill.

A veto would mean that next year the flexible price support program favored in part by Secretary Benson would go into effect, since the present rigid price support program expires and under the law would be succeeded by a flexible system permitting lower parity.

Also scheduled for Senate action soon are amendments to the much debated Taft-Hartley Act. House amendments are still in committee, but the Senate cleared its bill for early action, and the discussion should separate the Senate on fairly partisan lines.

Labor unions, which once called the Taft-Hartley Act a "slave labor act," now contend that they prefer to keep the law as is rather than see it amended. It should also be added that a number of business men, who formerly argued that Taft-Hartley should be made stronger, likewise favor leaving it unamended.

At this point the only sure thing is that regardless of what action is taken on Taft-Hartley you will hear a lot about it between now and November, because it will undoubtedly be an issue in the campaign.

Housing legislation should also be cleared for Senate action soon, possibly this week, despite the charges of irregularities in the Federal Housing Administration.

The Committee on Banking and Currency is continuing to hold hearings on the housing bills in order to permit Senate passage, the necessary House-Senate conferences, and signing by the President.

Following action on the housing bills the committee will launch a full scale investigation into reports that some individuals took advantage of the law to make huge profits — allegedly running into millions of dollars.

Coming up for action also are appropriations bills providing funds for the operation of government agencies during the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1954. Appropriation bills are time consuming and ordinarily are the last to receive congressional action, but so far this session three bills already have become law. The House has finished action on ten, the Senate has six pending in committees, and one has been reported to the floor.

Other activities in Congress may be monopolizing the newspaper headlines, the radio and television broadcasts, and attracting spectators by the score, but such spectacular events move no legislation through the congressional mill and in the meantime the unglamorous, laborious tasks which occupy the time of the great majority of members go on as usual.

Bill Would Establish Rank Of Washington As General Of Armies

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP) — Sens. Martin (R-Pa) and Duff (R-Pa) have introduced a bill to establish the final rank of George Washington as general of the armies, and date it back to June 18, 1775.

That was the date on which the second Continental Congress elected him to head the army of the united colonies.

Martin told the Senate that as the situation now stands, Washington's name is 46th on the rolls of the U. S. armed forces. He leads the lieutenant generals, but is outranked by all generals, Generals of the army and the one general of the armies, the late John J. Pershing.

Ike Adviser Sees Business Pickup

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP) — President Eisenhower's top economic adviser, Dr. Arthur Burns, yesterday told the nation's state governors the current "business contraction" is one of the least serious in history and he was most hopeful for the future.

Burns, chairman of Eisenhower's Economic Advisory Council, said, however, the administration is busy rounding up an emergency public works program and a new tax cut plan for use in case the economic picture worsens instead of improves.

No details of possible further tax cut recommendations were given, but higher income tax exemptions have been suggested as one way of raising consumer purchasing power. Eisenhower has expressed belief that conditions will straighten out without invoking any emergency plans.

Burns spoke to the governors privately, but a sumup of his views was provided for reporters later by Frank Bane, executive secretary of the Governors' Conference.

Producer Divorces Movie Magnate's Daughter

LOS ANGELES, April 29 (AP) — Film producer Fred M. Packard, 35, yesterday divorced Mrs. Shelagh Mary Packard, 31, daughter of British movie magnate J. Arthur Rank, on grounds of desertion.

He testified his wife left him in October 1952 because she wanted to live in England. He said they were married in 1945 when he was an Army lieutenant stationed in London. Mrs. Packard, who resides in London, did not contest the suit.

Packard's attorney, S. S. Hahn, told Superior Judge Wallace L. Ware the parents had agreed she should have their two children with her for 10 months each year. Her husband will have them the other two months.

A Study Of Parents Might Help Junior

Other times, other customs. A generation or two ago it was fashionable to say, "Children should be seen and not heard." They had no inalienable rights to be noisy, then.

If they behaved badly it was clearly because they were culpably indifferent to the duty they owed to their parents, who fed and clothed them and tried to beat the devilishness out of them.

Many persons became convinced that this was too heavy a load of guilt to ask children to carry. So the load was gradually shifted to parental shoulders. If the child went wrong, the parents must be to blame, one way or another. They must have failed to give him love and understanding, not to mention emotional support, etc. Things all but reached the point when children would start saying that parents should be seen and not heard.

Now the pendulum is swinging back somewhat. There is, for instance, the statement by a child psychiatrist that there are so many studies of how children behave and react that it's time to make more effort to study and understand parents. Parenthood has profound effects on people, for better or worse.

Anthropologists have made studies of how mothers in Bali, for instance, react to their children. Who has made similar studies of American mothers? Or fathers?

Such studies would be a big help to children in understanding the puzzling and unpredictable genus parent. Every parent with a copy of Dr. Gesell's "The Child from One to Ten" on the shelf has experienced the comfort, when Junior is rampageous, of learning that such behavior is to be expected at his age, and that its automatic disappearance can be expected before his next birthday.

But Junior is out of luck. He has no book to tell him: "Fathers at 34 enter an introversial swing during which it is hard to pry small change out of them. But at 35 . . ." No wonder the poor kid has trouble understanding the old man.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

A Fatal Doctrine

Professor Seymour E. Harris of Harvard University, who has been very active in the development of the new economics which guided the New Deal, has penned a sentence which requires some comment even while the Senate is probing into who said what to whom, which seems so important to some people that the chief of staff of the Army and other top brass can take time off to sit for hours as spectators while a war is going on in Indochina. The learned professor wrote:

"When there are deficits, the business man pulls in his belt. But this is a fatal principle in government. The guiding doctrine should be this: what government does better, or what cannot be done under private auspices, must be done by government. But the new administration proposes a return to the 18th Century principles that would leave undone all but the minimum tasks of government."

The doctrine here enunciated is even new in the New Deal in one part of the argument, namely that "what government does better . . . must be done by government." This is, of course, a total negation of private enterprise. I suppose by "better," the professor means more efficiently, more cheaply, more adequately. It is not beyond belief that the government could dispense cigars more efficiently and even more cheaply than the thousands of cigar stores that compete against each other for my custom.

The government-owned installations could make up the difference by not paying taxes; by putting in low-priced civil service workers who would be forbidden to strike by law and whose only hope for the future lay in a pension; by taking the sites for factories and stores from private owners by the law of eminent domain; by making up deficits out of taxes; and finally, by abolishing cigars as against the common interest.

This is the efficiency of slavery, not of free men. Apparently Professor Harris would not have the government perform minimum tasks as Thomas Jefferson held to be right. What are the maximum tasks of government? It could be total control of every function of the individual in society, the ownership of all property and the control of each person, from the cradle to the grave. Such a society now exists in the Soviet Universal State. Its most developed form is in Soviet Russia; its worst form is in Red China. In both these countries, limitations are placed upon the development of the individual which have produced a way of life completely different from ours in which the individual need neither be dependent upon nor cravenly obedient to those who control the power of state. He can vote them out of office.

It is not a question as to which system is "better," but rather which system a people prefers. Our theory is based on the right of choice, on the right of a people to determine for themselves the kind of government they want. If the American people want socialism or communism, they could, by orderly constitutional means, establish such societies. They could amend the Constitution to conform to their ideas.

Professor Harris removes himself from the objectivity of the scholar to the confusion of vitriolic journalism when he writes:

"What the Honest Dollar School proposes is to make the dollar more valuable by reducing the supply. This it at the bottom of the proposals to balance the budget, to cut government spending, to raise the rate of interest, and cut the supply of credit . . ."

It would seem that the professor cannot relate his thinking to the dangers of inflation, which can wreck such a society as ours. The 53-cent dollar is a peril to use because it dries up the reservoirs of private capital and makes an increasing number of persons dependent upon the state. A 25-cent dollar, a 10-cent dollar, would end not only private enterprise but a free society. The so-called "Honest Dollar," an excellent term, hopes to re-establish the values of the dollar, the purchasing power of the dollar so that families may be enabled to save money, to reduce debt and to invest for the future. Is such a program wrong? Is it justified to say, as Professor Harris does say, that such a dollar will produce "blood-letting, bankruptcy, and liquidation?"

Iron Maiden? Or Iron Curtain?

French Bungling Caused Loss Of Lives And Airlift Planes Over Dien Bien Phu

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — French censorship has blacked out the truth, but Gen. Henri Navarre, the French commander, has literally been throwing away planes and paratroopers over Communist-ringed Dien Bien Phu.

Reports have filtered back to the Pentagon that airlift planes have announced their position to Red anti-aircraft batteries below. For some unaccountable reason, the pilots have been reporting their exact altitude and relaying flight instructions in plain French without bothering to use code.

In other words, as the planes drone over Dien Bien Phu, the air-control radio crackles with exact reports on their position and cargo. All the Red anti-aircraft gunners need is a radio to get a bearing on the planes. The result has been appallingly accurate anti-aircraft fire over Dien Bien Phu. Over one-third of the parachuting reinforcements have been lost before they got a chance to go into action.

U. S. military observers urged the French to withdraw from Dien Bien Phu in the first place because it was too exposed. They also report that General Navarre failed to pour in enough supplies and medicine to sustain the besieged jungle fortress. Finally they suggested sending a relief column overland to rescue the embattled defenders, but Navarre dispatched such a small force that it was ambushed and had to retreat.

Irony is that Dien Bien Phu was erected as a trap to bait the Reds. It was built in the deep jungles on the same theory that the natives tether a goat or lamb in the jungle to bait a tiger. They then lay in wait and shoot the tiger.

The French figured that by enticing the Reds to attack the impregnable fortress of Dien Bien Phu they could entrap and massacre a large segment of the Vietminh army. This was the sole purpose of the fort. Strategically, it isn't important. However, the tragic battle to defend it is influencing the peace of the world.

Milk Goes Back To Cows

Secretary of Agriculture Benson is working on a new program whereby America's dairy cows may soon be eating the same milk they gave.

In an effort to unload some of the 589,000,000 pounds of dried milk now stored in government warehouses, Secretary Benson has decided to sell a portion of it to processors of animal and poultry feed.

The price set by the Agriculture Department is a mere 3-½ to 4 cents a pound — only a fraction of what the milk cost the taxpayers. However, this cut-rate sale of dried milk should act as a stimulant to the feed industry and will probably lower the farmers' feed bills a bit.

Actually the dried milk unloading scheme is another way to "solve" the agricultural surplus problem without resorting to the Brannan plan. Under ex-Agriculture Secretary Brannan's plan, the taxpayers would get the benefit of lower milk prices resulting from the surplus. But under this latest maneuver it's the cows, poultry, pigs and cattle, not human beings, that will consume the dried milk.

Agricultural economists also expect the new program to be a financial boost for the nation's feed manufacturers. They will be able to add cheap milk to their feed in place of other, more expensive proteins.

Admiral For Congress

Adm. Ross McIntire, the White House doctor who watched so carefully over FDR's health, is now running for Congress. He's a candidate from San Diego, Calif., one of the biggest naval and Marine Corps bases in the U.S.A., where he should have an excellent chance of winning.

Dr. McIntire is running on two main platforms: 1. The security of the nation; 2. Unemployment. He feels that the Eisenhower administration has cut the armed forces below a point of safety, and as national chairman of the President's Committee for the Employment of the Physically Handicapped, he has been in a position to see what unemployment has done to those who are hit first. Admiral McIntire is a Democrat.

If he defeats the present Republican congressman from San Diego, Robert Wilson, he will be one of the few regular naval officers elected or appointed to Congress. Among the others have been Capt. Ed Izac, also from San Diego, and Adm. Tommy Hart, who commanded the U. S. fleet in Manila at the time of Pearl Harbor and who was later appointed to the Senate from Connecticut.

Now serving in Congress is a regular Marine Corps officer, Gen. James Devereux, a prisoner on Wake Island during the war and later elected to Congress as a Republican from Maryland.

Washington Pipeline

American diplomats at Geneva have secretly sounded out the Chinese Communists about settling the Indochina War and stopping all aid to the Vietminh guerrillas. In return for peace, U. S. diplomats propose giving Red China a warm-water port at Haiphong on the Tonkin Gulf. This would give Red China a vital trade outlet and would mean the partition of Indochina. However, the Red guerrilla leader, Ho Chi Minh, is said to be dead set against compromise, wants to capture Hanoi where his rebellion began in 1946. . . . President Eisenhower's harassed economic advisers are trying to figure out a way to unsnap the public's pocketbook. Statistics show that personal income, after taxes, has gone up, yet retail sales are continuing to drop. In other words, the public has gone on a nation-wide buyers' strike, apparently waiting for prices to come down. Economists believe they could solve the recession overnight if they could somehow persuade the public to start buying again. . . . Paradoxically, the Treasury Department simultaneously is fighting against increasing the public's buying power by means of consumer concessions in the tax bill.

Indochina Termed Administration's Crisis Of Decision

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

A force of American carriers has been on station in the Gulf of Tonkin, within convenient striking range, since the critical Indochinese battle of Dien Bien Phu began to move toward its climax.

It will probably be officially denied, but the carriers were of course ordered to the scene for use if need be. They are there to provide immediate air support for Dien Bien Phu's defenders, if they are ordered to do so by the President and the National Security Council. That is the simplest measure of the extreme gravity of the present situation.

Maybe the moment has passed already, when massive American air intervention would have turned the scales of the fighting. The heroic force of Gen. Christian de Castries now holds a diminished fortress less than one square mile in area. The tropic rains have begun. It would now be very difficult to punish the attackers severely without harming the defenders, who are so hard-pressed.

This is the contention, at least, of the same administration leaders who opposed intervention at Dien Bien Phu on constitutional-political grounds in the first grim debate in the National Security Council. At that time, when the French first asked for air aid, the answer was no. Since that first American refusal, the situation has worsened; and the French have renewed their request. As these words are written, the question is again being anxiously debated on the highest policy making level of the government.

Simple Misapprehension

The verdict must be awaited. Whatever the verdict may be, it seems a good idea to try to answer the more important questions Americans are naturally asking about this remote and mysterious contest, that has plunged the American policy-makers into an agony of close-balanced decision.

THE REASON FOR IT: The French command in Indochina allowed its finest fighting troops to be entrapped at Dien Bien Phu under a misapprehension. Gen. Navarre wanted a strong, fortified post in the Indochinese interior from which he could strike at Communist supply lines. The Viet Minh high command had never successfully attacked such a post. Hence the Dien Bien Phu position was established with high confidence.

The misapprehension was simple. The Communists had not previously used heavy artillery in any battle in the hard-to-supply interior of Indochina. The bowl in the hills which is Dien Bien Phu was large enough to provide a central area immune to the usual Communist mortar fire. Here, in this supposedly safe area, the airfield was situated.

But as first reported in this space the Bien Bien Phu position had hardly been occupied before the Viet Minh command moved up anti-aircraft guns and 105 cannon. The AA hampered the air lift to the defenders. The 105s brought even their vital airfield under fire. The whole system of French defensive tactics was disrupted.

This was made possible — and here is the truly significant point— by a very heavy increase of Chinese supplies and transports to the Indochinese Communists. Without this more massive Chinese intervention, Dien Bien Phu would now be safe. The increase in the Chinese role has led directly to the request for an increase in the American role.

Similar To Yorktown

THE IMPORTANCE OF IT: On the one hand, Dien Bien Phu has great military importance. The loss of their crack troops there will be a severe blow to the French. The enemy divisions besieging Dien Bien Phu will also be freed by victory to launch a new attack, perhaps, in the crucial, hard-disputed region of the Tonkin delta.

On the other hand — and even more important—the battle at Dien Bien Phu now resembles the battle of Yorktown. One hundred and seventy-one years ago, when Cornwallis surrendered to Washington, the British were still able to carry on the war in America. They had the men and resources to do so. But they did not want to do so.

Official reports have warned the American policy makers that a defeat at Dien Bieu Phu will be the same kind of psychological blow to the French, causing them to want to end the Indochinese War at all costs.

WHAT IT MEANS TO US: Because of the peculiar political-military pattern in Indo-China, any kind of compromise settlement— by partition or otherwise — will certainly be fatal. If the French buy a "compromise," the whole of Indochina must eventually fall into Communist hands.

The President and National Security Council long ago agreed that the loss of Indochina would surely be followed by the eventual loss to communism of all the rest of Asia. After Indochina goes, there is no where in Asia to draw a defensible line. Sen. William Knowland was reflecting the unanimous view of the American policy makers as to the results of losing Asia, when he declared:

Once Asia is absorbed, communism can turn upon the West with invincible power."

That was why Neville Chamberlain at last led Britain to war. The stage where an implaccable enemy could turn upon Britain "with invincible power" lay at the end of the road that began so easily, when the British and French refused to interfere with Hitler's re-occupation of the Rhineland.

A plan for American intervention in Indochina, calling mainly for air and naval action, has been presented to our highest policy makers. Yet the political difficulties of action are as great today as they were in 1936. The result of the Indochina crisis, therefore, is the first true crisis of decision in the Eisenhower administration.

Praise For Dulles

By David Lawrence

GENEVA — Realism came into its own here at the Geneva Conference when Secretary of State Dulles presented the facts of international life to the assembled delegates in a speech that will live long in the history of free men.

For the story of the aggression in Korea—too often glossed over or forgotten in an age of materialism, as high principles and idealism are sometimes brushed aside—wsa told in unequivocal phrases by the American secretary of state. He brought back into the picture the mandate of the United Nations and reminded the world that all nations, including India, had branded North Korea as aggressor and that later the United Nations had by resoldtion declared Communist China an aggressor, too. No more pointed lesson to appeasors could have been uttered than in these words of Mr. Dulles aimed at those governments which now, in order to get a makeshift peace, would ignore the acts of the aggressors:

Minced No Words

"Peace is always easy to achieve —by surrender. Unity is also easy to achieve — by surrender. The hard task that confronts us, is to combine peace and unity with freedom."

Mr. Dulles reminded the delegates that the Korean War provided the first example in history of "a collective security organization in actual operation." He added: "If this conference is disloyal to the United Nations and its decisions, then each of us will bear a share of the responsibility for destroying what protects us all."

It was important here, where so many issues have crept in, to put into perspective the faithless position of the Communists. Secretary Dulles minced no words as he accused the Communists of breaking the terms of the armistice agreement by failing to permit a political conference on Korean questions within three months after the truce was signed because they "desired first to consolidate their position in Korea."

Calling attention to the fact that the North Koreans had just proposed that all foreign forces be withdrawn from Korean territory in six months, Mr. Dulles pointed out that the United Nations forces "would have a long way to go" while the Chinese Communist forces "would have only a few miles to go and they could quickly return." He added:

"Once before we had our troops in Korea and withdrew them, as it turned out, prematurely. We do not want that history to repeat itself."

These are things that had to be said. For unhappily in and around conference circles the defeatism that comes from certain Allied quarters is most discouraging. Retreat and surrender, both in Korea and Indo-China, are offered as the best way out with little thought given to the damage to the whole principle of collective security in Europe as well as in Asia that could ensue.

Dulles Supplied Resoluteness

Unfortunately both Prime Minister Churchill in London and Prime Minister Menzies in Australia might better have left unsaid at this time that they will not enter into any military commitments in Indo-china. Actually, America doesn't want to make any such commitments by itself either. But sooner or later the free governments must assert their readiness to make sacrifices for collective action in Southeast Asia, or else see that area conquered by the Communists.

As for Britain, it is not necessary to make any commitments till the outcome of Geneva is known, but it would be fatal for France to pull out of Indochina now lest the whole French empire begin to crumble. Certainly a withdrawal from Indochina by a "negotiation" that means surrender can bring a collapse of French power and influence in Tunisia and Morocco, too. Foreign Minister Bidault fully understands the implications, but it is being said his cabinet may fall. Maybe such an event is necessary to awaken the French people to the fact that partisans in their midst may be unwittingly repeating the catastrophe of 1940, when a fifth column permitted France to be conquered from within. Maybe French pride and patriotism will be aroused against the prospect of reducing France to a third-rate power if she surrenders to "partition" of Indochina or any of the insidious schemes being advanced here for liquidating French influence in Southeast Asia.

If ever a group of faltering allies needed a hypodermic of resoluteness in an hour of great crisis in the world, it was on the occasion of the opening of the conference here this week, and the U. S. secretary of state furnished it splendidly in a spirit reminiscent of the illustrious President of the United States who 34 years ago envisaged this shrine of collective security at Geneva.

Baering Down on The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Zoological branch of the FBI found the last brain truster in index where he had filed himself under indispensible.

That closes the era of the double-domed crackpots and seals off the monkey dormitories.

It charges us with the era. We stood by in superbly firesided amazement while the brain trusters pulled rabbits out of their Stetson warrens.

Their ridiculous regime started in 1932 and ran its string-talk out knots and all. The brains are scattered. They were scattered then but we didn't know it.

The brain truster was a fellow who changed his mind with his hat. He was educated beyond his ability to comprehend. He studied political economics to a point and dulled that.

He added two and two and made four. His trouble was he subtracted two from two and still got four.

Problems Of Mental, Physical And Emotional Fatigue

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

I saw two middle-aged business men one afternoon who had the same complaint. They were tired out and about to give up their jobs. The younger looked harassed and weary; there were deep lines on his face and bags under his eyes.

"My wife tells me I work too hard and I'm beginning to believe she is right. The long day at the office saps my strength and the social contacts so necessary to my work take up additional energy. I belong to several clubs and spend too many evenings away from home. I also have to go out of town a lot because we have branch offices in several large cities. Is it overwork or am I sick?"

I had heard enough and told him so. When his examination proved negative, I told him what he already knew. He was working too hard and sleeping too little; in the circumstances, fatigue was a normal phenomenon. Two months later he was greatly improved; he had asked for assistance at the office and had received it.

The other executive remained extremely fatigued even though he was doing less than ever before. When questioned in greater detail, he said he not only had been bypassed for a promotion but was assigned to a job of lesser responsibility. This hurt his pride and he was bored. Here is a case of emotional rather than physical or mental fatigue.

Problems of physical and mental fatigue are everyday occurrences to most physicians and they are easy to solve provided the individual wishes to or is able to cooperate. Emotional fatigue is more difficult because it centers about interest and ambition; from 30 to 50 per cent of all cases fall into this category. It occurs in all walks of life.

The housewife, for example, who is weary and worn out all the time may have lost interest in what she is doing. Staying home with two children is not as glamorous as her co-ed days or her previous work in a busy office. The youngsters keep her busy but not enough to account for the way she feels.

A working man develops fatigue because of the monotony of the assembly line; he has no interest in it nor any incentive to carry on. Like his youngsters, he might say, "I'm tired of playing with my dump truck." His boss may feel the same way, especially if he reaches the top too young and has lost his incentive to work harder. The algebra teacher who has been trained in history may be confronted with the same problem. It is easy to understand why his mind rebels when asked to conduct lectures, not in history, but in mathematics.

This oldie originated before the era of modern dentistry. Loss of teeth occurred during the child-bearing years and pregnancy was blamed rather than lack of dental care. It never occurred to these old timers that menfolk also lost teeth during the age period.

A Study Of Parents Might Help Junior

Other times, other customs. A generation or two ago it was fashionable to say, "Children should be seen and not heard." They had no inalienable rights to be noisy, then.

If they behaved badly it was clearly because they were culpably indifferent to the duty they owed to their parents, who fed and clothed them and tried to beat the devilishness out of them.

Many persons became convinced that this was too heavy a load of guilt to ask children to carry. So the load was gradually shifted to parental shoulders. If the child went wrong, the parents must be to blame, one way or another. They must have failed to give him love and understanding, not to mention emotional support, etc. Things all but reached the point when children would start saying that parents should be seen and not heard.

Now the pendulum is swinging back somewhat. There is, for instance, the statement by a child psychiatrist that there are so many studies of how children behave and react that it's time to make more effort to study and understand parents. Parenthood has profound effects on people, for better or worse.

Anthropologists have made studies of how mothers in Bali, for instance, react to their children. Who has made similar studies of American mothers? Or fathers?

Such studies would be a big help to children in understanding the puzzling and unpredictable genus parent. Every parent with a copy of Dr. Gesell's "The Child from One to Ten" on the shelf has experienced the comfort, when Junior is rampageous, of learning that such behavior is to be expected at his age, and that its automatic disappearance can be expected before his next birthday.

But Junior is out of luck. He has no book to tell him: "Fathers at 34 enter an introversial swing during which it is hard to pry small change out of them. But at 35 . . ." No wonder the poor kid has trouble understanding the old man.

These Days

A Fatal Doctrine

Professor Seymour E. Harris of Harvard University, who has been very active in the development of the new economics which guided the New Deal, has penned a sentence which requires some comment even while the Senate is probing into who said what to whom, which seems so important to some people that the chief of staff of the Army and other top brass can take time off to sit for hours as spectators while a war is going on in Indochina. The learned professor wrote:

"When there are deficits, the business man pulls in his belt. But this is a fatal principle in government. The guiding doctrine should be this: what government does better, or what cannot be done under private auspices, must be done by government. But the new administration proposes a return to the 18th Century principles that would leave undone all but the minimum tasks of government."

The doctrine here enunciated is even new in the New Deal in one part of the argument, namely that "what government does better . . . must be done by government." This is, of course, a total negation of private enterprise. I suppose by "better," the professor means more efficiently, more cheaply, more adequately. It is not beyond belief that the government could dispense cigars more efficiently and even more cheaply than the thousands of cigar stores that compete against each other for my custom.

The government-owned installations could make up the difference by not paying taxes; by putting in low-priced civil service workers who would be forbidden to strike by law and whose only hope for the future lay in a pension; by taking the sites for factories and stores from private owners by the law of eminent domain; by making up deficits out of taxes; and finally, by abolishing cigars as against the common interest.

This is the efficiency of slavery, not of free men. Apparently Professor Harris would not have the government perform minimum tasks as Thomas Jefferson held to be right. What are the maximum tasks of government? It could be total control of every function of the individual in society, the ownership of all property and the control of each person, from the cradle to the grave. Such a society now exists in the Soviet Universal State. Its most developed form is in Soviet Russia; its worst form is in Red China. In both these countries, limitations are placed upon the development of the individual which have produced a way of life completely different from ours in which the individual need neither be dependent upon nor cravenly obedient to those who control the power of state. He can vote them out of office.

It is not a question as to which system is "better," but rather which system a people prefers. Our theory is based on the right of choice, on the right of a people to determine for themselves the kind of government they want. If the American people want socialism or communism, they could, by orderly constitutional means, establish such societies. They could amend the Constitution to conform to their ideas.

Professor Harris removes himself from the objectivity of the scholar to the confusion of vitriolic journalism when he writes:

"What the Honest Dollar School proposes is to make the dollar more valuable by reducing the supply. This it at the bottom of the proposals to balance the budget, to cut government spending, to raise the rate of interest, and cut the supply of credit . . ."

It would seem that the professor cannot relate his thinking to the dangers of inflation, which can wreck such a society as ours. The 53-cent dollar is a peril to use because it dries up the reservoirs of private capital and makes an increasing number of persons dependent upon the state. A 25-cent dollar, a 10-cent dollar, would end not only private enterprise but a free society. The so-called "Honest Dollar," an excellent term, hopes to re-establish the values of the dollar, the purchasing power of the dollar so that families may be enabled to save money, to reduce debt and to invest for the future. Is such a program wrong? Is it justified to say, as Professor Harris does say, that such a dollar will produce "blood-letting, bankruptcy, and liquidation?"

Iron Maiden? Or Iron Curtain?

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — French censorship has blacked out the truth, but Gen. Henri Navarre, the French commander, has literally been throwing away planes and paratroopers over Communist-ringed Dien Bien Phu.

Reports have filtered back to the Pentagon that airlift planes have announced their position to Red anti-aircraft batteries below. For some unaccountable reason, the pilots have been reporting their exact altitude and relaying flight instructions in plain French without bothering to use code.

In other words, as the planes drone over Dien Bien Phu, the air-control radio crackles with exact reports on their position and cargo. All the Red anti-aircraft gunners need is a radio to get a bearing on the planes. The result has been appallingly accurate anti-aircraft fire over Dien Bien Phu. Over one-third of the parachuting reinforcements have been lost before they got a chance to go into action.

U. S. military observers urged the French to withdraw from Dien Bien Phu in the first place because it was too exposed. They also report that General Navarre failed to pour in enough supplies and medicine to sustain the besieged jungle fortress. Finally they suggested sending a relief column overland to rescue the embattled defenders, but Navarre dispatched such a small force that it was ambushed and had to retreat.

Irony is that Dien Bien Phu was erected as a trap to bait the Reds. It was built in the deep jungles on the same theory that the natives tether a goat or lamb in the jungle to bait a tiger. They then lay in wait and shoot the tiger.

The French figured that by enticing the Reds to attack the impregnable fortress of Dien Bien Phu they could entrap and massacre a large segment of the Vietminh army. This was the sole purpose of the fort. Strategically, it isn't important. However, the tragic battle to defend it is influencing the peace of the world.

Milk Goes Back To Cows

Secretary of Agriculture Benson is working on a new program whereby America's dairy cows may soon be eating the same milk they gave.

In an effort to unload some of the 589,000,000 pounds of dried milk now stored in government warehouses, Secretary Benson has decided to sell a portion of it to processors of animal and poultry feed.

The price set by the Agriculture Department is a mere 3-½ to 4 cents a pound — only a fraction of what the milk cost the taxpayers. However, this cut-rate sale of dried milk should act as a stimulant to the feed industry and will probably lower the farmers' feed bills a bit.

Actually the dried milk unloading scheme is another way to "solve" the agricultural surplus problem without resorting to the Brannan plan. Under ex-Agriculture Secretary Brannan's plan, the taxpayers would get the benefit of lower milk prices resulting from the surplus. But under this latest maneuver it's the cows, poultry, pigs and cattle, not human beings, that will consume the dried milk.

Agricultural economists also expect the new program to be a financial boost for the nation's feed manufacturers. They will be able to add cheap milk to their feed in place of other, more expensive proteins.

Admiral For Congress

Adm. Ross McIntire, the White House doctor who watched so carefully over FDR's health, is now running for Congress. He's a candidate from San Diego, Calif., one of the biggest naval and Marine Corps bases in the U.S.A., where he should have an excellent chance of winning.

Dr. McIntire is running on two main platforms: 1. The security of the nation; 2. Unemployment. He feels that the Eisenhower administration has cut the armed forces below a point of safety, and as national chairman of the President's Committee for the Employment of the Physically Handicapped, he has been in a position to see what unemployment has done to those who are hit first. Admiral McIntire is a Democrat.

If he defeats the present Republican congressman from San Diego, Robert Wilson, he will be one of the few regular naval officers elected or appointed to Congress. Among the others have been Capt. Ed Izac, also from San Diego, and Adm. Tommy Hart, who commanded the U. S. fleet in Manila at the time of Pearl Harbor and who was later appointed to the Senate from Connecticut.

Now serving in Congress is a regular Marine Corps officer, Gen. James Devereux, a prisoner on Wake Island during the war and later elected to Congress as a Republican from Maryland.

Washington Pipeline

American diplomats at Geneva have secretly sounded out the Chinese Communists about settling the Indochina War and stopping all aid to the Vietminh guerrillas. In return for peace, U. S. diplomats propose giving Red China a warm-water port at Haiphong on the Tonkin Gulf. This would give Red China a vital trade outlet and would mean the partition of Indochina. However, the Red guerrilla leader, Ho Chi Minh, is said to be dead set against compromise, wants to capture Hanoi where his rebellion began in 1946. . . . President Eisenhower's harassed economic advisers are trying to figure out a way to unsnap the public's pocketbook. Statistics show that personal income, after taxes, has gone up, yet retail sales are continuing to drop. In other words, the public has gone on a nationwide buyers' strike, apparently waiting for prices to come down. Economists believe they could solve the recession overnight if they could somehow persuade the public to start buying again. . . . Paradoxically, the Treasury Department simultaneously is fighting against increasing the public's buying power by means of consumer concessions in the tax bill.

Indochina Termed Administration's Crisis Of Decision

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

A force of American carriers has been on station in the Gulf of Tonkin, within convenient striking range, since the critical Indochinese battle of Dien Bien Phu began to move toward its climax.

It will probably be officially denied, but the carriers were of course ordered to the scene for use if need be. They are there to provide immediate air support for Dien Bien Phu's defenders, if they are ordered to do so by the President and the National Security Council. That is the simplest measure of the extreme gravity of the present situation.

Maybe the moment has passed already, when massive American air intervention would have turned the scales of the fighting. The heroic force of Gen. Christian de Castries now holds a diminished fortress less than one square mile in area. The tropic rains have begun. It would now be very difficult to punish the attackers severely without harming the defenders, who are so hard-pressed.

This is the contention, at least, of the same administration leaders who opposed intervention at Dien Bien Phu on constitutional-political grounds in the first grim debate in the National Security Council. At that time, when the French first asked for air aid, the answer was no. Since that first American refusal, the situation has worsened; and the French have renewed their request. As these words are written, the question is again being anxiously debated on the highest policy making level of the government.

Simple Misapprehension

The verdict must be awaited. Whatever the verdict may be, it seems a good idea to try to answer the more important questions Americans are naturally asking about this remote and mysterious contest, that has plunged the American policy-makers into an agony of close-balanced decision.

THE REASON FOR IT: The French command in Indochina allowed its finest fighting troops to be entrapped at Dien Bien Phu under a misapprehension. Gen. Navarre wanted a strong, fortified post in the Indochinese interior from which he could strike at Communist supply lines. The Viet Minh high command had never successfully attacked such a post. Hence the Dien Bien Phu position was established with high confidence.

The misapprehension was simple. The Communists had not previously used heavy artillery in any battle in the hard-to-supply interior of Indochina. The bowl in the hills which is Dien Bien Phu was large enough to provide a central area immune to the usual Communist mortar fire. Here, in this supposedly safe area, the airfield was situated.

But as first reported in this space the Bien Bien Phu position had hardly been occupied before the Viet Minh command moved up anti-aircraft guns and 105 cannon. The AA hampered the air lift to the defenders. The 105s brought even their vital airfield under fire. The whole system of French defensive tactics was disrupted.

This was made possible — and here is the truly significant point— by a very heavy increase of Chinese supplies and transports to the Indochinese Communists. Without this more massive Chinese intervention, Dien Bien Phu would now be safe. The increase in the Chinese role has led directly to the request for an increase in the American role.

Similar To Yorktown

THE IMPORTANCE OF IT: On the one hand, Dien Bien Phu has great military importance. The loss of their crack troops there will be a severe blow to the French. The enemy divisions besieging Dien Bien Phu will also be freed by victory to launch a new attack, perhaps, in the crucial, hard-disputed region of the Tonkin delta.

On the other hand — and even more important—the battle at Dien Bien Phu now resembles the battle of Yorktown. One hundred and seventy-one years ago, when Cornwallis surrendered to Washington, the British were still able to carry on the war in America. They had the men and resources to do so. But they did not want to do so.

Official reports have warned the American policy makers that a defeat at Dien Bieu Phu will be the same kind of psychological blow to the French, causing them to want to end the Indochinese War at all costs.

WHAT IT MEANS TO US: Because of the peculiar political-military pattern in Indo-China, any kind of compromise settlement—by partition or otherwise — will certainly be fatal. If the French buy a "compromise," the whole of Indochina must eventually fall into Communist hands.

The President and National Security Council long ago agreed that the loss of Indochina would surely be followed by the eventual loss to communism of all the rest of Asia. After Indochina goes, there is no where in Asia to draw a defensible line. Sen. William Knowland was reflecting the unanimous view of the American policy makers as to the results of losing Asia, when he declared:

Once Asia is absorbed, communism can turn upon the West with invincible power."

That was why Neville Chamberlain at last led Britain to war. The stage where an implaccable enemy could turn upon Britain "with invincible power" lay at the end of the road that began so easily, when the British and French refused to interfere with Hitler's re-occupation of the Rhineland.

A plan for American intervention in Indochina, calling mainly for air and naval action, has been presented to our highest policy makers. Yet the political difficulties of action are as great today as they were in 1936. The result of the Indochina crisis, therefore, is the first true crisis of decision in the Eisenhower administration.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Zoological branch of the FBI found the last brain truster in index where he had filed himself under indispensible.

That closes the era of the double-domed crackpots and seals off the monkey dormitories.

It charges us with the era. We stood by in superbly firesided amazement while the brain trusters pulled rabbits out of their Stetson warrens.

Their ridiculous regime started in 1932 and ran its string-talk out knots and all. The brains are scattered. They were scattered then but we didn't know it.

The brain truster was a fellow who changed his mind with his hat. He was educated beyond his ability to comprehend. He studied political economics to a point and dulled that.

He added two and two and made four. His trouble was he subtracted two from two and still got four.

Praise For Dulles

By David Lawrence

GENEVA — Realism came into its own here at the Geneva Conference when Secretary of State Dulles presented the facts of international life to the assembled delegates in a speech that will live long in the history of free men.

For the story of the aggression in Korea—too often glossed over or forgotten in an age of materialism, as high principles and idealism are sometimes brushed aside—wsa told in unequivocal phrases by the American secretary of state. He brought back into the picture the mandate of the United Nations and reminded the world that all nations, including India, had branded North Korea as aggressor and that later the United Nations had by resolution declared Communist China an aggressor, too. No more pointed lesson to appeasors could have been uttered than in these words of Mr. Dulles aimed at those governments which now, in order to get a makeshift peace, would ignore the acts of the aggressors:

Minced No Words

"Peace is always easy to achieve —by surrender. Unity is also easy to achieve — by surrender. The hard task that confronts us, is to combine peace and unity with freedom."

Mr. Dulles reminded the delegates that the Korean War provided the first example in history of "a collective security organization in actual operation." He added: "If this conference is disloyal to the United Nations and its decisions, then each of us will bear a share of the responsibility for destroying what protects us all."

It was important here, where so many issues have crept in, to put into perspective the faithless position of the Communists. Secretary Dulles minced no words as he accused the Communists of breaking the terms of the armistice agreement by failing to permit a political conference on Korean questions within three months after the truce was signed because they "desired first to consolidate their position in Korea."

Calling attention to the fact that the North Koreans had just proposed that all foreign forces be withdrawn from Korean territory in six months, Mr. Dulles pointed out that the United Nations forces "would have a long way to go" while the Chinese Communist forces "would have only a few miles to go and they could quickly return." He added:

"Once before we had our troops in Korea and withdrew them, as it turned out, prematurely. We do not want that history to repeat itself."

These are things that had to be said. For unhappily in and around conference circles the defeatism that comes from certain Allied quarters is most discouraging. Retreat and surrender, both in Korea and Indo-China, are offered as the best way out with little thought given to the damage to the whole principle of collective security in Europe as well as in Asia that could ensue.

Dulles Supplied Resoluteness

Unfortuntely both Prime Minister Churchill in London and Prime Minister Menzies in Australia might better have left unsaid at this time that they will not enter into any military commitments in Indo-china. Actually, America doesn't want to make any such commitments by itself either. But sooner or later the free governments must assert their readiness to make sacrifices for collective action in Southeast Asia, or else see that area conquered by the Communists.

As for Britain, it is not necessary to make any commitments till the outcome of Geneva is known, but it would be fatal for France to pull out of Indochina now lest the whole French empire begin to crumble. Certainly a withdrawal from Indochina by a "negotiation" that means surrender can bring a collapse of French power and influence in Tunisia and Morocco, too. Foreign Minister Bidault fully understands the implications, but it is being said his cabinet may fall. Maybe such an event is necessary to awaken the French people to the fact that partisans in their midst may be unwittingly repeating the catastrophe of 1940, when a fifth column permitted France to be conquered from within. Maybe French pride and patriotism will be aroused against the prospect of reducing France to a third-rate power if she surrenders to "partition" of Indochina or any of the insidious schemes being advanced here for liquidating French influence in Southeast Asia.

If ever a group of faltering allies needed a hypodermic of resoluteness in an hour of great crisis in the world, it was on the occasion of the opening of the conference here this week, and the U. S. secretary of state furnished it splendidly in a spirit reminiscent of the illustrious President of the United States who 34 years ago envisaged this shrine of collective security at Geneva.

Problems Of Mental, Physical And Emotional Fatigue

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

I saw two middle-aged business men one afternoon who had the same complaint. They were tired out and about to give up their jobs. The younger looked harassed and weary; there were deep lines on his face and bags under his eyes.

"My wife tells me I work too hard and I'm beginning to believe she is right. The long day at the office saps my strength and the social contacts so necessary to my work take up additional energy. I belong to several clubs and spend too many evenings away from home. I also have to go out of town a lot because we have branch offices in several large cities. Is it overwork or am I sick?"

I had heard enough and told him so. When his examination proved negative, I told him what he already knew. He was working too hard and sleeping too little; in the circumstances, fatigue was a normal phenomenon. Two months later he was greatly improved; he had asked for assistance at the office and had received it.

The other executive remained extremely fatigued even though he was doing less than ever before. When questioned in greater detail, he said he not only had been bypassed for a promotion but was assigned to a job of lesser responsibility. This hurt his pride and he was bored. Here is a case of emotional rather than physical or mental fatigue.

Problems of physical and mental fatigue are everyday occurrences to most physicians and they are easy to solve provided the individual wishes to or is able to cooperate. Emotional fatigue is more difficult because it centers about interest and ambition; from 30 to 50 per cent of all cases fall into this category. It occurs in all walks of life.

A working man develops fatigue because of the monotony of the assembly line; he has no interest in it nor any incentive to carry on. Like his youngsters, he might say, "I'm tired of playing with my dump truck." His boss may feel the same way, especially if he reaches the top too young and has lost his incentive to work harder. Bananas And Bountiful Eggs Make An Elegant April Cake

This beautiful month of April is just the time to make a cake light as a cloud, with fruit flavor fresh as a new spring bud.

Every experienced homemaker knows that April is the month of plenty for eggs, and it is eggs that make a wonderful sponge cake. Add the flavor of fully ripe mellow banana to your sponge cake batter and you will have a cake as delicate and delicious as spring itself.

The technique for adding characteristic banana flavor to cake batters is to whip or mash the bananas well so that it becomes liquid. You can whip or mash the bananas by slicing them into a bowl and beating them with a fork or with a rotary beater, or you can break the bananas into chunks and beat with an electric mixer.

Fully Ripe Bananas Sweet And Mellow

To capture banana flavor at its peak for this cake, choose fully ripe bananas that have yellow peel flecked with brown. In fully ripe bananas, the characteristic flavor and natural sweetness are most highly developed, and the fruit is readily digestible. This fact is just as important to know about bananas used from the fruit bowl as it is about bananas used in cake making.

Garnish this beautiful Banana Sponge Cake with whipped cream and sliced ripe bananas, or frost it with your favorite frosting and you will have a perfect spring dessert.

Banana Sponge Cake

Before Mixing: Have eggs at room temperature. Set oven at correct temperature (350°F.)

1 cup sifted cake flour
¼ teaspoon salt
4 eggs, separated
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon fresh lemon juice
½ cup mashed ripe banana* (about 1 banana)

*Use fully ripe bananas . . . yellow peel flecked with brown. Sift flour and salt twice. Beat egg whites in large mixing bowl until stiff enough to form moist peaks. Gradually add sugar, beating constantly until very stiff. DO NOT UNDERBEAT. In separate bowl, beat egg yolks until thick. Add lemon juice. Continue beating until thick and lemon colored. Add egg white mixture, beating constantly until blended. Gradually fold in flour alternately with bananas. Turn into an ungreased tube pan (9 inches in diameter, 3½ inches deep). Bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) about 35 to 45 minutes, or until cake is done. (To test doneness, press top lightly with finger. If no imprint remains, cake is done.) Immediately turn pan upside down, placing tube part over a small-necked bottle or funnel so that pan is elevated above surface of table. Let cake hang until cold. Loosen sides and tube with spatula. Turn pan over and tap edge sharply to loosen. Top with whipped cream and slice bananas or frost with your favorite frosting.

Home Freezers Part Of Everyday Living

Appliance experts are predicting home freezers will be a part of apartment and house rentals as a matter of course in the future, much as refrigerators have become a standard part of today's "rental package." They point out there's already a great demand by thousands of rental families who are ready for freezers and are willing to pay for the use of them.

Bananas And Bountiful Eggs Make An Elegant April Cake

This beautiful month of April is just the time to make a cake light as a cloud, with fruit flavor fresh as a new spring bud.

Every experienced homemaker knows that April is the month of plenty for eggs, and it is eggs that make a wonderful sponge cake. Add the flavor of fully ripe mellow banana to your sponge cake batter and you will have a cake as delicate and delicious as spring itself.

The technique for adding characteristic banana flavor to cake batters is to whip or mash the bananas well so that it becomes liquid. You can whip or mash the bananas by slicing them into a bowl and beating them with a fork or with a rotary beater, or you can break the bananas into chunks and beat with an electric mixer.

Fully Ripe Bananas Sweet And Mellow

To capture banana flavor at its peak for this cake, choose fully ripe bananas that have yellow peel flecked with brown. In fully ripe bananas, the characteristic flavor and natural sweetness are most highly developed, and the fruit is readily digestible. This fact is just as important to know about bananas used from the fruit bowl as it is about bananas used in cake making.

Garnish this beautiful Banana Sponge Cake with whipped cream and sliced ripe bananas, or frost it with your favorite frosting and you will have a perfect spring dessert.

Banana Sponge Cake

Before Mixing: Have eggs at room temperature. Set oven at correct temperature (350°F.)

1 cup sifted cake flour
¼ teaspoon salt
4 eggs, separated
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon fresh lemon juice
½ cup mashed ripe banana* (about 1 banana)

*Use fully ripe bananas . . . yellow peel flecked with brown. Sift flour and salt twice. Beat egg whites in large mixing bowl until stiff enough to form moist peaks. Gradually add sugar, beating constantly until very stiff. DO NOT UNDERBEAT. In separate bowl, beat egg yolks until thick. Add lemon juice. Continue beating until thick and lemon colored. Add egg white mixture, beating constantly until blended. Gradually fold in flour alternately with bananas. Turn into an ungreased tube pan (9 inches in diameter, 3½ inches deep). Bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) about 35 to 45 minutes, or until cake is done. (To test doneness, press top lightly with finger. If no imprint remains, cake is done.) Immediately turn pan upside down, placing tube part over a small-necked bottle or funnel so that pan is elevated above surface of table. Let cake hang until cold. Loosen sides and tube with spatula. Turn pan over and tap edge sharply to loosen. Top with whipped cream and slice bananas or frost with your favorite frosting.

Set Off Meat Dish With Right Garnish

Garnishes for meat have been compared to jewelry for a dress. As the right jewelry sets-off your dress, the correct garnish will add the finishing touch to your meat dish. However, the same as jewelry may be overdone—so can garnishes. Keep them simple and let them work into your menus when possible.

Here are a few suggestions made by Reba Staggs, home economist. When serving braised pork chops alternate chops on the platter with bundles of buttered broccoli. Set off a broiled ham slice with pickled pineapple cubes (cubes marinated in pickled peach juice) threaded on skewers. Minted carrots are ideal with lamb chops. Garnish a half of ham with orange cups filled with rhubarb or with lemon baskets of apple sauce.

A standing rib roast of beef is cleverly garnished with tomato toppers — slices of tomato and onion topped with stuffed olive wrapped with bacon and panbroiled. With roast ham have cucumber cups filled with pickle relish. A pork loin roast is temptingly surrounded with orange cups of cranberry sauce.

GRIN AND BEAR IT — By Lichty

"Naturally, I'm surprised and delighted to meet Junior's parents . . . he's been telling me that he's the product of a broken home."

Stuff Veal Birds With Pineapple

Veal and pineapple team for this serving. Strips of veal round steak are topped with a pineapple-bread crumb stuffing, then rolled and fastened. They may be slowly braised either on top of your range or in a slow oven (300° F.) for tender and flavorsome results.

Pineapple Stuffed Veal Birds

- 2 veal round steaks, cut ½-inch thick
- ½ cup crushed pineapple
- ¼ cup melted butter or margarine
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon sage
- 2 cups soft bread crumbs
- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
- Salt
- Pepper
- ¼ cup water

Remove bone from steaks and cut into three equal pieces. Drain the crushed pineapple thoroughly. Add the pineapple, melted butter or margarine, salt and sage to the bread crumbs. Mix well. Place a spoonsful of the pineapple stuffing on each piece of veal, roll and fasten with wooden picks. Brown the rolls slowly in lard or drippings. Season with salt and pepper. Add water, cover and simmer for 45 minutes or until tender. 6 servings.

Don't Dunk Fryer

After each session with an electric fryer, wipe excess fat from the basket with soft paper, then wash in hot soapsuds, rinse with hot water, and wipe dry.

The fryer itself must not be immersed. Instead, fill the fryer's well with hot, soapy water (little suds as possible), scrub the bottom and sides with a soft brush. Repeat with clean hot water, and dry with a clean towel.

Freeze Your Pork

Freezing pork for definite periods of time can be just as effective as cooking in killing trichina larvae which cause the disease, trichinosis. For example, a piece of pork about six inches in diameter, if frozen at 10 degrees below zero, should remain in storage at this temperature for about 10 days. If the pork has not been frozen, the homemaker should be sure that it is thoroughly cooked before it is served.

Set Off Meat Dish With Right Garnish

Garnishes for meat have been compared to jewelry for a dress. As the right jewelry sets-off your dress, the correct garnish will add the finishing touch to your meat dish. However, the same as jewelry may be overdone—so can garnishes. Keep them simple and let them work into your menus when possible.

Here are a few suggestions made by Reba Staggs, home economist. When serving braised pork chops alternate chops on the platter with bundles of buttered broccoli. Set off a broiled ham slice with pickled pineapple cubes (cubes marinated in pickled peach juice) threaded on skewers. Minted carrots are ideal with lamb chops. Garnish a half of ham with orange cups filled with rhubarb or with lemon baskets of apple sauce.

A standing rib roast of beef is cleverly garnished with tomato toppers -- slices of tomato and onion topped with stuffed olive wrapped with bacon and panbroiled. With roast ham have cucumber cups filled with pickle relish. A pork loin roast is temptingly surrounded with orange cups of cranberry sauce.

IS TODAY'S BREAD BAKED TODAY

GRIN AND BEAR IT — By Lichty

"Naturally, I'm surprised and delighted to meet Junior's parents . . . he's been telling me that he's the product of a broken home."

Stuff Veal Birds With Pineapple

Veal and pineapple team for this serving. Strips of veal round steak are topped with a pineapple-bread crumb stuffing, then rolled and fastened. They may be slowly braised either on top of your range or in a slow oven (300° F.) for tender and flavorsome results.

Pineapple Stuffed Veal Birds

- 2 veal round steaks, cut ½-inch thick
- ½ cup crushed pineapple
- ¼ cup melted butter or margarine
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon sage
- 2 cups soft bread crumbs
- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
- Salt
- Pepper
- ¼ cup water

Remove bone from steaks and cut into three equal pieces. Drain the crushed pineapple thoroughly. Add the pineapple, melted butter or margarine, salt and sage to the bread crumbs. Mix well. Place a spoonful of the pineapple stuffing on each piece of veal, roll and fasten with wooden picks. Brown the rolls slowly in lard or drippings. Season with salt and pepper. Add water, cover and simmer for 45 minutes or until tender. 6 servings.

RIVAL DOG FOOD — NATURAL VITAMINS — for HEALTH, GROWTH and VIGOR

Don't Dunk Fryer

After each session with an electric fryer, wipe excess fat from the basket with soft paper, then wash in hot soapsuds, rinse with hot water, and wipe dry.

The fryer itself must not be immersed. Instead, fill the fryer's well with hot, soapy water (little suds as possible), scrub the bottom and sides with a soft brush. Repeat with clean hot water, and dry with a clean towel.

Freeze Your Pork

Freezing pork for definite periods of time can be just as effective as cooking in killing trichina larvae which cause the disease, trichinosis. For example, a piece of pork about six inches in diameter, if frozen at 10 degrees below zero, should remain in storage at this temperature for about 10 days. If the pork has not been frozen, the homemaker should be sure that it is thoroughly cooked before it is served.

Learn To Cook All Beef Cuts For Money In Your Pocket

Would you like to save money on meat? Then study this small stint of homework.

Only about 26% of the weight of a side of beef is roast beef and sirloin and T-bone steaks.

All the rest of that side of beef consists of cuts less known, or not known at all, to many women.

Doesn't that give you the answer immediately to how to save money on meat?

Women who know how easy it is to make meat dishes with the less known cuts of beef that are just as delicious as steaks and roast beef, have money in their pockets that other women don't have. Better still, they can stretch their meat money to cover more meals.

It is demand that makes the difference in price between beef cuts, so get to know how to cook what others don't know how to cook, and you'll save plenty of money on meat.

Thriftier Cuts Of Beef

Just what kind of cuts remain in that side of beef not comprised in the 26% that is so in demand? There is chuck, rump, flank, neck, brisket, plate, shank, heel of round, short ribs. What dishes do they make? A good sized piece of chuck or rump makes wonderful pot roast. Chuck steak is delicious cooked by braising to make Swiss Steak or Smothered Steak. Flank steak makes Stuffed Flank Steak to bake or braise. Thrifty ground beef from the chuck, neck, brisket, plate or shank makes wonderful meat loaves, hamburger patties, meat balls, and casseroles in combination with beans, macaroni, spaghetti or other hearty ingredients.

Cubes of chuck, shank, flank, neck, brisket or heel of round make those old-fashioned stews, meat pies, and casseroles your husband orders in a restaurant, probably because they remind him of the kind of home cooking that used to be common in America.

"Boiled Beef," the kind of beef that is simmered to tenderness and served with Horseradish Sauce is made with the plate or brisket of beef.

Variety Meats Are Important

Beef has its less known variety meats that have good nutrition and interesting flavor at lower price tags. Beef variety meats include heart, tongue, kidney, oxtails, sweetbreads, and liver. Liver is a rich source not only of iron, but also of the B vitamins and vitamin A.

To cook the beef cuts less in demand and therefore thriftier than steak and roast beef, it is essential to know the method of meat cookery known as braising. This is quite simple to acquire. It merely means cooking meat in moist heat. Season the meat with salt and pepper. Brown meat slowly on all sides in a little hot fat. Add a small amount of liquid. As the liquid cooks away, a little more may be added. Cover tightly. Cover over low heat at simmering temperature on top of range or in moderately low (325° F.) oven, until meat is tender. Vegetables may be added 30 to 45 minutes before the meat is done to continue cooking until meat and vegetables are tender.

Recipes that use the thriftier cuts of beef are included with this article.

New England "Boiled" Dinner

- 4 lbs. beef brisket (fresh or corned)
- 6 onions
- 6 carrots
- 1 small head cabbage
- 12 small beets

Cover meat with boiling water. (If fresh brisket is used, add 1½ tablespoons salt to cooking water.) Simmer slowly in covered kettle 3 to 5 hours or until tender. Forty-five mintues before serving add onions and carrots. Fifteen minutes later add quartered cabbage. Cook beets separately. Serve on a large platter, with the meat in the center and the vegetables arranged around it. Serves 6.

Hungarian Goulash

- 2 lbs. beef chuck or neck meat
- 2 onions
- 2 tablespoons butter
- Paprika
- ⅛ teaspoon caraway seed (if desired)
- ½ teaspoon powdered marjoram
- 1 clove of garlic
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- 1 cup water

Cut meat into 1-inch cubes. Let onion brown in butter, then add meat and let it brown lightly. Add caraway seed, marjoram, chopped garlic, and enough paprika to effect a noticeable red color. Add water and salt, cover and simmer for 2½ hours. Add more water if necessary. Whole potatoes may be added to the goulash ½ hour before done. Some goulash recipes call for the addition of tomatoes. Strained tomatoes may be substituted for water in this recipe. Serves 6.

Mushroom Meat Puffs

- 1½ pounds ground beef
- 1½ cups soft bread crumbs
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 can mushroom soup
- ½ cup water

Mix all the ingredients except the soup and form into balls that are not too compact. Sprinkle with flour and brown well in hot fat. Over these, pour the can of condensed mushroom soup diluted with ½ cup of water. Cover and simmer for 20 minutes. Serves 4.

Krispie Kustard

A wonderful little easy-to-make dessert, plum full of health and goodness.

- 2 eggs, lightly beaten
- ½ cup sugar
- 2½ cups rich milk
- 1 tsp. cinnamon
- ½ tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 8 California Dried Figs, about
- ½ cup finely minced walnuts
- 2 cups crunchy rice cereal
- ¼ cup sugar
- ⅛ cup butter, malted

Beat the eggs lightly, add the sugar, milk and spice, salt and flavorings. Stir together. With scissors, cut the stems off the figs. Then snip the figs into the milk mixture, being careful to cut tiny pieces. Add the minced nuts. Pour into a buttered baking dish. Spread the rice cereal over the top in a layer not less than ½ inch thick. Sprinkle with sugar. Pour melted butter on top. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 30 minutes or until custard is just "set". Serves 5-6. Extra grand served slightly warm with sweetened, vanilla-flavored whipped cream.

Learn To Cook All Beef Cuts For Money In Your Pocket

Would you like to save money on meat? Then study this small stint of homework.

Only about 26% of the weight of a side of beef is roast beef and sirloin and T-bone steaks.

All the rest of that side of beef consists of cuts less known, or not known at all, to many women.

Doesn't that give you the answer immediately to how to save money on meat?

Women who know how easy it is to make meat dishes with the less known cuts of beef that are just as delicious as steaks and roast beef, have money in their pockets that other women don't have. Better still, they can stretch their meat money to cover more meals.

It is demand that makes the difference in price between beef cuts, so get to know how to cook what others don't know how to cook, and you'll save plenty of money on meat.

Thriftier Cuts Of Beef

Just what kind of cuts remain in that side of beef not comprised in the 26% that is so in demand? There is chuck, rump, flank, neck, brisket, plate, shank, heel of round, short ribs. What dishes do they make? A good sized piece of chuck or rump makes wonderful pot roast. Chuck steak is delicious cooked by braising to make Swiss Steak or Smothered Steak. Flank steak makes Stuffed Flank Steak to bake or braise. Thrifty ground beef from the chuck, neck, brisket, plate or shank makes wonderful meat loaves, hamburger patties, meat balls, and casseroles in combination with beans, macaroni, spaghetti or other hearty ingredients.

Cubes of chuck, shank, flank, neck, brisket or heel of round make those old-fashioned stews, meat pies, and casseroles your husband orders in a restaurant, probably because they remind him of the kind of home cooking that used to be common in America.

"Boiled Beef," the kind of beef that is simmered to tenderness and served with Horseradish Sauce is made with the plate or brisket of beef.

Variety Meats Are Important

Beef has its less known variety meats that have good nutrition and interesting flavor at lower price tags. Beef variety meats include heart, tongue, kidney, oxtails, sweetbreads, and liver. Liver is a rich source not only of iron, but also of the B vitamins and vitamin A.

To cook the beef cuts less in demand and therefore thriftier than steak and roast beef, it is essential to know the method of meat cookery known as braising. This is quite simple to acquire. It merely means cooking meat in moist heat. Season the meat with salt and pepper. Brown meat slowly on all sides in a little hot fat. Add a small amount of liquid. As the liquid cooks away, a little more may be added. Cover tightly. Cover over low heat at simmering temperature on top of range or in moderately low (325° F.) oven, until meat is tender. Vegetables may be added 30 to 45 minutes before the meat is done to continue cooking until meat and vegetables are tender.

Recipes that use the thriftier cuts of beef are included with this article.

New England "Boiled" Dinner

- 4 lbs. beef brisket (fresh or corned)
- 6 onions
- 6 carrots
- 1 small head cabbage
- 12 small beets

Cover meat with boiling water. (If fresh brisket is used, add 1½ tablespoons salt to cooking water.) Simmer slowly in covered kettle 3 to 5 hours or until tender. Forty-five mintues before serving add onions and carrots. Fifteen minutes later add quartered cabbage. Cook beets separately. Serve on a large platter, with the meat in the center and the vegetables arranged around it. Serves 6.

Hungarian Goulash

- 2 lbs. beef chuck or neck meat
- 2 onions
- 2 tablespoons butter
- Paprika
- ⅛ teaspoon caraway seed (if desired)
- ½ teaspoon powdered marjoram
- 1 clove of garlic
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- 1 cup water

Cut meat into 1-inch cubes. Let onion brown in butter, then add meat and let it brown lightly. Add caraway seed, marjoram, chopped garlic, and enough paprika to effect a noticeable red color. Add water and salt, cover and simmer for 2½ hours. Add more water if necessary. Whole potatoes may be added to the goulash ½ hour before done. Some goulash recipes call for the addition of tomatoes. Strained tomatoes may be substituted for water in this recipe. Serves 6.

Mushroom Meat Puffs

- 1½ pounds ground beef
- 1½ cups soft bread crumbs
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 can mushroom soup
- ½ cup water

Mix all the ingredients except the soup and form into balls that are not too compact. Sprinkle with flour and brown well in hot fat. Over these, pour the can of condensed mushroom soup diluted with ½ cup of water. Cover and simmer for 20 minutes. Serves 4.

Krispie Kustard

A wonderful little easy-to-make dessert, plum full of health and goodness.

- 2 eggs, lightly beaten
- ½ cup sugar
- 2½ cups rich milk
- 1 tsp. cinnamon
- ½ tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 8 California Dried Figs, about
- ½ cup finely minced walnuts
- 2 cups crunchy rice cereal
- ¼ cup sugar
- ⅛ cup butter, malted

Beat the eggs lightly, add the sugar, milk and spice, salt and flavorings. Stir together. With scissors, cut the stems off the figs. Then snip the figs into the milk mixture, being careful to cut tiny pieces. Add the minced nuts. Pour into a buttered baking dish. Spread the rice cereal over the top in a layer not less than ½ inch thick. Sprinkle with sugar. Pour melted butter on top. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 30 minutes or until custard is just "set". Serves 5-6. Extra grand served slightly warm with sweetened, vanilla-flavored whipped cream.

Valley High Boosters Hear Bob Dean At Sports Dinner

Over 200 Attend First Annual Honor Affair

LONACONING—Bob Dean, of the University of Maryland Department of Intercollegiate Athletics Freshman Coaching staff, was guest speaker at the Valley High Boosters Club's All-Sports Banquet held at Valley High School, Wednesday.

Dean, a former star tackle from the University of Maryland, just recently returned from Korea where he served in the Armed Forces. He has signed to play professional football in Canada with the Edmonton Eskimos. He praised the Valley High School athletes and urged the fine possibilities of having a football team started, with the support of the Valley Boosters Club so encouraging.

The University of Maryland football games of 1953 season highlights film was shown as part of the program which was held in the Valley High school auditorium, following a roast beef dinner served in the school cafeteria by the cafeteria staff. Approximately 200 students, Boosters and guests attended the first All-Sports Banquet held at the new school.

W. E. Lawyer of Cumberland, assisted by his son, Billy, performed a host of tricks in his magician act.

Mrs. Gladys M. Eaton, supervisor of the school lunch program, of the Board of Education office, was a guest and gave a short talk.

Principal Jack A. Petry enumerated the outstanding activities of the Valley High Boosters Club, since its organization last September. First, the awarding of soccer jackets to the WMIL championship team of Valley High school; awarding girls jackets to the girls basketball team at the close of their undefeated season; sponsoring the Valley Fair; the placing of shrubbery in front of the school building; and the planned awarding of a wrist watch to the valedictorian at the first commencement exercises on Friday, June 4. Principal Petry congratulated the honored students for making the "Black Knights ride again" and praised them for carrying "their lance" so well.

Cecil Metz, president of the Valley High Boosters Club, in his address explained the purpose of the club is to support all activities of the school, and welcomed all interested persons to join and attend the meetings on the third Wednesday of each month.

Howard VanHorn served as master of ceremonies for the program. David E. Kirk served as chairman of the Sports committee to arrange for the banquet and program.

Coach John C. Meyers introduced each Senior player and his teams to the audience and expressed their appreciation to the Valley Boosters Club for the support shown at the athletic contests, and the jackets awarded to the championship soccer team, as well as the All-Sports banquet held in their honor.

Coach Mrs. Pauline S. Hamilton introduced her players according to the number of years each had served on the girls basketball squad, and stated that her team is so glad to "be included in the banquet honors, that the Valley High Boosters Club seemed to be the only Boosters Club of the area who also included the girls team."

William W. Saylor, who coached the junior varsity basketball team, introduced his players as the future teams coming into championship material for Valley High School's 1956 team.

The cheerleaders who had served for the 1953-1954 sports season stood as a group and were recognized with applause by the audience. Their sponsor, Miss Sara A. Giffin, was unable to attend.

Vernon Seibert, assistant coach of the University of Maryland, who was scheduled to be principal speaker, was unable to attend due to unforeseen circumstances according to a letter received Wednesday by the banquet committee.

The Boosters and guests who attended the All-Sports banquet viewed the shrubbery which has added greatly to the attractiveness of the new building. Grass is beginning to grow on the lawn in front of the school as well as on the athletic field to make the new school more attractive than ever.

Mt. Savage High To Hold Junior Prom Tonight

MT. SAVAGE — "Moonlight and Roses" will be the theme of the junior prom which will be held in the lobby of Mt. Savage School tonight from 8:30 until 11:30. Music will be by Tommy Smithen's orchestra.

Sprays of red and pink roses with silver stems arranged against the background will carry out the motif. The display case in the lobby will feature a silver moon and clouds. A garden scene replete with a pond afloat with candle lilies will add charm to the dancing area.

During intermission refreshments will be served. Mrs. Blaine Gainer will preside at the punch bowl. Roses and blue tapers will be used in the center piece arrangement of the refreshment table.

At this time the seniors and juniors and their guests will be entertained with a floor show. John Metzger will sing "I Believe" and "April in Paris". Martha Ann Lewis will tap dance to "By the Light of the Silvery Moon". Rosalie Sue Femi will conclude the program with a vocal solo "Wanted".

The chairmen of the various committees in charge of arrangements are: decorating, Judy Blank; refreshment, Catherine Reagan; orchestra, Margaret Stowell; program, Nancy Lancaster; invitation, Robert Blank. These committees have been under the supervision of Mrs. Melvin Brown, junior class adviser.

Grahamtown Gets Two New Businesses

FROSTBURG — Two new business places have been opened in Grahamtown during the past two weeks, one a confectionery and grocery store has been opened for business in a new building recently erected by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Evans, Powell's Lane.

A used car lot with office has been established at Yates corner by Harry Cook, local automobile salesman, and a lifelong resident of Grahamtown.

Peoples Transit Buys New Bus

Keyser Couple Put On Parole

KEYSER—Oliver Davey and his wife Mary, both of whom were recently arrested for contributing to the delinquency of their minor children, pleaded guilty before Judge Ernest A. See, in chambers on Tuesday, and were fined and placed on probation by the court. The father of the children was fined $25 and costs and his wife's fine was placed at $5. Each was sentenced to one year in jail, the sentence suspended, and the pair paroled for four years.

Davey must refrain from use of liquors and associating with others who become intoxicated. He must also pay for aid in caring for the children, $60 each month. The children are being cared for in a foster home.

Mrs. Davey was ordered to make her home with her mother, Mrs. Florence Moran on C Street, Keyser, during the period of the parole.

New Junior High Building Assured For Martinsburg

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., April 29 (AP)—The Berkeley County Board of Education has approved plans for a new junior high school building in Martinsburg and an addition to Musselman High School.

The 21-classroom Junior High project is expected to cost about $625,000. The work at Musselman High has been estimated at $200,000.

The Musselman addition includes a gymnasium, dressing room and related facilities. The Musselman High basketball team went through the entire regular season of play last season undefeated despite the fact that it had no regular playing facilities.

The C. H. Musselman Foundation, sponsored by the fruit packing company of the same name, gave $50,000 toward the Musselman addition. The rest comes from a county bond issue.

16 Firemen Finish Extension Course

PARSONS—Earl Corcoran, chief of the Parsons Volunteer Fire Department stated that 16 firemen successfully passed their 29 lessons in fire fighting given by West Virginia University Extension Service.

The class was taught by Fire Chief Corcoran. Those passing their tests were Ona Hovatter and James Constable, senior firemen; Dennis Carrico, George Donalds, Donald Goff, Willis Fansler, David Hockman, Don Jolly Robert Murphy, Jerry Newman, Charles Shields, Jerry Wilmoth, Gary Hovatter and Edwin Booth. The class consisted of 20 written lessons, one test and eight outdoor evolutions classes.

Westernport PTA Witnesses Town Council In Session

WESTERNPORT—The regular meeting of Mayor Okey E. Michael and Commissioners this week, held on the stage of the Hammond Street School, featured the meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association.

The paying off of three $1,000 water bonds with interest due on May 1 was authorized.

Police Commissioner gave his report of the police for the month of March. The members of the police department will begin wearing their summer uniforms on May 1.

Commissioner Harry Richards gave a report of the progress of 480 feet of eight-inch sewer pipe and the same amount of four-inch water pipe on McKinley Street off of Central Avenue and Boundary Alley.

Street Commissioner Alvin Pence revealed the cost of operating the town equipment.

The lease of the second floor of the City Building of the Maryland Bureau of Mines was renewed for one year beginning July 1.

Mayor Michael requested the Commissioners and all others at the meeting to attend the meeting Saturday evening at the Piedmont Council Chamber to make arrangements for the observance of Memorial Day May 30.

Commissioner William LaFon stated that Albert Paye, civil engineer had completed the running of the corporate limits and marking same. He recommended that the streets be cleaned and the patching of streets necessary be started as soon as possible.

Mrs. Katherine Dailey, town clerk, read the minutes of the preceding meeting.

Bowley Is Promoted To Police Corporal

KEYSER — W. Frank Bowley, state trooper at Keyser for the past seven years, who was recently placed in command of the detachment at Charles Town, and left here a short time ago to take over his new post, has been promoted to corporal. In his new post, he has two other troopers working under his command. The announcement was made by Superintendent R. W. Boyles on Wednesday.

Cpl. Bowley was in Keyser when Court opened here as he had worked several cases before he left for his new post. He appeared to state the information concerning a few cases before the grand jury. On his day off he has been visiting his family here weekly. They will not leave here until a new home can be located for them.

Allegany County Rates 10th In Blood Donations

A total of 2,232 pints of blood were contributed by residents of Allegany County during the 18 visits of the Red Cross mobile unit in the period from July 1, 1953, to March 31, 1954.

The amount contributed, Allegany County Chapter officials said, amounted to 106 per cent of the nine-months quota of 2,105 pints of blood. This percentage rating places Allegany County in tenth place among the 30 chapters affiliated with the Johnstown (Pa.) Regional Headquarters. Only 11 chapters exceeded their quotas for the nine-months period, it was pointed out.

The next Cumberland visit of the mobile unit is scheduled May 3, at the Eagles Home, North Mechanic Street. The other county stop will be made in Westernport on the following day, with the mobile unit headquarters at the home of Victory Post, American Legion.

The quota for each visit is 150 pints of processed blood, chapter officials said, and the mobile unit will be in operation at each stop from noon to 6 p. m.

Mrs. Paul Cueva, who is in charge of the blood program in the Westernport area, said 275 persons have been recruited for the Tuesday visit. Persons who have not been contacted and who wish to donate blood can be given appointments either by contacting Mrs. Cueva for the Westernport stop, or by contacting Red Cross headquarters for the Monday visit here. "Walk-ins" will be processed at either visit, chapter officials added.

Neighboring Garrett County also ranks high in supporting the Red Cross blood program, residents of that county having contributed 373 pints of blood in four visits during the nine months ending March 31. This amount was 11 pints under the quota for the period, but nevertheless placed it 16th with a percentage of 97.1.

Somerset County (Pa.) ranks 26th on the regional headquarters list with 55.3 per cent of its quota, 1,071 pints, attained. Residents of that county donated 686 pints of blood during nine visits, it was explained.

Residents of Bedford County donated 359 pints during six visits in the nine months, regional headquarters pointed out. This represented 46.4 per cent of a 774-pint quota, placing that county chapter 29th on the regional list.

Valley High Boosters Hear Bob Dean At Sports Dinner

LONACONING—Bob Dean, of the University of Maryland Department of Intercollegiate Athletics Freshman Coaching staff, was guest speaker at the Valley High Boosters Club's All-Sports Banquet held at Valley High School, Wednesday.

Dean, a former star tackle from the University of Maryland, just recently returned from Korea where he served in the Armed Forces. He has signed to play professional football in Canada with the Edmonton Eskimos. He praised the Valley High School athletes and urged the fine possibilities of having a football team started, with the support of the Valley Boosters Club so encouraging.

The University of Maryland football games of 1953 season highlights film was shown as part of the program which was held in the Valley High school auditorium, following a roast beef dinner served in the school cafeteria by the cafeteria staff. Approximately 200 students, Boosters and guests attended the first All-Sports Banquet held at the new school.

W. E. Lawyer of Cumberland, assisted by his son, Billy, performed a host of tricks in his magician act.

Mrs. Gladys M. Eaton, supervisor of the school lunch program, of the Board of Education office, was a guest and gave a short talk.

Principal Jack A. Petry enumerated the outstanding activities of the Valley High Boosters Club, since its organization last September. First, the awarding of soccer jackets to the WMIL championship team of Valley High school; awarding girls jackets to the girls basketball team at the close of their undefeated season; sponsoring the Valley Fair; the placing of shrubbery in front of the school building; and the planned awarding of a wrist watch to the valedictorian at the first commencement exercises on Friday, June 4. Principal Petry congratulated the honored students for making the "Black Knights ride again" and praised them for carrying "their lance" so well.

Cecil Metz, president of the Valley High Boosters Club, in his address explained the purpose of the club is to support all activities of the school, and welcomed all interested persons to join and attend the meetings on the third Wednesday of each month.

Howard VanHorn served as master of ceremonies for the program. David E. Kirk served as chairman of the Sports committee to arrange for the banquet and program.

Coach John C. Meyers introduced each Senior player and his teams to the audience and expressed their appreciation to the Valley Boosters Club for the support shown at the athletic contests, and the jackets awarded to the championship soccer team, as well as the All-Sports banquet held in their honor.

Coach Mrs. Pauline S. Hamilton introduced her players according to the number of years each had served on the girls basketball squad, and stated that her team is so glad to "be included in the banquet honors, that the Valley High Boosters Club seemed to be the only Boosters Club of the area who also included the girls team."

William W. Saylor, who coached the junior varsity basketball team, introduced his players as the future teams coming into championship material for Valley High School's 1956 team.

The cheerleaders who had served for the 1953-1954 sports season stood as a group and were recognized with applause by the audience. Their sponsor, Miss Sara A. Giffin, was unable to attend.

Vernon Seibert, assistant coach of the University of Maryland, who was scheduled to be principal speaker, was unable to attend due to unforeseen circumstances according to a letter received Wednesday by the banquet committee.

The Boosters and guests who attended the All-Sports banquet viewed the shrubbery which has added greatly to the attractiveness of the new building. Grass is beginning to grow on the lawn in front of the school as well as on the athletic field to make the new school more attractive than ever.

Mt. Savage High To Hold Junior Prom Tonight

MT. SAVAGE — "Moonlight and Roses" will be the theme of the junior prom which will be held in the lobby of Mt. Savage School tonight from 8:30 until 11:30. Music will be by Tommy Smithen's orchestra.

Sprays of red and pink roses with silver stems arranged against the background will carry out the motif. The display case in the lobby will feature a silver moon and clouds. A garden scene replete with a pond afloat with candle lilies will add charm to the dancing area.

During intermission refreshments will be served. Mrs. Blaine Gainer will preside at the punch bowl. Roses and blue tapers will be used in the center piece arrangement of the refreshment table.

At this time the seniors and juniors and their guests will be entertained with a floor show. John Metzger will sing "I Believe" and "April in Paris". Martha Ann Lewis will tap dance to "By the Light of the Silvery Moon". Rosalie Sue Femi will conclude the program with a vocal solo "Wanted".

The chairmen of the various committees in charge of arrangements are: decorating, Judy Blank; refreshment, Catherine Reagan; orchestra, Margaret Stowell; program, Nancy Lancaster; invitation, Robert Blank. These committees have been under the supervision of Mrs. Melvin Brown, junior class adviser.

Peoples Transit Buys New Bus

Keyser Couple Put On Parole

KEYSER—Oliver Davey and his wife Mary, both of whom were recently arrested for contributing to the delinquency of their minor children, pleaded guilty before Judge Ernest A. See, in chambers on Tuesday, and were fined and placed on probation by the court. The father of the children was fined $25 and costs and his wife's fine was placed at $5. Each was sentenced to one year in jail, the sentence suspended, and the pair paroled for four years.

Davey must refrain from use of liquors and associating with others who become intoxicated. He must also pay for aid in caring for the children, $60 each month. The children are being cared for in a foster home.

Mrs. Davey was ordered to make her home with her mother, Mrs. Florence Moran on C Street, Keyser, during the period of the parole.

New Junior High Building Assured For Martinsburg

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., April 29 (AP)—The Berkeley County Board of Education has approved plans for a new junior high school building in Martinsburg and an addition to Musselman High School.

The 21-classroom Junior High project is expected to cost about $625,000. The work at Musselman High has been estimated at $200,000.

The Musselman addition includes a gymnasium, dressing room and related facilities. The Musselman High basketball team went through the entire regular season of play last season undefeated despite the fact that it had no regular playing facilities.

The C. H. Musselman Foundation, sponsored by the fruit packing company of the same name, gave $50,000 toward the Musselman addition. The rest comes from a county bond issue.

16 Firemen Finish Extension Course

PARSONS—Earl Corcoran, chief of the Parsons Volunteer Fire Department stated that 16 firemen successfully passed their 29 lessons in fire fighting given by West Virginia University Extension Service.

The class was taught by Fire Chief Corcoran. Those passing their tests were Ona Hovatter and James Constable, senior firemen; Dennis Carrico, George Donalds, Donald Goff, Willis Fansler, David Hockman, Don Jolly Robert Murphy, Jerry Newman, Charles Shields, Jerry Wilmoth, Gary Hovatter and Edwin Booth. The class consisted of 20 written lessons, one test and eight outdoor evolutions classes.

Kiwanis Plan Outdoor Session To Honor Circle K Members

KEYSER—Plans were completed at the dinner-meeting of Keyser Kiwanis Club for the first outdoor meeting of the season to be held next Wednesday evening at Ted Kesner's Camp on Patterson Creek. The club plans to make this meeting, regardless of rain, an outstanding one, as it will be the farewell to many of the Circle K Club members, who will be leaving Potomac State College at the end of the college year.

There has been an exceptional close link between the parent club and the Circle K, with both cooperating in a number of activities this year. About half of the Circle K Club membership will finish local school activities and go on to the university, while the other half will return to Potomac State next year for their sophomore class work, and will be the group who will organize the frosh of next year.

The Kiwanians ,following dinner Wednesday evening, heard Paris Smith, as the Kiwanian of the Month, outline his business of monument work, describing the actions of taking native granite and marble and working it until it becomes a thing of enduring beauty. Marble, he said, is not used for such work very much as it does not wear in all kinds of weather as granite does.

S-Sgt. R. S. Shaffer Home From Abroad

PARSONS—Staff Sergeant Robert S. Shaffer is visiting his mother Mrs. Effie Shaffer and his children, Bobby and Effie Mae Shaffer in Parsons for his first visit in 30 months.

Sgt. Shaffer has just completed a 30-month tour of duty with the U. S. Military Advisory group and will spend a month with his family in Parsons before being re-assigned to duty in the States.

He has been in the service for the past 12 years, five years of which has been spent in foreign duty. He had two years foreign duty in the Pacific and European theaters during World War II and 20 months in the present assignment.

Post To Meet

FROSTBURG — Russell Dennison, commander of Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion, has announced that the regular monthly meeting of the post will be held Monday, May 3, at 8 p. m. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Honor Society Inducts Class At Keyser High

KEYSER—The J. C. Sanders Chapter of the National Honor Society of Keyser High School, under direction of Miss Louise Ward, held its sixth formal initiation Tuesday evening in the high school auditorium.

The new senior members are: Nancy Cosner, James Baker, Connie Tribett and Jack Wilson.

Juniors: Helen Caldwell, Donald Judy, Ruby Ray and Jerry Marsh. Judy was eligible and had been accepted a few months ago, but was, at that time unable to participate, being a patient in Potomac Valley Hospital as the result of an accident while playing basketball in the high school gymnasium.

The ceremony this week was opened with music presented by David Shapiro, Frederick Pfeifer and Clarence Sears, members of the school band.

Participating in the initiation were: Thomas Karras, president; Janice Mills, torch bearer; Robert Bishop, scholarship; Shirley Rogers, service; Richard Ball, leadership; Brenda Kiser, character, and Thelma Shirley and Ida Frances Ward, announcers.

During the signing of the scroll by the initiates, Shirley Snyder played "I Would Be True," on the piano.

The curtains and lighting were in charge of Edward Russell, and the stage arrangement was handled by John Miller and Fred Snyder.

The guest speaker for the evening, who was introduced by Parker C. Black, school principal, was Paul C. Rouzer, former county superintendent of Mineral County Schools.

Beall Students Set High Record For Attendance

FROSTBURG — H. Harrison Payne, pupil personnel administrator of Beall High School, announced that 579 attendance certificates have been ordered by the school to be awarded to those students who have missed three days or less during the past school year.

Perfect attendance certificates will be awarded to 275 pupils who have not been absent a day during the year. Students who have missed only one day number 131, and 104 have missed two days and 69 have missed three days.

Payne remarked that this type of attendance was not unusual for Beall and that he gives the credit for such attendance to the hard work of Beall's faculty and to the excellent attitude of Beall's students and patrons.

Elizabeth Bennett Is Salutatorian

PARSONS — Miss Elizabeth Ann Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther H. Bennett of Parsons with an average of 93.93 for four years is salutatorian of Parsons High School graduating class of 1954. Miss Bennett, during her four years at Parsons High School has belonged to the 4-H Club, Parsons High School band, Latin Club and has been accompanist for the Mixed Chorus.

She was elected to the National Honor Society in her Junior year and is now vice-president of that organization. She won the DAR award in American History in her junior year.

Miss Bennett has served as court jester for the Tucker County Queen for two years. She is a piano and violin student of Professor Jose Singer and plays the violin in the Clarksburg Symphony orchestra under his direction. She takes part in assemblies and home talent shows presented in Parsons and is a talented tap and acrobatic dancer. Her parents are also both graduates of Parsons High School.

Frostburg's New Mayor, Council To Take Office

Officials Assume Duties On Monday

FROSTBURG — The newly elected mayor and city council will be inducted into office Monday, May 3.

The new officials are Perry W. Myers, mayor; Arthur Thomas, William Eberly, Paul Haberlein and John Hendley, city commissioners.

It is customary at the first meeting of the newly elected council that appointive officials be named including the city clerk, attorney, treasurer, street superintendent, water superintendent, filtration plant manager, tax collector and caretaker at the Piney Run Dam.

However, the city charter approved by the voters provides that the following appointive officials must be under Civil Service: city clerk, street and water superintendents and filtration plant manager. The other appointive officials will be unclassified employes.

Mayor-elect Perry W. Myers stated that the charter also provides that the Civil Service Commission will conduct examination of applicants for these positions according to the provisions of the new charter, and at a time and place to be announced in local newspapers.

The present holders of the classified offices are city clerk, Alex G. Close; street superintendent, Allen Baker; water superintendent, Peter Kenney, and filtration plant manager, Melvin Lemmert.

Two-Day Fire School Scheduled At Frostburg Saturday, Sunday

Volunteers From Two Counties To Attend

FROSTBURG — A two-day fire school sponsored by the University of Maryland Fire Service Extension will be held here Saturday and Sunday.

The highlight will be the attending firemen participating in the burning of a four-room uninhabitable abandoned shack.

The program calls for registration of volunteer firemen from Allegany and Garrett counties between 8 a. m. and 9 a. m. in the Frostburg Fire Hall.

Demonstration Planned

The session will start in the fire hall with welcome by Woodrow Layman, fire chief of the Frostburg Department; followed by response by W. Earl Lawyer, president of the Allegany-Garrett Volunteer Firemen's Association.

Announcement will be made by Robert C. Byrus, director of Fire Service Extension of the university.

William A. Wilson, Midland, an instructor for the Fire Service Extension in this section, will speak on the firemen's role at airplane crashes.

A ventilation demonstration will be given by W. Thomas Owens, College Park, senior instructor of the Fire Service Extension.

Following lunch the volunteers will go to the Beall High School grounds where practical firemanship demonstrations will be given.

The team is comprised of Byrus, Owens, Curtis C. Larrimore, instructor at the university; Frank Leser and Hillis Baker of College Park; Joseph F. X. Mayhew, Landover Hills, chairman of the training committee of the Maryland State Firemen's Association; Emory Kopf, Earleigh Heights, a member of the state training committee.

To Show Value

They will show the value and operation of these evolutions: Use of pre-connected lines; using a long 2½-inch supply line; relaying water with portable pumps, and getting all water available from a hydrant and demonstration of fog nozzles.

Four group classes will be offered Sunday from 8:30 a. m. to noon and the volunteers may select anyone to attend. They are: Rescue training by Owens and Robert Creaghan, training officer of the state Civil Defense Agency, Pikesville; pump operation, Baker, Leser and Larrimore; officers' conference, Byrus, and basic firemanship, Mayhew and Kopf.

After lunch the volunteers and the instructors will go to the shack, the location of which will be kept secret until the time of the burning.

Use of Water

During the blaze will be demonstrated the drafting of water from a stream, relaying it to a pumper and then to the fire. Fog and straight stream nozzles will be used to attack the burning shack.

The house will be allowed to burn to the ground following the many demonstrations.

A committee comprised of Cromwell Zembower, LaVale, chairman; Joseph Stuckey, Corriganville, and Joseph Wenrich, Cresaptown, from the Allegany-Garrett association worked in cooperation with the Fire Service Extension in arranging the two-day school.

Keyser Rotary Hears Talk On Offset Printing

KEYSER — John Barger, editor and owner of the Mineral Dailey News Tribune, guest speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of Keyser Rotary Club talked to Rotarians on "Developments in Offset Printing." He told the Rotarians that there is still much to be done here in Keyser in offset and silk screen printing, because it is difficult for an infant local plant to carry on, while training employes, saying it requires time and patience.

He said that he and Phillip Jordan, another local man with an artistic mind, entered into this work only a few weeks ago, and while they have five employees now, they can only scratch the surface in the business. He gave a brief history of his Keyprint, Inc., and told of the little snags and obstructions that get in the way, and smilingly said it's a big thing and we like it.

At next week's meeting Edgell Grayson will make a report to the Rotarians of the District Assembly held a few days ago. Harry Reese will have charge of the meeting.

Visitors at the Thursday meeting were: Citizens of Tomorrow, George Wilson and Robert Paskel, Keyser High School, and Rotarians Dr. P. R. Wilson and Tom Whelan.

Two-Day Fire School Scheduled At Frostburg Saturday, Sunday

Volunteers From Two Counties To Attend

FROSTBURG — A two-day fire school sponsored by the University of Maryland Fire Service Extension will be held here Saturday and Sunday.

The highlight will be the attending firemen participating in the burning of a four-room uninhabitable abandoned shack.

The program calls for registration of volunteer firemen from Allegany and Garrett counties between 8 a. m. and 9 a. m. in the Frostburg Fire Hall.

Demonstration Planned

The session will start in the fire hall with welcome by Woodrow Layman, fire chief of the Frostburg Department; followed by response by W. Earl Lawyer, president of the Allegany-Garrett Volunteer Firemen's Association.

Announcement will be made by Robert C. Byrus, director of Fire Service Extension of the university.

William A. Wilson, Midland, an instructor for the Fire Service Extension in this section, will speak on the firemen's role at airplane crashes.

A ventilation demonstration will be given by W. Thomas Owens, College Park, senior instructor of the Fire Service Extension.

Following lunch the volunteers will go to the Beall High School grounds where practical firemanship demonstrations will be given.

The team is comprised of Byrus, Owens, Curtis C. Larrimore, instructor at the university; Frank Leser and Hillis Baker of College Park; Joseph F. X. Mayhew, Landover Hills, chairman of the training committee of the Maryland State Firemen's Association; Emory Kopf, Earleigh Heights, a member of the state training committee.

To Show Value

They will show the value and operation of these evolutions: Use of pre-connected lines; using a long 2½-inch supply line; relaying water with portable pumps, and getting all water available from a hydrant and demonstration of fog nozzles.

Four group classes will be offered Sunday from 8:30 a. m. to noon and the volunteers may select anyone to attend. They are: Rescue training by Owens and Robert Creaghan, training officer of the state Civil Defense Agency, Pikesville; pump operation, Baker, Leser and Larrimore; officers' conference, Byrus, and basic firemanship, Mayhew and Kopf.

After lunch the volunteers and the instructors will go to the shack, the location of which will be kept secret until the time of the burning.

Use of Water

During the blaze will be demonstrated the drafting of water from a stream, relaying it to a pumper and then to the fire. Fog and straight stream nozzles will be used to attack the burning shack.

The house will be allowed to burn to the ground following the many demonstrations.

A committee comprised of Cromwell Zembower, LaVale, chairman; Joseph Stuckey, Corriganville, and Joseph Wenrich, Cresaptown, from the Allegany-Garrett association worked in cooperation with the Fire Service Extension in arranging the two-day school.

Keyser Rotary Hears Talk On Offset Printing

KEYSER — John Barger, editor and owner of the Mineral Dailey News Tribune, guest speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of Keyser Rotary Club talked to Rotarians on "Developments in Offset Printing." He told the Rotarians that there is still much to be done here in Keyser in offset and silk screen printing, because it is difficult for an infant local plant to carry on, while training employes, saying it requires time and patience.

He said that he and Phillip Jordan, another local man with an artistic mind, entered into this work only a few weeks ago, and while they have five employees now, they can only scratch the surface in the business. He gave a brief history of his Keyprint, Inc., and told of the little snags and obstructions that get in the way, and smilingly said it's a big thing and we like it.

At next week's meeting Edgell Grayson will make a report to the Rotarians of the District Assembly held a few days ago. Harry Reese will have charge of the meeting.

Visitors at the Thursday meeting were: Citizens of Tomorrow, George Wilson and Robert Paskel, Keyser High School, and Rotarians Dr. P. R. Wilson and Tom Whelan.

John H. Carter Garrett Agent Is Honored

Completes 25 Years In Farm Service

OAKLAND — A surprise dinner honoring John H. Carter of Mountain Lake Park for his 25 years of service as Garrett County farm agent was attended by about 125 friends and neighbors last night at the William James Hotel here.

A native of Virginia, Carter had been the Garrett County agent ever since February 16, 1929. Before assuming his duties as county agent, he was a vocational agriculture teacher at the old Friendsville High School for three years.

Toastmaster at the dinner last night was Merle Garletts, an industrial arts teacher at Northern Garrett County High School. He was one of the 4-H Club boys in the county when Carter began his county agent duties. Garletts is now a 4-H Club leader.

Principal speaker was L. S. Hartley of Baltimore, manager of agricultural development for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

Special remarks also were heard from John W. Magruder, state county agent leader; Ralph F. McHenry, Allegany County agent; and Marvin Callis of Accident, president of the Garrett County Farm Bureau.

Foster Yost, chairman of the Garrett County Soil Conservation Board of Supervisors, presented Carter a sealskin wallet with the agent's age and years of service engraved upon it. The surprise dinner was sponsored by the soil supervisors.

Wiley Ford Pupils Acknowledge Thrill Of Fire Station Visit

The first grade pupils of Wiley Ford School got the thrill of a lifetime recently when they visited Central Fire Station and acknowledged the fact in a well-composed letter to the firefighters.

Legibly printed on a sheet of lined paper so familiar to first grade pupils, the letter read:

"Dear Mr. Fireman,

Thank you for showing us the fire house.

We enjoyed watching you slide down the pole. We liked the big truck. With Love, Wiley Ford First Grade."

Lonaconing VFW Cops Award For Americanism

Gold Cup Goes To Alvin C. Neat Post

First prize in the State of Maryland VFW Americanism contest was won by the Alvin C. Neat Post No. 5280, Veterans of Foreign Wars. The Lonaconing VFW post was notified by telephone on Tuesday of the award.

This is the first time such an award rating of first prize has been received by the Alvin C. Neat Post. A William Randolph Hearst Gold Cup will be given to the Lonaconing post to keep until another post wins it from them.

Last year, the Gold Cup award was won by the Elkton Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The Americanism program carried out by the Alvin C. Neat Post No. 5280 during the past year merited the first prize rating. The VFW post placed American flags in each classroom of the Central Elementary school last September when it became the consolidation for all elementary pupils of the area.

An American flag was presented to the Town of Lonaconing to be flown above the town hall; a Loyalty Day program was held last May 1; a United States flag was presented to the Lonaconing Post Office at its opening at the Main street building.

Flags were also placed on the deceased veterans graves on Memorial Day by the post.

The Gold Cup will be presented at the next Department of Maryland Council of Administration meeting Sunday, May 16, in the War Memorial building, Baltimore.

Alvin C. Neat Post also rated fourth prize in the State of Maryland for their Community Service program, making them eligible for National rating.

ACTOR—Joseph Hadley plays the important role of "Officer O'Hara" in "Arsenic and Old Lace", three-act comedy now in rehearsal at Valley High School, Lonaconing. The Senior Class play will be staged May 12 and 13.

VHS To Hold Courtesy Week

LONACONING — "Courtesy Week" will be observed at Valley High School the first week of May, beginning on Monday at the school.

Ribbons of the school colors, black and white, will be worn by the students of Junior and Senior High School, and will be taken from a pupil for any discourteous act.

At the close of the Courtesy Week, the classroom having the most ribbons remaining on the students lapels, indicating the least misdemeanors will be recognized as the winners and will be guests at a paid-assembly at the school.

The Student Council is sponsoring the "Courtesy Week" with committees appointed. Awards committee will be Elsie Gattens, Ted Kirkwood, Bobby Montgomery, Sandra McKenzie, Kenny Donald, Ronnie Kyle and Shirley Likens.

Ribbon committee will be Irene Heiland, Peggy Stakem, Virginia Unucheck, Sally Broadwater, Ruth Fisher and Marlene Rennie. Publicity committee will be Shirley Sutherland, Ruth Deniker, Mackey Phillips, Nancy Colmer, Kenneth Metz and Richard Waddell.

Wiley Ford Pupils Acknowledge Thrill Of Fire Station Visit

The first grade pupils of Wiley Ford School got the thrill of a lifetime recently when they visited Central Fire Station and acknowledged the fact in a well-composed letter to the firefighters.

Legibly printed on a sheet of lined paper so familiar to first grade pupils, the letter read:

"Dear Mr. Fireman,

Thank you for showing us the fire house.

We enjoyed watching you slide down the pole. We liked the big truck. With Love, Wiley Ford First Grade."

Lonaconing VFW Cops Award For Americanism

Gold Cup Goes To Alvin C. Neat Post

First prize in the State of Maryland VFW Americanism contest was won by the Alvin C. Neat Post No. 5280, Veterans of Foreign Wars. The Lonaconing VFW post was notified by telephone on Tuesday of the award.

This is the first time such an award rating of first prize has been received by the Alvin C. Neat Post. A William Randolph Hearst Gold Cup will be given to the Lonaconing post to keep until another post wins it from them.

Last year, the Gold Cup award was won by the Elkton Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The Americanism program carried out by the Alvin C. Neat Post No. 5280 during the past year merited the first prize rating. The VFW post placed American flags in each classroom of the Central Elementary school last September when it became the consolidation for all elementary pupils of the area.

An American flag was presented to the Town of Lonaconing to be flown above the town hall; a Loyalty Day program was held last May 1; a United States flag was presented to the Lonaconing Post Office at its opening at the Main street building.

Flags were also placed on the deceased veterans graves on Memorial Day by the post.

The Gold Cup will be presented at the next Department of Maryland Council of Administration meeting Sunday, May 16, in the War Memorial building, Baltimore.

Alvin C. Neat Post also rated fourth prize in the State of Maryland for their Community Service program, making them eligible for National rating.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR ALLEGANY COUNTY, MARYLAND

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to obtain a divorce by the Complainant a vincuolo matrimonii from the Respondent. The Bill recites that the parties were married on the 25th day of June, 1946, by a religious ceremony at Cumberland, Maryland; that the Complainant is domiciled in Allegany County, Maryland; and that the parties have been separated since June, 1952, and that their said separation has continued to the present time, for more than eighteen months, and without interruption. The last known address of the Respondent is c/o Cora M. Long, 126 Grand Avenue, Cumberland, Maryland.

It is therefore, this 22nd day of April, 1954, ORDERED by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, that the Complainant, William E. Carder, shall cause a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks, before the 24th day of May, 1954, giving notice to the absent Respondent, Lydia Irene Carder, of the object and substance of the Bill of Complaint filed against her and warning her to be and appear before this Court in person or by Solicitor, on or before the 10th day of June, 1954, to show cause, if any she may have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Victors Gather 21 Safeties In Keyser Contest

Wallace's Sluggers Hand Catamounts 7th Setback Of Season

KEYSER, April 29 — Potomac State College received its worst trouncing in 12 outings this season when the West Virginia University Freshmen exploded for 21 hits, including four triples and a pair of two-baggers to hand the Catamounts a 15-5 defeat today at Stayman Field.

The victory was the second in as many days for Coach Bobby Wallace's Little Mountaineers who opened with a 6-5 decision over Kiski Prep School on Wednesday.

West Virginia pounded Dick Lyons for seven hits in 3⅔ innings and jumped on Ed Wimer, reliefer, for six safeties in 1⅓ frames. Junior Dove gave up two in the last four frames.

Shortstop Schaffer was the Morgantown team's "big gun" with four hits in six trips while Giscomo, Higgins and Carter collected three blows each.

Potomac State's output of hits was a new low, only three being garnered from the offerings of Bonocek, Raines and Cosper, who got credit for the win.

The loss was the seventh for the Catamounts who have won five contests. Potomac is scheduled to play Shepherd College at Shepherdstown Saturday. Box:

Baltimore's Bob Turley Defeats Washington, 2-1

McDermott Gives Up Both Runs In Second

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—Bob Turley survived late inning threats to defeat the Washington Senators, 2-1, on a five-hitter tonight as Baltimore ended a three-game losing streak. Roy Sievers accounted for the lone run off Turley, who posted his second win, with a fourth inning home run.

The Orioles, held to five hits by Maury McDermott, scored both their runs in the second inning after Sam Mele walked and was forced by Don Lenhardt. Vern Stephens flied out, but Les Moss' liner struck third base and bounded into left field for a double, Lenhardt halting at third.

Lenhardt scored on a wild pitch as Moss moved to third and Bill Hunter's single, which third baseman Eddie Yost knocked down with a dive, scored Moss.

Allie Reynolds Stars In Relief As Yankees Win

Snaps White Sox Win String, 5-4

BY JACK HAND

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP)—Allie Reynolds pitched three hitless innings on relief today after pinch singles by Enos Slaughter and Eddie Robinson gave the New York Yankees a 5-4 edge to end Chicago's four-game winning streak.

The 36-year-old "Chief," nailing down Eddie Lopat's third straight triumph, struck out four men in his brilliant effort. The only man to reach base off Allie was Nellie Fox, who walked to lead off the eighth.

Lopat, who left for pinch-hitter Slaughter with men on first and third and two out in the sixth, picked up his 150th major league victory and his 100th as a Yank since he was traded by Chicago in 1948.

The Yanks trailed 4-3 going into the sixth with Billy Pierce still in control of the game. He walked Gil McDougald with one out. As Gene Woodling fanned, McDougald stole second and went to third on Sherm Lollar's bad peg for an error.

After Phil Rizzuto walked, Manager Casey Stengel called for Slaughter, a lefty batter, to hit for Lopat against the southpaw Pierce. Slaughter slammed a single to left center, sending McDougald in to tie the score. Robinson, hitting for Jerry Coleman, drove a single past Ferris Fain into right to send in Rizzuto with the winning run.

The Yanks got to Pierce for a run in each of the first three innings, including Yogi Berra's second homer of the year in the third. The White Sox nicked Lopat for two runs on four singles by Fain, Cass Michaels, Johnny Groth and Bill Wilson in the second. Groth's second homer of the season came with Michaels on base in the fourth for the 4-3 lead the sox took into the sixth.

Sentinels Vie In Maryland's Meet Saturday

Hahn's Squad Of 20 Will Take Off Today

Coach William P. Hahn and his squad of twenty Fort Hill High School track and field athletes take off for College Park this afternoon to compete in the 33rd annual Maryland Field Day program scheduled at the University of Maryland's Byrd Stadium on Saturday.

The Fort Hill group will be among approximately 750 contestants, representing 45 of the state and area high schools, in the three-division track and field meet.

Fort Hill will be competing for the county school division title for the seventh time in eight years. The defending champion is Northwestern High School which edged Montgomery Blair of Silver Spring last year by the score of 28½ to 27½ points. Fort Hill finished fourth in 1953.

The Sentinels won the meet in 1947, 1951 and 1952, finished third in 1948 and second in 1950. The local school did not compete at College Park in 1949.

Field events begin at noon and running contests at 1 o'clock. The eleven events are: 100 and 220 dashes, 440, 880 and mile runs, 880 and mile relays, high jump, broad jump, shot put and discus.

It will be the third meet of the season for the Sentinels who finished second in the Handley High Invitational at Winchester and defeated Beall in a dual affair.

Amvets Lose Third Place

Fisher & Robinette Shufflers Win, 3-0

Fisher & Robinette nosed out the Cumberland Amvets for third place in the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League by sweeping three games from Mike Miller's of Frostburg last night while the Amvets were being blanked by the Goodfellowship Club, 3-0 as the regular schedule was concluded in the 16-team circuit.

Stadium Inn finished six games on top by winning over Hi Dee Club while the second place Cumberland K. of C. was winning from the Cumberland V.F.W., 2 to 1.

Here's the records of the four top teams that will figure in the playoffs: Stadium Inn 71-19, Cumberland K-C 65-25, Fisher and Robinette 58-32 and Cumberland Amvets 56-34.

Other results last night were: Frostburg Legion 2, Mt. Savage V.F.W. 1; Frostburg K. of C. 2, Cas Taylor's 1.

High scorers were: Dibert, G.F.C., 28; Sell, Amvets 25; C. Neder, Mt. Savage 23; Folk, Frostburg Legion 26; Paul Jackson, Frostburg K. of C. 21; Fisher, Cas Taylor's 22; Shuey, Stadium Inn, 39; M. Miller, Hi Dee Club, 23; Challinor, Cumberland K. of C. 36; Laurent, Cumberland V. F. W. 21; Twigg, Fisher & Robinette, 29; Coakley, Mike Miller's, 15.

A meeting of the league will be held tonight at 8:30 o'clock at the Woodmen of the World Home.

Baltimore Fighter Makes AAU Finals

BOSTON, April 29 (AP)—Warrenell Lester of Baltimore battled his way into the 178-pound class finals of the National A.A.U. boxing championships for the second straight year tonight with a solid right hand attack.

Lester outpointed Al Shack of Buffalo, N. Y., in one of 14 semi-final bouts which preceded the 10 title fights at Boston Garden.

Lester, who lost to Frank Perry of Wilberforce, Ohio, a year ago, beat Shack with long righthanded belts to the head and body in the final two rounds of their three rounder.

Eugene Tuff of Columbus, Ohio, became Lester's 178-pound title foe by outclassing Buddy Turman of Dallas for a unanimous decision.

Beall Tests Fort Hill In Contest Here

Campers Visit Bruce, Mt. Savage At Valley

Fort Hill High School's high-flying Sentinels will put a five-game winning streak on the line today when they tangle with Beall High School in a Bi-State Conference baseball game at Fort Hill Field at 4 p. m.

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's outfit has beaten Hyndman, LaSalle, Bruce, Mt. Savage and Valley and is favored over the Mountaineers who have dropped four in a row to Mt. Savage, Allegany, Hyndman and Bruce after winning the season opener from Flintstone.

Jesse Markley (2-0) is expected to get the pitching assignment for the Sentinels while Ronnie Rice or "Hank" Lloyd will serve up the benders for the Finzelmen.

Allegany High (3-1) travels to Westernport today to tackle Bruce (3-2), Valley High (2-2) plays host to Mt. Savage (2-2) at the Barton Ball Park and Flintstone, winless in five starts, faces Hyndman High (1-4) on the Pennsylvanians' field.

In a pair of Potomac Valley contests, West Virginia School for the Deaf plays at Franklin and Jesse Riggleman's Petersburg High Vikings oppose Keyser High School at Petersburg.

Cresaptown Jr. High Trackmen Conquer Bruce

Cop 11 Of 13 Firsts, Roll Up 131 Points

Coach Glenn (Speed) Hanna's Cresaptown Junior High School trackmen won 11 of 13 first places and tied for another in defeating Bruce Junior High School of Westernport in a dual meet yesterday by the score of 131 to 39 points.

Bruce's lone win was scored by Miller who heaved the shot 45 feet, 6 inches.

Gary McKenzie led the scorers in the 95 pound class with 12½ points, Bill Moreland headed the 115-pound class with 10 and Donald Ware topped the junior unlimited with 14½ tallies.

Reed with 6¾ points and Bill Wiltison with 5½ were Bruce's high scorers.

Cresaptown plays host to Allegany Junior High's thinclads Friday, May 7. The summary:

Jackets Ring Up 11 Bingles And Even Up Series With Pioneers

ROMNEY, April 29 — Coach Johnny Paugh's Moorefield High School Yellow Jackets squared accounts with Romney High School today by beating the Pioneers on their home field to the tune of 6-2 in a Potomac Valley Conference game.

Moorefield broke a 1-1 tie with a five-run rally in the sixth inning that gave Bobby Wilson the decision over Ray Haines. Haines won over Wilson by the score of 10-2 on April 20 at Moorefield.

The Jackets racked up 11 hits in today's game, six of the blows being shared by Johnny Branson, Jimmy Barr and Richard Hines, who batted in two of the five runs in the rousing sixth.

Wilson limited the Pioneers to five hits, two of which were credited to Haines, and struck out eight.

Moorefield's P. V. C. record is now 4-2. Romney has won four and lost three. Box:

Tribe Beats Red Sox, 6-3

Mike Garcia Scores Over Willard Nixon

BOSTON, April 29 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians used Will Nixon's wildness and a pair of singles for three first inning runs today and maintained that three run edge in defeating the Boston Red Sox 6-3. The Indians' Dave Philley clouted a long homer into the screen in left center off reliefer Bill Werle in the fifth inning. The Sox were limited to six hits by Mike Garcia.

Al Rosen, again playing first base with rookie Rudy Regalado holding down third, drove home three of the winners' runs in this first Cleveland-Boston meeting of the season.

Nixon walked the first two batters and then was belted for a run-scoring single by Wally Westlake. Rosen then drilled a two-run single to right but was out trying to stretch the hit.

Garcia had a shutout going until the fifth when he suffered a lapse of control and walked Jimmy Piersall and Milt Bolling before Billy Goodman, with two out, tripled to right center for two runs.

KEYSER, April 29 — Only one team remained undefeated in the Potomac Valley Conference today when Keyser High School's Golden Tornado handed Elk Garden High's Elks their first setback in four games by the score of 10-6.

Circleville High's Indians with a 3-0 record moved to the top of the conference standings as a result of Elk Garden's defeat.

Coach Fred "Tack" Clark's aggregation scored in every inning and piled up a 9-0 lead before the Elks made two runs in the sixth. The visitors then rallied for four in the final frame.

Keyser knocked Dick Turner, Elk Garden's ace, out of the box during the 4th inning bombardment. Brady and Murphy finished for the visitors. Roland Raines, first of three Keyser pitchers, who worked the first four innings, got credit for the win, the second for the locals in three starts in the P.V.C.

The winners collected 10 hits, including four two-baggers and Gene Kuykendall paced the attack with two safeties. Tommy Milavec accounted for two of Elk Garden's seven blows. Box:

Victors Gather 21 Safeties In Keyser Contest

Wallace's Sluggers Hand Catamounts 7th Setback Of Season

KEYSER, April 29 — Potomac State College received its worst trouncing in 12 outings this season when the West Virginia University Freshmen exploded for 21 hits, including four triples and a pair of two-baggers to hand the Catamounts a 15-5 defeat today at Stayman Field.

The victory was the second in as many days for Coach Bobby Wallace's Little Mountaineers who opened with a 6-5 decision over Kiski Prep School on Wednesday.

West Virginia pounded Dick Lyons for seven hits in 3⅔ innings and jumped on Ed Wimer, reliefer, for six safeties in 1⅓ frames. Junior Dove gave up two in the last four frames.

Shortstop Schaffer was the Morgantown team's "big gun" with four hits in six trips while Giscomo, Higgins and Carter collected three blows each.

Potomac State's output of hits was a new low, only three being garnered from the offerings of Bonocek, Raines and Cosper, who got credit for the win.

The loss was the seventh for the Catamounts who have won five contests. Potomac is scheduled to play Shepherd College at Shepherdstown Saturday. Box:

Baltimore's Bob Turley Defeats Washington, 2-1

McDermott Gives Up Both Runs In Second

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—Bob Turley survived late inning threats to defeat the Washington Senators, 2-1, on a five-hitter tonight as Baltimore ended a three-game losing streak. Roy Sievers accounted for the lone run off Turley, who posted his second win, with a fourth inning home run.

The Orioles, held to five hits by Maury McDermott, scored both their runs in the second inning after Sam Mele walked and was forced by Don Lenhardt. Vern Stephens flied out, but Les Moss' liner struck third base and bounded into left field for a double, Lenhardt halting at third.

Lenhardt scored on a wild pitch as Moss moved to third and Bill Hunter's single, which third baseman Eddie Yost knocked down with a dive, scored Moss.

Allie Reynolds Stars In Relief As Yankees Win

BY JACK HAND

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP)—Allie Reynolds pitched three hitless innings on relief today after pinch singles by Enos Slaughter and Eddie Robinson gave the New York Yankees a 5-4 edge to end Chicago's four-game winning streak.

The 36-year-old "Chief," nailing down Eddie Lopat's third straight triumph, struck out four men in his brilliant effort. The only man to reach base off Allie was Nellie Fox, who walked to lead off the eighth.

Lopat, who left for pinch-hitter Slaughter with men on first and third and two out in the sixth, picked up his 150th major league victory and his 100th as a Yank since he was traded by Chicago in 1948.

The Yanks trailed 4-3 going into the sixth with Billy Pierce still in control of the game. He walked Gil McDougald with one out. As Gene Woodling fanned, McDougald stole second and went to third on Sherm Lollar's bad peg for an error.

After Phil Rizzuto walked, Manager Casey Stengel called for Slaughter, a lefty batter, to hit for Lopat against the southpaw Pierce. Slaughter slammed a single to left center, sending McDougald in to tie the score. Robinson, hitting for Jerry Coleman, drove a single past Ferris Fain into right to send in Rizzuto with the winning run.

The Yanks got to Pierce for a run in each of the first three innings, including Yogi Berra's second homer of the year in the third. The White Sox nicked Lopat for two runs on four singles by Fain, Cass Michaels, Johnny Groth and Bill Wilson in the second. Groth's second homer of the season came with Michaels on base in the fourth for the 4-3 lead the sox took into the sixth.

Sentinels Vie In Maryland's Meet Saturday

Hahn's Squad Of 20 Will Take Off Today

Coach William P. Hahn and his squad of twenty Fort Hill High School track and field athletes take off for College Park this afternoon to compete in the 33rd annual Maryland Field Day program scheduled at the University of Maryland's Byrd Stadium on Saturday.

The Fort Hill group will be among approximately 750 contestants, representing 45 of the state and area high schools, in the three-division track and field meet.

Fort Hill will be competing for the county school division title for the seventh time in eight years. The defending champion is Northwestern High School which edged Montgomery Blair of Silver Spring last year by the score of 28½ to 27½ points. Fort Hill finished fourth in 1953.

The Sentinels won the meet in 1947, 1951 and 1952, finished third in 1948 and second in 1950. The local school did not compete at College Park in 1949.

Field events begin at noon and running contests at 1 o'clock. The eleven events are: 100 and 220 dashes, 440, 880 and mile runs, 880 and mile relays, high jump, broad jump, shot put and discus.

It will be the third meet of the season for the Sentinels who finished second in the Handley High Invitational at Winchester and defeated Beall in a dual affair.

Amvets Lose Third Place

Fisher & Robinette Shufflers Win, 3-0

Fisher & Robinette nosed out the Cumberland Amvets for third place in the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League by sweeping three games from Mike Miller's of Frostburg last night while the Amvets were being blanked by the Goodfellowship Club, 3-0 as the regular schedule was concluded in the 16-team circuit.

Stadium Inn finished six games on top by winning over Hi Dee Club while the second place Cumberland K. of C. was winning from the Cumberland V.F.W., 2 to 1.

Here's the records of the four top teams that will figure in the playoffs: Stadium Inn 71-19, Cumberland K-C 65-25, Fisher and Robinette 58-32 and Cumberland Amvets 56-34.

Other results last night were: Frostburg Legion 2, Mt. Savage V.F.W. 1; Frostburg K. of C. 2, Cas Taylor's 1.

High scorers were: Dibert, G.F.C., 28; Sell, Amvets 25; C. Neder, Mt. Savage 23; Folk, Frostburg Legion 26; Paul Jackson, Frostburg K. of C. 21; Fisher, Cas Taylor's 22; Shuey, Stadium Inn, 39; M. Miller, Hi Dee Club, 23; Challinor, Cumberland K. of C. 36; Laurent, Cumberland V. F. W. 21; Twigg, Fisher & Robinette, 29; Coakley, Mike Miller's, 15.

A meeting of the league will be held tonight at 8:30 o'clock at the Woodmen of the World Home.

Baltimore Fighter Makes AAU Finals

BOSTON, April 29 (AP)—Warrenell Lester of Baltimore battled his way into the 178-pound class finals of the National A.A.U. boxing championships for the second straight year tonight with a solid right hand attack.

Lester outpointed Al Shack of Buffalo, N. Y., in one of 14 semi-final bouts which preceded the 10 title fights at Boston Garden.

Lester, who lost to Frank Perry of Wilberforce, Ohio, a year ago, beat Shack with long righthanded belts to the head and body in the final two rounds of their three rounder.

Eugene Tuff of Columbus, Ohio, became Lester's 178-pound title foe by outclassing Buddy Turman of Dallas for a unanimous decision.

Campers Visit Bruce, Mt. Savage At Valley

Fort Hill High School's high-flying Sentinels will put a five-game winning streak on the line today when they tangle with Beall High School in a Bi-State Conference baseball game at Fort Hill Field at 4 p. m.

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's outfit has beaten Hyndman, LaSalle, Bruce, Mt. Savage and Valley and is favored over the Mountaineers who have dropped four in a row to Mt. Savage, Allegany, Hyndman and Bruce after winning the season opener from Flintstone.

Jesse Markley (2-0) is expected to get the pitching assignment for the Sentinels while Ronnie Rice or "Hank" Lloyd will serve up the benders for the Finzelmen.

Allegany High (3-1) travels to Westernport today to tackle Bruce (3-2), Valley High (2-2) plays host to Mt. Savage (2-2) at the Barton Ball Park and Flintstone, winless in five starts, faces Hyndman High (1-4) on the Pennsylvanians' field.

In a pair of Potomac Valley contests, West Virginia School for the Deaf plays at Franklin and Jesse Riggleman's Petersburg High Vikings oppose Keyser High School at Petersburg.

Cresaptown Jr. High Trackmen Conquer Bruce

Cop 11 Of 13 Firsts, Roll Up 131 Points

Coach Glenn (Speed) Hanna's Cresaptown Junior High School trackmen won 11 of 13 first places and tied for another in defeating Bruce Junior High School of Westernport in a dual meet yesterday by the score of 131 to 39 points.

Bruce's lone win was scored by Miller who heaved the shot 45 feet, 6 inches.

Gary McKenzie led the scorers in the 95 pound class with 12½ points, Bill Moreland headed the 115-pound class with 10 and Donald Ware topped the junior unlimited with 14½ tallies.

Reed with 6¾ points and Bill Wiltison with 5½ were Bruce's high scorers.

Jackets Ring Up 11 Bingles And Even Up Series With Pioneers

ROMNEY, April 29 — Coach Johnny Paugh's Moorefield High School Yellow Jackets squared accounts with Romney High School today by beating the Pioneers on their home field to the tune of 6-2 in a Potomac Valley Conference game.

Moorefield broke a 1-1 tie with a five-run rally in the sixth inning that gave Bobby Wilson the decision over Ray Haines. Haines won over Wilson by the score of 10-2 on April 20 at Moorefield.

The Jackets racked up 11 hits in today's game, six of the blows being shared by Johnny Branson, Jimmy Barr and Richard Hines, who batted in two of the five runs in the rousing sixth.

Wilson limited the Pioneers to five hits, two of which were credited to Haines, and struck out eight.

Moorefield's P. V. C. record is now 4-2. Romney has won four and lost three. Box:

Tribe Beats Red Sox, 6-3

Mike Garcia Scores Over Willard Nixon

BOSTON, April 29 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians used Will Nixon's wildness and a pair of singles for three first inning runs today and maintained that three run edge in defeating the Boston Red Sox 6-3. The Indians' Dave Philley clouted a long homer into the screen in left center off reliefer Bill Werle in the fifth inning. The Sox were limited to six hits by Mike Garcia.

Al Rosen, again playing first base with rookie Rudy Regalado holding down third, drove home three of the winners' runs in this first Cleveland-Boston meeting of the season.

Nixon walked the first two batters and then was belted for a run-scoring single by Wally Westlake. Rosen then drilled a two-run single to right but was out trying to stretch the hit.

Garcia had a shutout going until the fifth when he suffered a lapse of control and walked Jimmy Piersall and Milt Bolling before Billy Goodman, with two out, tripled to right center for two runs.

KEYSER, April 29 — Only one team remained undefeated in the Potomac Valley Conference today when Keyser High School's Golden Tornado handed Elk Garden High's Elks their first setback in four games by the score of 10-6.

Circleville High's Indians with a 3-0 record moved to the top of the conference standings as a result of Elk Garden's defeat.

Coach Fred "Tack" Clark's aggregation scored in every inning and piled up a 9-0 lead before the Elks made two runs in the sixth. The visitors then rallied for four in the final frame.

Keyser knocked Dick Turner, Elk Garden's ace, out of the box during the 4th inning bombardment. Brady and Murphy finished for the visitors. Roland Raines, first of three Keyser pitchers, who worked the first four innings, got credit for the win, the second for the locals in three starts in the P.V.C.

The winners collected 10 hits, including four two-baggers and Gene Kuykendall paced the attack with two safeties. Tommy Milavec accounted for two of Elk Garden's seven blows. Box:

Correlation-Goyamo Duel Expected To Highlight Derby

Colts Finished 1-2 In Florida Derby In March

Shoemaker Opposes Arcaro; From 17 To 20 To Face Starter

By JOHN CHANDLER

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 29 (AP)—Although forecasts on the outcome of the 80th Kentucky Derby flowed as freely as mint jelps today, one opinion expressed most frequently was that America's greatest horse race would be a duel between correlation and Goyamo.

With Saturday's mile and one quarter dash for about $100,000 drawing nearer, no one could say how many 3-year-olds will face the starter. Guesses ranged from 17 to 20.

20 Started In 1951

There haven't been so many questions about a Derby since Count Turf rambled home ahead of 19 others in 1951 at 15 to 1.

However, Robert S. Lytle's Correlation will be ridden by Willie Shoemaker and the Woodvale Farm's Goyamo has the great Eddie Arcaro to do the saddle honors.

In a previous meeting this year between the two colts, Correlation and Shoemaker caught Goyamo and Arcaro in the stretch to win the Florida Derby March 20. Then the horses took different paths to Kentucky.

Derby post time is 4:30 p.m. (EST) and it may not be known until the last minute how many will start, depending upon weather, track and other conditions. The race will be carried by CBS television, 4-4:45 p.m., and CBS radio, 4:15-4:45 p.m.

Particular attention is being paid to the weatherman, for after many days of 80-degree-plus heat, showers and cooler weather have come. Showers and cooler are forecast for tomorrow and there is a possibility of showers Saturday. The last time the track was off for a Derby was 1948 when Citation splashed through slop to victory.

Correlation 5-2 Choice

Correlation still rules the 5-2 favorite. Goyamo is rated at 7-2.

The usual crowd of some 100,000 also will give plenty of support to Hasty Road, listed at 4-1 along with stablemate Sea O Erin. Hasty Road, from the Hasty House Farm of Allie Reuben, Toledo, O., won the Derby Trial Tuesday, breaking the track record with a sparkling 1:35 for the mile.

Bowie Plans Benefit Race For Caffarella

BOWIE, Md., April 29 (AP)—An extra race will be run next Thursday with all proceeds going to Mike Caffarella, 36-year-old jockey injured severely in a spill at Bowie two weeks ago.

Caffarella, who lives in Schenectady, N. Y., is in Prince Georges Hospital with two fractured vertebrae. He may not be able to walk again.

The Maryland Racing Commission today approved a ninth race on next Thursday's card for his benefit. The track will turn over its 5½ per cent tax on the betting and the jockeys in the race will donate their fees.

The jockeys and horsemen previously contributed more than $5,000 to Caffarella and Bowie donated $1,000.

"Little Mo" Wins

WIESBADEN, Germany, April 29 (AP) — United States champion Maureen (Little Mo) Connolly eliminated Germany's Inge Buderus, 6-1, 6-0 today in the first round of the Wiesbaden International Tennis Tournament.

New Golf Class Opens Saturday

The second golf instruction class under the sponsorship of the City Recreation Department will begin Saturday at the Fort Cumberland Club golf course, Robert E. Pence, city recreation director said.

The class will be instructed by Buddy Rice, club pro, Pence stated, adding preparations are under way to begin a third class shortly.

Soap Box Derby Set For July 10

Fifteen boys have signed thus far to drive in Cumberland's seventh annual Soap Box Derby to be held Saturday, July 10 under the sponsorship of the Times-News and Eiler Chevrolet, Inc.

Site for the classic whose winner goes to Akron in August to compete in the All-American Derby has not been decided. The race has been held on Pennsylvania Avenue for the past three years.

Ray Miller, 15, Oldtown, who participated in the Hagerstown race for three years, and Kenneth Norris, 13, of 24 Pennsylvania Avenue, are the latest entries.

The sponsors are aiming for a list of 50 competitors. All boys in the tri-state area between the ages of 11 and 15 are eligible.

Patton Advances To Semi-Finals In North-South

Beats Curtis Person, Dick Chapman Loses

By KEN ALYTA

PINEHURST, N. C., April 29 (AP)—Billy Joe Patton, once again the master scrambler, shot two-under-par golf today, trounced Curtis Person of Memphis, Tenn., 6 and 5, and led the way into semifinals in the North and South Amateur Golf Tournament.

Tomorrow the 32-year-old Morganton, N. C., lumberman who finished third in the Masters Tournament at Augusta, Ga., will meet William Hyndman of Abington, Pa. Hyndman gained the semi-finals for the second successive year by routing William Loock of Scarsdale, N. Y., 6 and 5, without the loss of a hole. He was one over par.

Dick Chapman of Pinehurst, unsuccessfully seeking the title for the last 25 years, was thwarted again today as Alex Welsh, 34, Rockford, Ill., lawyer, took a grimly contested 1-up decision. His opponent over 18 holes tomorrow will be Frank Meacham, veteran from Roanoke Rapids, N. C., who eliminated 19-year-old Duke University freshman Clinton White Toms, 4 and 2.

Patton was in trouble on seven of the 13 holes against Person, 43-year-old automobile dealer who earlier had eliminated Frank Stranahan and won two overtime matches.

Patton drove almost out of bounds on the first hole. He played a wood second shot from deep in the rough alongside a fence and banked the ball well out into the fairway. A fine pitch left him only a five-foot putt for a par four and the hole. Person had been trapped on his second and had trouble getting out of the sand.

Billy Joe won the 11th and 13th with birdie threes, needing putts of less than four-feet on both, to close out Person.

Hyndman was one over par and on top of Loock from the start, turning 6-up. Each had a bogey on the long tenth and they halved the next three to par 4s to close it out. Hyndman hit fine tee shots and showed improved putting in closing out Loock, a four handicap player.

Rosi And Zulueta To Fight Tonight

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP)—Unranked Paolo Rosi, winner of all six of his American fights, was an 8-5 favorite today to whip Cuba's Orlando Zulueta, the No. 2 lightweight contender, in a television ten rounder at St. Nicholas Arena tomorrow night.

The odds are surprising even though the slender, 26-year-old invader has stopped five of his opponents here and has scored 22 kayos in 26 pro scraps. His record is 23-1-2.

The 25-year-old Cuban's record is 48-19-9. In his two bouts this year he outpointed Denis Pat Brady and Al Duarte.

The 9 p.m. EST bout will be broadcast (ABC) and telecast (NBC) coast to coast. Scoring will be by rounds.

Morgan Leaves Army

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP) — Tom Morgan, New York Yankee right-hander who shut out Philadelphia April 15 while on terminal leave from the Army, today rejoined the club after his discharge at Fort Sill, Okla.

Campy Can Play

CINCINNATI, April 29 (AP) — A dozen more X-ray pictures were made of Roy Campanella's left wrist today with the story unchanged.

Specialists at Christ Hospital said that he could play without aggravating the injury but suggested the chip be removed at some future date.

Capon Bridge High School Annexes Section 14 Title

Anderson Is Winner Over Warriors, 4-0

CAPON BRIDGE, W. Va., April 29 — Capon Bridge High School's baseball team clinched the West Virginia Section 14 title today by sweeping its series with Wardensville High School at the latter place in a P. V. C. morning game by the score of 4-0 behind the three-hit pitching of Glenn Anderson.

The defeat eliminated Wardensville from the running for sectional honors. Berkeley Springs also has been eliminated.

Anderson turned back Wardensville with three singles and fanned nine to post his sixth win of the season against a single loss. One of his victories was at the expense of Berkeley Springs, a non-conference opponent, whom he blanked 6-0.

The Capon Bridge mound ace also rapped a pair of two baggers to account for two of his team's seven safeties.

Only once during the game was Anderson in trouble and that was in the fourth when the Warriors loaded the bases. That rally, however, was nipped in the bud when Anderson, Alkire and Heavner engineered a double play.

Tommy Heishman, Wardensville hurler, struck out nine and issued four passes.

Capon Bridge's P. V. C. record is now 6-2. Wardensville has dropped five in a row. Box:

Bobcats Open Track Season

Visit Fairmont Today, Ball Game Cancelled

FROSTBURG, April 29 — Coach Kenneth Babcock announced tonight that Frostburg State Teachers College will open its track and field season Friday by meeting Fairmont State Teachers College at Fairmont, W. Va., at 2 p. m.

Fourteen thinclads from Frostburg State will participate in the dual meet.

Fairmont State will visit Frostburg on May 6.

Frostburg's third and final meet of the season will be with Shippensburg Teachers College at Shippensburg, Pa., May 15.

Today's baseball game between Frostburg State and Shepherd College, scheduled here, was cancelled on account of wet grounds. This game will not be played because neither school has an open date on its schedule.

Coach Babcock announced that West Virginia University Freshmen will play the Bobcats at Frostburg on May 8. This game has been added in place of the two contests scheduled with Steubenville College which dropped baseball this season.

Cracked Rib Keeps Dick Kryhoski Idle

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP) — Dick Kryhoski, Baltimore Oriole first baseman who had just about recovered from a broken wrist bone, today came up with a cracked rib to prolong his stay on the bench.

Kryhoski was struck in the side by a ball hit by Outfielder Gil Coan during batting practice Tuesday and x-rays disclosed the crack. Oriole officials said he would not be able to play for at least seven more days.

Rocking Chair League Meets Monday Night

A meeting of the Rocking Chair Softball League will be held Monday at 8 p.m. at the B.P.O. Elks Club for the purpose of adopting a schedule for the season.

Only five clubs have entered the league as a result of the Amvets transferring to the City circuit. Teams enrolled to date are the Elks, Moose, K. of C., Eagles and Outdoor Club. The league is seeking a sixth team and those interested in obtaining a berth are requested to attend Monday's meeting.

Penn Avenue Marbles Tournament Is Won By Norman Merrill

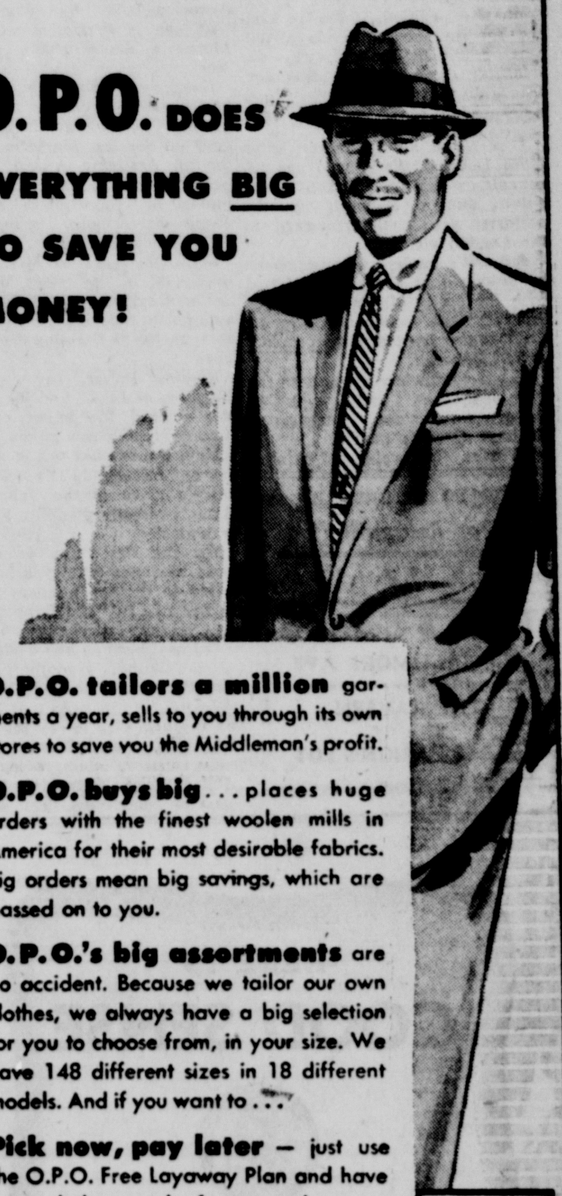

Norman Merrill won the marbles championship at Pennsylvania Avenue School yesterday by scoring over Paul Keefer in the finals.

Other semi-finalists were Robert Mercer and Gerald White.

One hundred and thirty-eight participated in yesterday's games.

SS. Peter and Paul School tournament is scheduled today while the scene shifts to Cresaptown Junior High School on Monday.

Correlation-Goyamo Duel Expected To Highlight Derby

Colts Finished 1-2 In Florida Derby In March

By JOHN CHANDLER

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 29 (AP)—Although forecasts on the outcome of the 80th Kentucky Derby flowed as freely as mint jelps today, one opinion expressed most frequently was that America's greatest horse race would be a duel between correlation and Goyamo.

With Saturday's mile and one quarter dash for about $100,000 drawing nearer, no one could say how many 3-year-olds will face the starter. Guesses ranged from 17 to 20.

20 Started In 1951

There haven't been so many questions about a Derby since Count Turf rambled home ahead of 19 others in 1951 at 15 to 1.

However, Robert S. Lytle's Correlation will be ridden by Willie Shoemaker and the Woodvale Farm's Goyamo has the great Eddie Arcaro to do the saddle honors.

In a previous meeting this year between the two colts, Correlation and Shoemaker caught Goyamo and Arcaro in the stretch to win the Florida Derby March 20. Then the horses took different paths to Kentucky.

Derby post time is 4:30 p.m. (EST) and it may not be known until the last minute how many will start, depending upon weather, track and other conditions. The race will be carried by CBS television, 4-4:45 p.m., and CBS radio, 4:15-4:45 p.m.

Particular attention is being paid to the weatherman, for after many days of 80-degree-plus heat, showers and cooler weather have come. Showers and cooler are forecast for tomorrow and there is a possibility of showers Saturday. The last time the track was off for a Derby was 1948 when Citation splashed through slop to victory.

Correlation 5-2 Choice

Correlation still rules the 5-2 favorite. Goyamo is rated at 7-2.

The usual crowd of some 100,000 also will give plenty of support to Hasty Road, listed at 4-1 along with stablemate Sea O Erin. Hasty Road, from the Hasty House Farm of Allie Reuben, Toledo, O., won the Derby Trial Tuesday, breaking the track record with a sparkling 1:35 for the mile.

Bowie Plans Benefit Race For Caffarella

BOWIE, Md., April 29 (AP)—An extra race will be run next Thursday with all proceeds going to Mike Caffarella, 36-year-old jockey injured severely in a spill at Bowie two weeks ago.

Caffarella, who lives in Schenectady, N. Y., is in Prince Georges Hospital with two fractured vertebrae. He may not be able to walk again.

The Maryland Racing Commission today approved a ninth race on next Thursday's card for his benefit. The track will turn over its 5½ per cent tax on the betting and the jockeys in the race will donate their fees.

The jockeys and horsemen previously contributed more than $5,000 to Caffarella and Bowie donated $1,000.

"Little Mo" Wins

Soap Box Derby Set For July 10

Fifteen boys have signed thus far to drive in Cumberland's seventh annual Soap Box Derby to be held Saturday, July 10 under the sponsorship of the Times-News and Eiler Chevrolet, Inc.

Site for the classic whose winner goes to Akron in August to compete in the All-American Derby has not been decided. The race has been held on Pennsylvania Avenue for the past three years.

Ray Miller, 15, Oldtown, who participated in the Hagerstown race for three years, and Kenneth Norris, 13, of 24 Pennsylvania Avenue, are the latest entries.

The sponsors are aiming for a list of 50 competitors. All boys in the tri-state area between the ages of 11 and 15 are eligible.

Patton Advances To Semi-Finals In North-South

Beats Curtis Person, Dick Chapman Loses

By KEN ALYTA

PINEHURST, N. C., April 29 (AP)—Billy Joe Patton, once again the master scrambler, shot two-under-par golf today, trounced Curtis Person of Memphis, Tenn., 6 and 5, and led the way into semifinals in the North and South Amateur Golf Tournament.

Tomorrow the 32-year-old Morganton, N. C., lumberman who finished third in the Masters Tournament at Augusta, Ga., will meet William Hyndman of Abington, Pa. Hyndman gained the semi-finals for the second successive year by routing William Loock of Scarsdale, N. Y., 6 and 5, without the loss of a hole. He was one over par.

Dick Chapman of Pinehurst, unsuccessfully seeking the title for the last 25 years, was thwarted again today as Alex Welsh, 34, Rockford, Ill., lawyer, took a grimly contested 1-up decision. His opponent over 18 holes tomorrow will be Frank Meacham, veteran from Roanoke Rapids, N. C., who eliminated 19-year-old Duke University freshman Clinton White Toms, 4 and 2.

Patton was in trouble on seven of the 13 holes against Person, 43-year-old automobile dealer who earlier had eliminated Frank Stranahan and won two overtime matches.

Patton drove almost out of bounds on the first hole. He played a wood second shot from deep in the rough alongside a fence and banked the ball well out into the fairway. A fine pitch left him only a five-foot putt for a par four and the hole. Person had been trapped on his second and had trouble getting out of the sand.

Billy Joe won the 11th and 13th with birdie threes, needing putts of less than four-feet on both, to close out Person.

Hyndman was one over par and on top of Loock from the start, turning 6-up. Each had a bogey on the long tenth and they halved the next three to par 4s to close it out. Hyndman hit fine tee shots and showed improved putting in closing out Loock, a four handicap player.

Rosi And Zulueta To Fight Tonight

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP)—Unranked Paolo Rosi, winner of all six of his American fights, was an 8-5 favorite today to whip Cuba's Orlando Zulueta, the No. 2 lightweight contender, in a television ten rounder at St. Nicholas Arena tomorrow night.

The odds are surprising even though the slender, 26-year-old invader has stopped five of his opponents here and has scored 22 kayos in 26 pro scraps. His record is 23-1-2.

The 25-year-old Cuban's record is 48-19-9. In his two bouts this year he outpointed Denis Pat Brady and Al Duarte.

The 9 p.m. EST bout will be broadcast (ABC) and telecast (NBC) coast to coast. Scoring will be by rounds.

Morgan Leaves Army

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP) — Tom Morgan, New York Yankee right-hander who shut out Philadelphia April 15 while on terminal leave from the Army, today rejoined the club after his discharge at Fort Sill, Okla.

Campy Can Play

CINCINNATI, April 29 (AP) — A dozen more X-ray pictures were made of Roy Campanella's left wrist today with the story unchanged.

Specialists at Christ Hospital said that he could play without aggravating the injury but suggested the chip be removed at some future date.

Anderson Is Winner Over Warriors, 4-0

CAPON BRIDGE, W. Va., April 29 — Capon Bridge High School's baseball team clinched the West Virginia Section 14 title today by sweeping its series with Wardensville High School at the latter place in a P. V. C. morning game by the score of 4-0 behind the three-hit pitching of Glenn Anderson.

The defeat eliminated Wardensville from the running for sectional honors. Berkeley Springs also has been eliminated.

Anderson turned back Wardensville with three singles and fanned nine to post his sixth win of the season against a single loss. One of his victories was at the expense of Berkeley Springs, a non-conference opponent, whom he blanked 6-0.

The Capon Bridge mound ace also rapped a pair of two baggers to account for two of his team's seven safeties.

Only once during the game was Anderson in trouble and that was in the fourth when the Warriors loaded the bases. That rally, however, was nipped in the bud when Anderson, Alkire and Heavner engineered a double play.

Tommy Heishman, Wardensville hurler, struck out nine and issued four passes.

Capon Bridge's P. V. C. record is now 6-2. Wardensville has dropped five in a row. Box:

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 29—(INS)—If you read "The Execution of Private Slovik" in the current issue of Look magazine, you'll understand why both Milton Sperling and Frank Sinatra are trying to buy the screen rights.

It's the true story of Eddie Slovik, who was put to death January 31, 1945—the only American soldier since 1864 to be executed for refusing to fight the enemy. Eddie deserted through fear.

Sinatra wants this dramatic and tragic story for himself, but Milton, who got there fustest with the mostest, has all but closed the deal. However, Milton says he would love to have Sinatra play Slovik.

The last time I saw Mona Freeman, she was unhappy because she didn't feel that she had had what she called "a good job" in a long time.

Today, Mona is smiling, because she has been given the role of the sweetheart of Tab Hunter, the girl back home—in "Battle Cry."

The picture is based on Leon Uris' best selling novel, which Raoul Walsh is directing.

You needn't say I told you, but those meetings John Wayne has been having with Jack Warner concern "The Lewis and Clark Expedition," which Warners will make on a big scale.

Duke is wanted for the role of either Lewis or Clark, and Gary Cooper has been contacted in Mexico for the other male lead.

It is the intention of Warners to retrace the original trail of this famous expedition. If they're looking for an actress to play Sacajawea, the Indian girl, why not consider Gene Austin's daughter Charlotte Austin, who says she is a descendant of the Indian maiden?

I received an au revoir letter from Deborah Kerr, who has reservations on the Queen Mary sailing June 9. Deborah says the children are looking forward to the London visit.

But, "it's totally and outrageously untrue that I am dissatisfied with the script of 'End of the Affair' and the rumor seriously affects many hardworking people," writes Deborah.

"I am completely happy with the way David Lewis and Lenore Coffee are so sensitively interpreting Graham Green's novel.

"I miss California and wish I were coming back to my lovely house and my new swimming pool—but I'm going to London. Love—Deborah."

Around town:

At Chasen's, Ethel Merman told me that she had already made two scenes in "No Business Like Show Business." Then she went into a big rave about Walter Lang. "The best director in the whole world."

Sitting at Ethel's table were Sid Luft and Henry Ginsberg. Sid told me that Judy Garland was awfully tired after she finished "A Star Is Born" and had gone to Palm Springs leaving him with the children. Song Writer Johnny Mercer, who also sat with Ethel, was very amusing. He told Jimmy McHugh that he had written a song called "Dream," but that McHugh and Michael Parrish had added two more dreams to their new song.

Jack Entratter, who was also at Chasen's, told me that Georgie Kaye, the comedian who is appearing with Peggy Lee at the Sands in Las Vegas, is terrific. I promised to see Kaye when he comes to the Mocambo.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Bob Mitchum is an uncle. His sister Carol married to Pianist Buddy Worth, welcomed a son. The Worths have two daughters.

Writer Helen Deutsch, who leaves for New York today, will see a lot of Baron Pierre Kaltenbach, of Switzerland, while she's in Manhattan.

The first word heard about Veronica Lake in over a year is that she is a student at Arthur Murray's dance studio in New York.

Courageous Marjorie Rambeau has made reservations at a local hospital to undergo further surgery on her leg. Marjorie was up for an Academy Award for her performance as Joan Crawford's mother in "Torch Song," and this despite her crippled leg injured in an automobile accident.

Sympathy goes to Mrs. Lillian Boscowitz in the tragic death of her mother, who was killed in an automobile accident on her way back to North Carolina from New York.

Romina Power, two-year-old daughter of Linda and Ty Power, has entered the ballet class at Nico Charisse's new studio.

Mala Powers has put in a bid to buy her first home. It's near Gene Autry's place in the valley, and Mala is already planning her decorations.

For the first time in several years, Barbara Stanwyck has consented to become a honey blonde for her role in "The Bandit." Her beautiful hair, flecked with grey, has almost become her trademark.

Jane Withers' mother, Mrs. Ruth Boonshaft, who has been so critically ill, is reported better. And I'm also glad to say that Ruth Waterbury, who underwent emergency surgery, is improving.

Helen Troy, attractive blonde, was with Tony Vito, head of Vito Recording Company, at Mary McCarty's opening at the Mocambo. Wouldn't be surprised if Vito tried to get Mary for recordings, he was that interested in her performance.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Breakfast should be an enjoyable meal, nutritious and unhurried.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

There are several schools of thought on the subject of breakfast, and I fear the "take it on the run" school is far too inclusive a group.

If you belong to the "quickie" group, you're making a sad mistake. Healthfully speaking, breakfast is the most important meal of the day. Your body requires refueling after a night's lapse since dinner; it needs energy to make you "get up and go" during the day. So don't scrimp or rush!

You're on a diet? That's no excuse for a juice-and-coffee breakfast. In fact, it's all the more reason for a substantial meal to start your day's schedule. Eat well in the morning, and you'll find it easier to make the mid-day meal a light one.

Time To Relax

There's another purpose for making breakfast fun, not frenzy. Embark on your 9-to-5 (or your 'round-the-clock) activities in a relaxed frame of mind, and you're more likely to retain that pleasurable state, instead of maintaining a frantic and tiring pace the day long. So allow time to enjoy your food, rather than letting breakfast become a running race with the clock.

If you wish to lose weight, your daily calorie intake as a healthy adult should approximate 1,200 calories. That calorie count should begin with breakfasts as nourishing as the ones you'll find outlined in "Your Beauty Diet," a Powers booklet that will help you lose — or gain. (If you'd like to follow the beauty diet morning, noon and night, the box below will tell you how to obtain this helpful booklet.)

A typical "Beauty diet" breakfast for the weight loser is this: 1 cup tomato juice, 1 scrambled egg, 1 slice of whole wheat toast (with half a pat of butter), and black coffee. That's nourishment and goot eating.

To Gain Weight

Should your object be to gain weight, you'll add to this menu a second slice of toast, more butter and one cup of whole milk, to provide additional calories and help bring you up to the approximately 3,200 calories necessary for an adult who'd add flesh to the figure.

Sensible eating habits are the key to weight control. And one of the most sensible of eating habits is to treat yourself to an adequate breakfast. See that you make breakfast a part of your day's pattern . . . and if you are the mother of a growing family, make breakfast a time of good eating and good fellowship before the youngsters are off to school.

YOUR BEAUTY DIET

No matter what your weight problem — whether you want to gain, lose or remain the same — YOUR BEAUTY DIET will provide you with a safe and sane pattern of laboratory-tested menus that can be followed by the entire family according to each individual's needs. YOUR BEAUTY DIET is a way of eating, not starving, and the tasteful, appetizing meals it contains require no extra planning or preparation! For the booklet, write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose 10c in coin to help cover cost, plus stamped self-addressed envelope.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Some people . . . some places . . . some things . . .

A decision much more significant than the one which eventually will be made in the McCarthy-Army case was handed down in Washington the other day by a board of Marine generals and an admiral. In more or less excusing Marine Col. Frank H. Schwable for confessing under torture that we waged germ warfare in Korea, the board recommended that the Defense Department rewrite the traditional rules guiding U. S. fighting men.

Conceivably, we might bow out of the old pact, fused long ago at Geneva, in which we agreed with many other nations that all a prisoner of war must divulge is his name, rank and serial number. The Reds don't play war under those rules, and they would appear to be the only people we'll fight if we fight.

The Reds take a man and break him as they broke Schwable, and in time they can make him do whatever they wish. They would do it again if hostilities broke out, and the presumption is that their evil technique will improve with usage.

Schwable's semi-clearance seems to say to men now in uniform and future generations of American warriors that military courts will not punish them if they become propaganda tools of the enemy under torture.

Will the Defense Department attempt to lay down a torture yardstick, short of which a man will be court-martialed and beyond which he gets a medal even if he does "confess?" Will heredity, environment and education be taken into consideration? Will the captured son of a timid poet be expected to stand the gaff as stoically as the prisoner son of a battle-scarred general?

It is not an easy job that has been given to Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's office. The men assigned to it will most certainly entertain the doubts which must have immersed the panel that heard Schwable; troubled doubts that run, "What would I have done under such pain?"

It may be weeks, even months, before the Senate Permanent Investigations subcommittee makes its recommendations in the McCarthy-Army matter. At this stage of the fiery gab even the most reckless horseplayer would hesitate before picking a winner as between Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, Roy Cohn and Francis Carr on the one side and Robert T. Stevens, John Adams and Struve Hensel on the other.

Millions more words will spill over the dam, most of them controlled not so much by Acting Chairman Karl E. Mundt or Special Counsel Ray Jenkins as by a trim blonde from Pawhuska, Okla., with the astonishing name of Maxine Buffalohide. Mrs. Buffalohide (her husband, Joe, full blooded Indian is a State Department clerk) holds the stop watch on the boys, and sees to it that no man gets more than a ten consecutive minutes crack at a witness.

The conduct of the probe's witnesses reminds us of Gen. Tooey Spaatz's advice to Maj. Gen. Rosy O'Donnell before O'Donnell testified in the hearings that followed Gen. Douglas MacArthur's removal.

"Rosy," said Gen. Spaatz, "take the advice of a man who's been through it before. When you face the senators there are three things to keep in mind: One, answer with a yes sir or no sir whenever you can; two, don't joke, and three, don't tell a lie but also don't keep butting in with the truth."

Prof. J. Robert Oppenheimer, undergoing a much stranger hearing than that of McCarthy-Stevens and Col. Schwable, told a friend the other day, "There's a story behind my story. If a reporter digs deep enough he will find that it's a bigger story than my suspension."

Trouble is, the professor won't see reporters.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 29—(INS)—If you read "The Execution of Private Slovik" in the current issue of Look magazine, you'll understand why both Milton Sperling and Frank Sinatra are trying to buy the screen rights.

It's the true story of Eddie Slovik, who was put to death January 31, 1945—the only American soldier since 1864 to be executed for refusing to figh: the enemy. Eddie deserted through fear.

Sinatra wants this dramatic and tragic story for himself, but Milton, who got there fustest with the mostest, has all but closed the deal. However, Milton says he would love to have Sinatra play Slovik.

The last time I saw Mona Freeman, she was unhappy because she didn't feel that she had had what she called "a good job" in a long time.

Today, Mona is smiling, because she has been given the role of the sweetheart of Tab Hunter, the girl back home—in "Battle Cry."

The picture is based on Leon Uris' best selling novel, which Raoul Walsh is directing.

You needn't say I told you, but those meetings John Wayne has been having with Jack Warner concern "The Lewis and Clark Expedition," which Warners will make on a big scale.

Duke is wanted for the role of either Lewis or Clark, and Gary Cooper has been contacted in Mexico for the other male lead.

It is the intention of Warners to retrace the original trail of this famous expedition. If they're looking for an actress to play Sacajawea, the Indian girl, why not consider Gene Austin's daughter Charlotte Austin, who says she is a descendant of the Indian maiden?

I received an au revoir letter from Deborah Kerr, who has reservations on the Queen Mary sailing June 9. Deborah says the children are looking forward to the London visit.

But, "it's totally and outrageously untrue that I am dissatisfied with the script of 'End of the Affair' and the rumor seriously affects many hardworking people," writes Deborah.

"I am completely happy with the way David Lewis and Lenore Coffee are so sensitively interpreting Graham Green's novel.

"I miss California and wish I were coming back to my lovely house and my new swimming pool—but I'm going to London. Love—Deborah."

Around town:

At Chasen's, Ethel Merman told me that she had already made two scenes in "No Business Like Show Business." Then she went into a big rave about Walter Lang. "The best director in the whole world."

Sitting at Ethel's table were Sid Luft and Henry Ginsberg. Sid told me that Judy Garland was awfully tired after she finished "A Star Is Born" and had gone to Palm Springs leaving him with the children. Song Writer Johnny Mercer, who also sat with Ethel, was very amusing. He told Jimmy McHugh that he had written a song called "Dream," but that McHugh and Michael Parrish had added two more dreams to their new song.

Jack Entratter, who was also at Chasen's, told me that Georgie Kaye, the comedian who is appearing with Peggy Lee at the Sands in Las Vegas, is terrific. I promised to see Kaye when he comes to the Mocambo.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Bob Mitchum is an uncle. His sister Carol married to Pianist Buddy Worth, welcomed a son. The Worths have two daughters.

Writer Helen Deutsch, who leaves for New York today, will see a lot of Baron Pierre Kaltenbach, of Switzerland, while she's in Manhattan.

The first word heard about Veronica Lake in over a year is that she is a student at Arthur Murray's dance studio in New York.

Courageous Marjorie Rambeau has made reservations at a local hospital to undergo further surgery on her leg. Marjorie was up for an Academy Award for her performance as Joan Crawford's mother in "Torch Song," and this despite her crippled leg injured in an automobile accident.

Sympathy goes to Mrs. Lillian Boscowitz in the tragic death of her mother, who was killed in an automobile accident on her way back to North Carolina from New York.

Romina Power, two-year-old daughter of Linda and Ty Power, has entered the ballet class at Nico Charisse's new studio.

Mala Powers has put in a bid to buy her first home. It's near Gene Autry's place in the valley, and Mala is already planning her decorations.

For the first time in several years, Barbara Stanwyck has consented to become a honey blonde for her role in "The Bandit." Her beautiful hair, flecked with grey, has almost become her trademark.

Jane Withers' mother, Mrs. Ruth Boonshaft, who has been so critically ill, is reported better. And I'm also glad to say that Ruth Waterbury, who underwent emergency surgery, is improving.

Helen Troy, attractive blonde, was with Tony Vito, head of Vito Recording Company, at Mary McCarty's opening at the Mocambo. Wouldn't be surprised if Vito tried to get Mary for recordings, he was that interested in her performance.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Breakfast should be an enjoyable meal, nutritious and unhurried.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

There are several schools of thought on the subject of breakfast, and I fear the "take it on the run" school is far too inclusive a group.

If you belong to the "quickie" group, you're making a sad mistake. Healthfully speaking, breakfast is the most important meal of the day. Your body requires refueling after a night's lapse since dinner; it needs energy to make you "get up and go" during the day. So don't scrimp or rush!

You're on a diet? That's no excuse for a juice-and-coffee breakfast. In fact, it's all the more reason for a substantial meal to start your day's schedule. Eat well in the morning, and you'll find it easier to make the mid-day meal a light one.

Time To Relax

There's another purpose for making breakfast fun, not frenzy. Embark on your 9-to-5 (or your 'round-the-clock) activities in a relaxed frame of mind, and you're more likely to retain that pleasurable state, instead of maintaining a frantic and tiring pace the day long. So allow time to enjoy your food, rather than letting breakfast become a running race with the clock.

If you wish to lose weight, your daily calorie intake as a healthy adult should approximate 1,200 calories. That calorie count should begin with breakfasts as nourishing as the ones you'll find outlined in "Your Beauty Diet," a Powers booklet that will help you lose — or gain. (If you'd like to follow the beauty diet morning, noon and night, the box below will tell you how to obtain this helpful booklet.)

A typical "Beauty diet" breakfast for the weight loser is this: 1 cup tomato juice, 1 scrambled egg, 1 slice of whole wheat toast (with half a pat of butter), and black coffee. That's nourishment and goot eating.

To Gain Weight

Should your object, be to gain weight, you'll add to this menu a second slice of toast, more butter and one cup of whole milk, to provide additional calories and help bring you up to the approximately 3,200 calories necessary for an adult who'd add flesh to the figure.

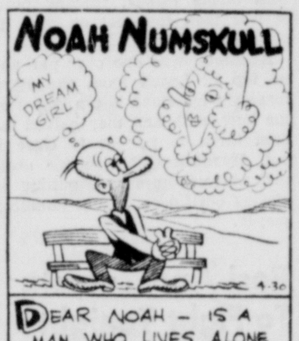

Sensible eating habits are the key to weight control. And one of the most sensible of eating habits is to treat yourself to an adequate breakfast. See that you make breakfast a part of your day's pattern . . . . and if you are the mother of a growing family, make breakfast a time of good eating and good fellowship before the youngsters are off to school.

YOUR BEAUTY DIET

No matter what your weight problem — whether you want to gain, lose or remain the same — YOUR BEAUTY DIET will provide you with a safe and sane pattern of laboratory-tested menus that can be followed by the entire family according to each individual's needs. YOUR BEAUTY DIET is a way of eating, not starving, and the tasteful, appetizing meals it contains require no extra planning or preparation! For the booklet, write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose 10c in coin to help cover cost, plus stamped self-addressed envelope.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Some people . . . some places . . . some things . . .

A decision much more significant than the one which eventually will be made in the McCarthy-Army case was handed down in Washington the other day by a board of Marine generals and an admiral. In more or less excusing Marine Col. Frank H. Schwable for confessing under torture that we waged germ warfare in Korea, the board recommended that the Defense Department rewrite the traditional rules guiding U. S. fighting men.

Conceivably, we might bow out of the old pact, fused long ago at Geneva, in which we agreed with many other nations that all a prisoner of war must divulge is his name, rank and serial number. The Reds don't play war under those rules, and they would appear to be the only people we'll fight if we fight.

The Reds take a man and break him as they broke Schwable, and in time they can make him do whatever they wish. They would do it again if hostilities broke out, and the presumption is that their evil technique will improve with usage.

Schwable's semi-clearance seems to say to men now in uniform and future generations of American warriors that military courts will not punish them if they become propaganda tools of the enemy under torture.

Will the Defense Department attempt to lay down a torture yardstick, short of which a man will be court-martialed and beyond which he gets a medal even if he does "confess?" Will heredity, environment and education be taken into consideration? Will the captured son of a timid poet be expected to stand the gaff as stoically as the prisoner son of a battle-scarred general?

It is not an easy job that has been given to Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's office. The men assigned to it will most certainly entertain the doubts which must have immersed the panel that heard Schwable; troubled doubts that run, "What would I have done under such pain?"

It may be weeks, even months, before the Senate Permanent Investigations subcommittee makes its recommendations in the McCarthy-Army matter. At this stage of the fiery gab even the most reckless horseplayer would hesitate before picking a winner as between Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, Roy Cohn and Francis Carr on the one side and Robert T. Stevens, John Adams and Struve Hensel on the other.

Millions more words will spill over the dam, most of them controlled not so much by Acting Chairman Karl E. Mundt or Special Counsel Ray Jenkins as by a trim blonde from Pawhuska, Okla., with the astonishing name of Maxine Buffalohide. Mrs. Buffalohide (her husband, Joe, full blooded Indian is a State Department clerk) holds the stop watch on the boys, and sees to it that no man gets more than a ten consecutive minutes crack at a witness.

The conduct of the probe's witnesses reminds us of Gen. Tooey Spaatz's advice to Maj. Gen. Rosy O'Donnell before O'Donnell testified in the hearings that followed Gen. Douglas MacArthur's removal.

"Rosy," said Gen. Spaatz, "take the advice of a man who's been through it before. When you face the senators there are three things to keep in mind: One, answer with a yes sir or no sir whenever you can; two, don't joke, and three, don't tell a lie but also don't keep butting in with the truth."

Prof. J. Robert Oppenheimer, undergoing a much stranger hearing than that of McCarthy-Stevens and Col. Schwable, told a friend the other day, "There's a story behind my story. If a reporter digs deep enough he will find that it's a bigger story than my suspension."

Trouble is, the professor won't see reporters.

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

(While John Crosby is on vacation, his column will be continued by a number of guest writers. This one is by Goodman Ace.)

Washington, A.C.-D.C.

By GOODMAN ACE

I am glad of this opportunity to fill in for John Crosby because it gives me an opportunity to further expound on a theory of mine concerning the telecasting of political speakers. I've been expounding this theory for some time but so far the split it has caused in both parties is no greater than the split in the infinitive in that first sentence up there.

This has nothing to do with equal time demanded by politicians to answer each other on television. Rather it has to do with the unequal production values to be found in the television programs presented by each party.

It is no secret that the producer of the Republican telecasts is Robert Montgomery. Who is his opposite number on the Democratic lot and just how important is it to give a political telecast all that Madison Avenue polish and knowhow?

When the President is announced to go on the air, the White House staff, we are told, is augmented with advertising, public relations and Hollywood consultants to help establish contact with the voters through this newest of mass communications media. The preparation compares quite favorably to the chaos that goes into putting on a weekly run-of-the-mine television show.

The scripts, the rewrites; the teleprompters installed over the cameras so that the President may read his speech and yet appear to be speaking directly to the anxious citizens assembled in their living rooms; the special platform constructed in the chamber of the House so that the glare of the television lights will not bounce off his famous bald pate; the makeup girl who is sent over by CBS to dust with pancake make-up the face and head of the President; the producers and directors who advise him to make full use of his friendly grin.

All these are there.

When the President has some hard selling to do his sponsors watch him in the 48 states and the consultants give it all their know-how to make sure the option will be picked up. The impact of television has been evaluated as three times that of radio. Every move, every emphasis, every facial expression are as carefully noted as every spoken word. History is recorded on the spot in sight and sound not only for the present but for all posterity to see and hear.

Television comes a little late. The almost casual preparation for historic messages of a bygone day would have sent any TV producer scurrying around the corner of NBC to Hurley's Bar. With a slight anachronistic change of scene we set up our cameras for a remote telecast from the spot where another message is about to be delivered.

The date is November 19, 1863. Video men, audio men, directors, advisers huddle around Cemetery Hill, shouting at the 15,000 who have come to witness the telecast to keep off the cables and stand back from the cameras. The cameramen are setting up their shots for the speakers. The director comes briskly forward.

"Mr. President, you'll open up on camera two, that's this one. We're picking up Mr. Everett on camera one. When the red light comes on on camera two you can start your speech. Then we'll cut to a profile after we set up camera one. You'll stand about here. Oh, I'll take that shawl, Mr. President."

"Well, there's a chill in the air and I—"

"But you're not going to do the show in that shawl, are you?"

"Yes, I am."

"Well I wish we'd have known — we could have had costume send one over. I'm afraid the lights are going to pick up all that fuzz around it. Oh, by the way, I'll get the make-up girl. We ought to trim that beard a little. It's kinda straggly and it might —"

"Oh, this is quite all right."

"But, Mr. President, this is television. At least we can touch up

Daily Bridge Lesson

by Barclay

UNBLOCK AT THE OUTSET

POSSESSION of honor cards, in the long suit opened by your partner, may be either an asset or a liability. If you have too many high ones, you may find later on that you block the suit and keep him from running the remainders of it. That happens against No Trump game contracts with such frequency that it is pathetic. Usually the need for unblocking the suit, by getting rid of a high card at the very outset, can be read if the holder will only do a little thinking.

	♠ K5 ♥ K74 ♦ A Q J 5 2 ♣ K 8 3
♠ A 9 7 4 3 ♥ Q 8 5 ♦ 9 7 6 ♣ Q J	N W E S	♠ J 10 2 ♥ 9 6 3 ♦ K 10 3 ♣ 10 7 5 2
	♠ Q 8 6 ♥ A J 10 2 ♦ 8 4 ♣ A 9 6 4

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	1 ♠	2 ♦	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 NT

Winning the spade 4 lead with the K, on which East put the 2, South entered his own hand with the heart A to finesse the diamond J, which the K won. The spade J return brought the Q and A, and the spade 3 to the 10 made the defenders' third trick. East had no more spades to return, so picked a club, the K winning. Then four diamonds, the club A, the heart J sent through and the K removed the Q, whereupon the 10 was established, but could not be reached, so a club was given up at the end to give the defenders only their fourth trick.

All that East had to do, to beat that contract, was put his spade J or 10 on the first trick. He could easily read that South held one of the two unseen honors, possibly the Q, in which event West's highest card, next to the A, would have to be the 9 or 8. He therefore should have made sure of retaining a smaller card. If he had used one of his honors on the first trick, then when West overtook the Q with the A later on, West's 9 could have scored instead of East's 10 and the next two tricks could have been taken by the 7 and 3 to make a total of five for the pair, setting the contract.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ A K J 6 ♥ 10 7 4 ♦ Q 8 3 ♣ 10 6 5
♠ 7 5 ♥ 9 8 6 5 ♦ K 7 2 ♣ A Q 7 2	N W E S	♠ 9 2 ♥ K J 3 2 ♦ A J 9 5 4 ♣ J 3
	♠ Q 10 8 4 3 ♥ A Q ♦ 10 6 ♣ K 9 8 4

(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

If South gets into 3-Spades on this tightly-bid tournament deal, what is the best defense and declarer play?

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

(While John Crosby is on vacation, his column will be continued by a number of guest writers. This one is by Goodman Ace.)

Washington, A.C.-D.C.

By GOODMAN ACE

I am glad of this opportunity to fill in for John Crosby because it gives me an opportunity to further expound on a theory of mine concerning the telecasting of political speakers. I've been expounding this theory for some time but so far the split it has caused in both parties is no greater than the split in the infinitive in that first sentence up there.

This has nothing to do with equal time demanded by politicians to answer each other on television. Rather it has to do with the unequal production values to be found in the television programs presented by each party.

It is no secret that the producer of the Republican telecasts is Robert Montgomery. Who is his opposite number on the Democratic lot and just how important is it to give a political telecast all that Madison Avenue polish and knowhow?

When the President is announced to go on the air, the White House staff, we are told, is augmented with advertising, public relations and Hollywood consultants to help establish contact with the voters through this newest of mass communications media. The preparation compares quite favorably to the chaos that goes into putting on a weekly run-of-the-mine television show.

The scripts, the rewrites; the teleprompters installed over the cameras so that the President may read his speech and yet appear to be speaking directly to the anxious citizens assembled in their living rooms; the special platform constructed in the chamber of the House so that the glare of the television lights will not bounce off his famous bald pate; the makeup girl who is sent over by CBS to dust with pancake make-up the face and head of the President; the producers and directors who advise him to make full use of his friendly grin.

All these are there.

When the President has some hard selling to do his sponsors watch him in the 48 states and the consultants give it all their knowhow to make sure the option will be picked up. The impact of television has been evaluated as three times that of radio. Every move, every emphasis, every facial expression are as carefully noted as every spoken word. History is recorded on the spot in sight and sound not only for the present but for all posterity to see and hear.

Television comes a little late. The almost casual preparation for historic messages of a bygone day would have sent any TV producer scurrying around the corner of NBC to Hurley's Bar. With a slight anachronistic change of scene we set up our cameras for a remote telecast from the spot where another message is about to be delivered.

The date is November 19, 1863. Video men, audio men, directors, advisers huddle around Cemetery Hill, shouting at the 15,000 who have come to witness the telecast to keep off the cables and stand back from the cameras. The cameramen are setting up their shots for the speakers. The director comes briskly forward.

"Mr. President, you'll open up on camera two, that's this one. We're picking up Mr. Everett on camera one. When the red light comes on on camera two you can start your speech. Then we'll cut to a profile after we set up camera one. You'll stand about here. Oh, I'll take that shawl, Mr. President."

"Well, there's a chill in the air and I—"

"But you're not going to do the show in that shawl, are you?"

"Yes, I am."

"Well I wish we'd have known — we could have had costume send one over. I'm afraid the lights are going to pick up all that fuzz around it. Oh, by the way, I'll get the make-up girl. We ought to trim that beard a little. It's kinda straggly and it might —".

"Oh, this is quite all right."

UNBLOCK AT THE OUTSET

POSSESSION of honor cards, in the long suit opened by your partner, may be either an asset or a liability. If you have too many high ones, you may find later on that you block the suit and keep him from running the remainders of it. That happens against No Trump game contracts with such frequency that it is pathetic. Usually the need for unblocking the suit, by getting rid of a high card at the very outset, can be read if the holder will only do a little thinking.

	♠ K 5 ♥ K 7 4 ♦ A Q J 5 2 ♣ K 8 3
♠ A 9 7 4 3 ♥ Q 8 5 ♦ 9 7 6 ♣ Q J	N W E S	♠ J 10 2 ♥ 9 6 3 ♦ K 10 3 ♣ 10 7 5 2
	♠ Q 8 6 ♥ A J 10 2 ♦ 8 4 ♣ A 9 6 4

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	1 ♠	2 ♦	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 NT

Winning the spade 4 lead with the K, on which East put the 2, South entered his own hand with the heart A to finesse the diamond J, which the K won. The spade J return brought the Q and A, and the spade 3 to the 10 made the defenders' third trick. East had no more spades to return, so picked a club, the K winning. Then four diamonds, the club A, the heart J sent through and the K removed the Q, whereupon the 10 was established, but could not be reached, so a club was given up at the end to give the defenders only their fourth trick.

All that East had to do, to beat that contract, was put his spade J or 10 on the first trick. He could easily read that South held one of the two unseen honors, possibly the Q, in which event West's highest card, next to the A, would have to be the 9 or 8. He therefore should have made sure of retaining a smaller card. If he had used one of his honors on the first trick, then when West overtook the Q with the A later on, West's 9 could have scored instead of East's 10 and the next two tricks could have been taken by the 7 and 3 to make a total of five for the pair, setting the contract.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ A K J 6 ♥ 10 7 4 ♦ Q 8 3 ♣ 10 6 5
♠ 7 5 ♥ 9 8 6 5 ♦ K 7 2 ♣ A Q 7 2	N W E S	♠ 9 2 ♥ K J 3 2 ♦ A J 9 5 4 ♣ J 3
	♠ Q 10 8 4 3 ♥ A Q ♦ 10 6 ♣ K 9 8 4

(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

If South gets into 3-Spades on this tightly-bid tournament deal, what is the best defense and declarer play?

In Memoriam

ALTHER-Charles (Jack)-A tribute of love and devotion to the memory of our dear husband and father, Charles E. Alther, who departed this life two years ago today, April 30th, 1952.
The love you gave us many years
Will never from us depart;
Though you have gone beyond our reach,
You are always in our hearts.
Sadly missed by his Wife and Daughters.

In memory of our dear son, brother and grandson, Cpl. James R. Hare, who passed away in a prison camp in Korea, 3 years ago today, April 30, 1951.
A bitter grief, a shock severe
To part with one we loved so dear.
If we had seen you to the last
And held your dying hand,
And heard the last sigh from your heart
We would not feel so bad.
We did not know the pain you had,
We did not see you die.
We only know you went far away
And never had a chance to say "Goodbye".
Sadly missed by his parents, Mr. & Mrs. James Hare; Brothers, Sisters and Grandparents, Mr. & Mrs. John Hare.

In Memoriam

ALTHER-Charles (Jack)-A tribute of love and devotion to the memory of our dear husband and father, Charles E. Alther, who departed this life two years ago today, April 30th, 1952.
The love you gave us many years
Will never from us depart;
Though you have gone beyond our reach,
You are always in our hearts.
Sadly missed by his Wife and Daughters.

In memory of our dear son, brother and grandson, Cpl. James R. Hare, who passed away in a prison camp in Korea, 3 years ago today, April 30, 1951.
A bitter grief, a shock severe
To part with one we loved so dear.
If we had seen you to the last
And held your dying hand,
And heard the last sigh from your heart
We would not feel so bad.
We did not know the pain you had,
We did not see you die.
We only know you went far away
And never had a chance to say "Goodbye".
Sadly missed by his parents, Mr. & Mrs. James Hare; Brothers, Sisters and Grandparents, Mr. & Mrs. John Hare.

IF YOU'RE getting tired of your neighbors ribbing you about trading for a later model car—we guarantee this one will keep them quiet for a long time. It's a late '53 Fabulous Hudson Hornet club coupe with only 8,000 miles. Has ebony black finish that shines like a mirror and contrasting genuine red leather upholstery. A fortunate trade enables us to offer this remarkable Hornet at a sacrifice of $1000 from original cost. Don't buy any car until you see this one! YOUR DREAM house may seem to be completely unavailable . . . yet by calling the local Realtors and Real Estate men and if they have no such listing, by placing a wanted to buy ad in the want ads; there's an excellent possibility of finding the property you want at the price you are able to pay that right cheek. That mole is going to look like —"

WATCHING AND waiting for the used article you want to buy at a bargain price in the want ads is good psychology for a certain length of time; but if you figure you've waited long enough, a wanted to buy ad will very likely speed up your possession of the item you desire.

"No, no, young man. It will be all right."

"But, Mr. President, you know you're following Mr. Everett. He's going to look quite distinguished with that white hair and that — oh, before I forget — your speech."

"My speech?"

"Yes, I'll have the boys run it off for the teleprompter. You can look right into the camera and read it, and it'll look like you're talking to the folks at home."

"No, I'll manage with this."

"With that! You're not going to read it off that envelope, are you?"

"Well, I had planned —"

"Okay, Mr. President. But Mr. Everett will steal the show. They'll come away talking about him. They'll little note nor long remember anybody else."

YOUR DREAM house may seem to be completely unavailable . . . yet by calling the local Realtors and Real Estate men and if they have no such listing, by placing a wanted to buy ad in the want ads; there's an excellent possibility of finding the property you want at the price you are able to pay.

WATCHING AND waiting for the used article you want to buy at a bargain price in the want ads is good psychology for a certain length of time; but if you figure you've waited long enough, a wanted to buy ad will very likely speed up your possession of the item you desire.

Market Surges Ahead; Hits Highest Level In 24 Years

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP)—Stocks shot ahead with new bull market enthusiasm today in the strongest advance of the past two years.

Prices on average hit the highest level in 24 years, and gains of 1 to 4 points were common in key divisions.

Steels and electronics issues were in the forefront of the advance, and good strength was shown by the oils, railroads, utilities, coppers, chemicals, radio-televisions, and a long list of miscellaneous issues.

In addition, traders, investors, and the general public all displayed mounting enthusiasm for what is known in Wall Street as blue chip stocks. Those are the stocks of long established and well known companies with relatively stable dividend records.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced $1.60 the greatest rise for a single day in two years. The average closed at $121.60, best level since April 26, 1930.

Both the industrial and railroad components reached new highs—the industrials up $2.50 at $166.00 and the rails up $1.40 at $88.00. Utilities gained 30 cents at $59.20, only 10 cents under the high of the year.

There were 680 gainers in the list of 1,184 individual issues traded and 252 stocks declined.

Volume mounted to 2,510,000 shares, second greatest total of the year and the 26th time in 1954 that the two million mark has been crossed.

"Yes, I'll have the boys run it off for the teleprompter. You can look right into the camera and read it, and it'll look like you're talking to the folks at home."

"No, I'll manage with this."

"With that! You're not going to read it off that envelope, are you?"

Liquor Charge Hearing Is Set This Morning

$300 Bond Posted By E. L. Belfoure

A local bar and restaurant operator will be given a hearing today at 9 a.m. in Police Court on a charge of allegedly selling intoxicating beverages to minors.

Edward L. Belfoure, of 135 Polk Street, who operates the Hi-Dee Bar and Restaurant, 138 North Mechanic Street, was taken into custody yesterday at 6:20 p.m. by Lt. James E. Van, of the Police Detective Bureau and Officer Walter P. Dennison.

He posted bond of $300 and is being charged with violation of City Ordinance Chapter 10, Section 3A. The violation is "to sell, barter, furnish or give any alcoholic beverage to any person who is a minor, or under the age of twenty-one years."

Officer Dennison, who made a preliminary investigation said that on Wednesday night he saw four teen-agers sitting in a parked car on one of the city streets and noticed one of the party was taking a drink.

Upon further questioning he learned the alcoholic beverage was reported to have been obtained from the Hi-Dee Bar. The four teen-agers, who were involved in the purchase of the intoxicating beverage, were further questioned yesterday by Van.

Telephone Firm Tax Savings Get Airing By PSC

Consolidated Return Is Filed By AT & T

BALTIMORE, April 29 (AP) — People's Counsel for the Public Service Commission said today that the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. refused to pass on to its subsidiaries, including the one that serves Maryland, tax savings of $10,400,000 a year.

Joseph Allen, the people's counsel, told the commission the AT&T achieved the tax savings by filing a consolidated return for all subsidiaries.

Allen attacked the AT&T-subsidiary relationship in a hearing on a request by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. for rate increases that would produce $6,864,000 in additional revenue.

The proposed rates would work out to about three cents more per day per telephone.

E. Edward McLean, chief auditor for the PSC, said his computations indicated that it costs the C&P $203,235 a year to participate in the AT&T's tax savings plan.

R. M. Fowler, general accounting supervisor for the C&P, contended the AT&T was entitled to all the tax saving benefits. The intent of the law, he said, is only to prevent multiple taxation of companies which own more than 95 per cent of another company.

City Rec Survey Will Be Made In September

A comprehensive survey of Cumberland's recreational system will be conducted here about September 1, according to Robert E. Pence, city recreation director.

The survey has been asked by the City Recreation Board to point the best ways to use a $150,000 recreation bond issue sold recently.

G. Leslie Lynch, chief of the planning and survey division of the National Recreation Association, will be in charge of the study here.

Recreation officials here expect the study to provide the answer to steps needed to improve present recreation facilities and for the expansion of playgrounds and other facilities to meet the future needs of the city.

Revenue Chief Is Honored

Richard J. Stakem who retires today as chief of the local division office of the Bureau of Internal Revenue was honored last night at a surprise party staged by employes and other federal workers. Left to right are John R. Uhl, Mr. Stakem, Mrs. Stakem, and John Hutson who will succeed the retiring chief in charge of the local office.

Richard J. Stakem Retires Today From Internal Revenue Service

Just 20 years to the day he was assigned to the Cumberland office as a deputy collector, Richard J. Stakem, 414 Fayette Street, is retiring from governmental service as division chief of the Bureau of Internal Revenue covering Allegany and Garrett counties.

A native of Midland and lifelong resident of this county, Stakem entered government service September 22, 1933 as a deputy collector,, working in the Baltimore office. On April 30, 1934, just 20 years ago, he was assigned to the Western Maryland area, covering Washington, Allegany and Garrett counties as a deputy collector.

At that time, his office was in the rooms now occupied in the post office building by the Red Cross.

Shared Office

Soon after establishing the local income tax office, Stakem moved to rooms 303-305 in the post office building and Edward V. Welsh, joined him as revenue stamp deputy. Welsh is now manager of the local office of the Maryland Comptroller of the Treasury.

In 1937, Stakem recalls, Washing County obtained its own deputy collector and he continued to work in Allegany and Garrett counties.

In January 25, 1943, the Cumberland branch was established as a division office and Stakem was promoted to division chief. This made it possible for people in this area, both individuals and business firms to transact every phase of their federal tax locally.

Stakem observed that many still go to the trouble of mailing withholding tax, income tax and other forms and payments to Baltimore, but since this is a division office, the same service can be given here.

Room Added

At the time the changeover was made, another room was added to the suite and eventually, with the closing of the district court clerk's office here, the Internal Revenue Bureau division offices were moved to the second floor of the post office building.

These present quarters were first occupied in October 1953. Regular employes include the division chief, three deputy collectors, a clerk-stenographer, a cashier, plus temporary help as needed.

Stakem has lived in Cumberland since December, 1939, when he moved from Midland. He worked in the coal mines in the Midland area for many years, and after being disabled in a mine accident, opened a confectionery and grocery store there. This place became a focal point in the community and he made countless friends.

Election Clerk

In 1916, after much interest in local civic affairs and politics, he was named assistant clerk to the Board of Election Supervisors. In 1920, he became clerk to the board and served in that capacity until he resigned to enter the Internal Revenue service in 1933.

During his time in Midland, Stakem served several terms as town clerk and was elected eight consecutive times without experiencing a single defeat. At one time, he served as mayor of the town for some months, after the mayor had resigned.

Stakem has seen the tax picture change and believes the present method of collecting income taxes through payroll deduction or "withholding" is the best plan ever adopted by the government. "It makes a lot more paper work for everybody", he observed, "but I don't know how people would get along without it."

Commends Service

As to a career in government service, Stakem says he believes

Board Defers Decision On Cleaning Plant

The Board of Zoning Appeals last night deferred a decision on the application of a South Cumberland man to operate a cleaning plant in a garage at the rear of his home.

Joseph Spera, 134 West Third Street, said he wished to set up a cleaning business in the garage and that he would like to enlarge it if business warrants.

The area is zoned as a Residential B area. Spera said the property is bordered by a bakery and a junk yard and that no harm would be done by allowing a cleaning business, the only trade he knows.

Granted to Albert F. Stine was permission to build a home at 10 and 11 Summit Avenue which will set back only 10 feet from the building line.

Stine explained the lot is too steep to allow the conventional distance, and that only one other person was likely to build on the street. The permit was granted on the basis of the terrain.

Withdrawn were applications submitted by William P. Roeder and William J. Robertson for buildings on Holland Street which would allow less side yard than called for by the code.

The Weather

The air was a little chilly again yesterday with overcast skies above. Some residents got their topcoats out again. The high temperature recorded at Constitution Park was 62 degrees with a low reading of 50 degrees. At 7:30 p. m. yesterday the mercury stood at 58 degrees and humidity at 6 p. m. was 73 per cent. Only a trace of rainfall was reported. Today's forecast calls for rather cloudy skies and somewhat warmer with scattered showers likely.

31,607 Obtain Jobless Pay

BALTIMORE, April 29 (AP)—Jobless payments went to 31,607 persons in Maryland last week, the top so far for 1954, although new claims were down slightly from the previous week, officials said.

The State Department of Employment Security said $765,330 was paid out in jobless benefits last week, also a new peak for the year.

Claims in the same week a year ago went to 12,745 with the checks totaling $240,659. Benefits have been liberalized since then.

New claims last week totaled 4,783, down 136 from the previous week.

Chairman Daniel Kline of the Employment Security Board said the new claims represented new layoffs in a number of industries.

District Forest Boards To Meet

A joint meeting of the district forestry boards of the four western counties in Maryland will be held Saturday and Sunday, May 8-9 at Herrington Manor in Garrett County, District Forester William H. Johnston said yesterday.

The foresters will meet to correlate programs in the district and to review the sample woodland management practices which have been instituted at Swallow Falls State Forest.

Chairmen of the boards are Joseph Fahey, Grantsville, for Garrett County; Arthur P. Hoffa, Barton, for Allegany County; and Lawrence Crickenberger, Frederick, for Frederick County. Washington County's newly reorganized board has not yet elected a chairman.

Seventeen members of the four boards as well as forestry supervisors and workers are expected to attend the two-day session.

Meanwhile, Johnson reported, the machine planting of young trees in the district will be completed by the end of this week with only state forest lands in Garrett County remaining to be planted.

The spring planting program involves approximately 1,500,000 trees being set in Allegany, Garrett, Washington and Frederick counties. Of these, 715,000 are being planted by machine.

Machine planting in Allegany, Frederick and Washington counties has been completed, Johnson said.

Applies For Permit

Bernard S. Miller, 70 Main Street, Lonaconing, has applied for a Class D beer license with the Allegany County Board of License Commissioners.

Lonaconing Boy Injured In Fall Off School Roof

Randall Brown Is Hospitalized

A 16-year-old athlete of Valley High School, Lonaconing, is reported in "fair" condition at Sacred Heart Hospital, where he was admitted last night suffering injuries in a fall from the two-story Central High School of that community.

He is Randall Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Brown, Watercliffe, Lonaconing. The left fielder of the Valley High baseball team was reported to have climbed to the roof of the old high school after a ball had been knocked there from nearby.

As he descended by way of the rain spout it was reported to have collapsed and he was hurled to the ground sustaining a head injury and other hurts.

He was rushed by ambulance to the local hospital where he was admitted about 8 p. m. X-rays have been taken. Brown last season was high scorer in the WMI soccer league and also played on the junior varsity basketball team at Valley.

TWUA Delegates Leave Sunday For Convention

Biennial Meeting Is Set In Atlantic City

A 12-man delegation from Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), will leave here Sunday to attend the TWUA's eighth biennial convention which will be held in Atlantic City, N. J., May 3 through May 8.

The Celanese union delegates include Earl L. Snyder, president; Melvin Harris, business manager; James Lynch, John Kreitzburg, Francis Harvey.

George Lyons, John Fogle, James Roby, John G. Thomas, James McGann, Lindley Dye and Roy T. Craze.

Snyder and Harris will also attend a Rayon Advisory Council meeting Sunday at 2 p. m. in the Ambassador Hotel there.

Some 1,550 delegates from 824 local unions and 64 joint TWUA boards in the United States and Canada will attend the convention.

Major business, according to Snyder, will be the election of general officers, executive council members and trustees and the fixing of basic TWUA policies.

LaVale Firemen Fill Officer Vacancies

Three new officers have been elected to fill vacancies of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Department, according to Cromwell Zembower, department president.

The new officers are Warren Livengood, fire chief; Bruce Krimm, assistant chief, and Paul A. Boch, recording secretary. Livengood succeeds Herman Shanks, who had to resign because he accepted employment outside the county. Krimm takes the place of Richard A. Burkey, who had to drop out because of the press of other activities. Boch replaces Robert A. Horn, who resigned because a change in his work schedule prevented him from attending meetings.

Receives Life Saving Award

Floyd R. Carroll, of South Paw Paw Way, a driver for the George F. Hazelwood Company, last night was presented a Life Saving Award of Lumbermens Mutual Casualty Company during a ceremony at the Algonquin Hotel. He was given the award for staying with his flaming truck when the brakes failed on a downhill run in Frostburg on July 9, 1951, and steering it safely past children at play. He is shown in the picture above being presented the award by G. G. Levering, of Philadelphia, resident vice president of Lumbermens and affiliated companies in the Kemper insurance group. Left to right are Levering, C. M. Sanner, of the Hazelwood Company, and Carroll.

India Lecturer To Address College Conference Today

Dr. Eddy Asirvatham of Madras, India, will be the principal speaker at the opening of the two-day Appalachian Inter-Collegiate Conference which begins today at Frostburg State Teachers College.

Dr. Asirvatham's topic following this evening's banquet at 6:15 o'clock will be "Free India's Attitude To The West." He later will speak at 8 o'clock on "India's Place In Asia and In A Free World." An open discussion will be conducted following his talks.

Registration will be held all day today beginning at noon for the primarily student gathering which also is free and open to the public.

Leo Stakem, conference chairman of the International Relations Club of Frostburg State, sponsors of the program which is built around the theme, "A New Outlook On A UN World," has scheduled the address of welcome and keynote speech for 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The conference will include talks by representatives of the diplomatic services of France, China, Turkey and the United States and will have an ambassador's panel and United Nations panel on Saturday.

Until recently Dr. Asirvatham was head of the Department of Political Science and Public Administration at the University of Madras and is now Professor of Missions and Christian International Relations at Boston University. He is rapidly becoming one of the most outstanding lecturers in America.

He has been a member of numerous university bodies in India and was vice president of Indian Political Science Journals. He is the author of several books on political theory, social justice, modern politics and India.

Dr. Asirvatham was educated in three countries and is a graduate of the University of Madras (A.B.), Hartford Theological Seminary (B.D.), Edinburgh University (Ph.D), Harvard University Graduate Work in Social Ethics and Political Philosophy.

March Payrolls Up Slightly As Employment Dips

Bank Debits Equal Volume Of 1953

Payrolls in the 17 major industries in the Cumberland area increased slightly during March in spite of a slight dip in employment, according to the April business report of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

The total payroll of $2,823,492 during March represented an increase of $138,506, or 5.1 per cent, over the February total.

Sharing in the payroll were 8,598 workers, a drop of 56, or .6 per cent from February.

Recalls Needed

Heavy recalls in industrial plants and railroads will be needed to bring the working force up to the 11,405 figure of March, 1953.

March postal receipts were up six per cent over February and postal savings deposits increased one per cent, while sales of saving bonds dropped 5.4 per cent.

Bank debits in March increased 14.1 per cent over February and totaled $23,187,000, almost identical to the volume of checks handled by banks in March, 1953.

Building permits valued at $41,550 increased 134.7 per cent over February to reflect the opening of the spring construction season, and compared favorably with March, 1953's $49,225.

Sales Predicted

Retail sales in Cumberland are expected to reach the $4,560,000 mark in May, according to the Sales Management index for this city.

This represents 242.6 of the volume of sales made in May, 1939, and 88.5 of sales in May of last year. The City National Index for May indicates sales will be 92.2 per cent of those made last May, and that the city is 7.8 below the national sales average.

Boy Scouts Will Participate In Soil Program

Board Commends Retiring Agent

Potomac Council Boy Scouts of America were among three new co-operators who agreed to a soil conservation program this year, Martin Gordon, soil conservation aide, reported yesterday at a meeting of the Allegany County soil conservation supervisors.

A full board of supervisors attended yesterday's session at the county farm agent's office in the Court House marking the final official conference attended by the retiring farm agent, Ralph F. McHenry. McHenry, who retires Friday, has been secretary of the board since its inception in 1942. He will be replaced as secretary to the group by Joseph M. Steger, who also will take over the duties as county agent after having been assistant to McHenry for many years.

A resolution was adopted by the board in appreciation for McHenry's untiring and faithful service for the board during the past 14 years. McHenry, thanking the board for its kindness, praised the soil conservation work being conducted in the county and offered his services and assistance at any time following his retirement.

Plans were completed for the testimonial dinner to be held for McHenry May 5 at St. Mary's Hall on Oldtown Road. Gordon is chairman of the ticket committee for the program which gets underway at 7 p. m.

Gordon, in his report to the board, said the Boy Scout Council had offered its scout camp on Oldtown Road for a cooperative soil conservation program. He pointed out the scouts will work with the forestry department and game commission also in working out a full program.

Food patches for wild life will be taught the scouts along with training and education in land use, tree planting and general maintenance of the property.

Other land owners who agreed to cooperate with the soil conservation committee are Lenwood Walker, Mexico Farms, and Eugene Johnson, Corriganville. Altogether, Gordon reported, the three co-operators' land totals 284 acres. Appropriately 600 farmers and land owners are now participating in soil conservation work with the commission.

Ernest Slider, chairman of the group, made plans to attend the state soil conservation directors association meeting in Baltimore May 8.

Allegewi Staff To Be Honored

Some 30 members of the staff of Allegewi, the Allegany High School yearbook, will be honored today during a dinner scheduled at 7 p. m. in Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

During the affair the members will receive copies of the yearbook. General distribution to the student body will be on Monday and Tuesday next week.

Joan Bennett, editor of the book, will preside at tonight's affair and guests will include Mr. and Mrs. Ralph R. Webster, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McCullough, and Harold C. Wickard, adviser for the yearbook.

Brief talks will be given by Webster, superintendent of Allegany County Schools, McCullough, principal of Allegany High and Wickard.

Following the dinner a dance will be held with music by Marty Flynn and the Society Ramblers.

The 124-page yearbook has a modernistic cover done in gray and pink with the theme, "Life At Allegany." For the first time, the yearbook has a feature section devoted to outstanding events of the school year.

Physician To Compete In National Car Race

By F. ALLAN WEATHERHOLT
(News Staff Writer)

Cumberland will have an entry in the National Capital Sports Car Races at Andrews Air Force Base, Washington, D. C., Sunday, when Dr. B. Skitarelic, Baltimore Pike, enters the fifth event at 2:40 p. m. with his MG.

Dr. Skitarelic will have his entire family, Mrs. Skitarelic, and daughters Kathryn, 11 and Margret, 9, as his pit crew, thus making his entry a double challenge to the entire family of sports car fans.

The fifth race at Andrews Field is known as The White House Trophy Race and will be run over an approximate distance of 50 miles using a Le Mans style start. Dr. Skitarelic will compete with some of the same drivers who will appear here May 16.

The National Capital Sports Car Races are being sponsored by the Sports Car Club of America and the United States Air Forces at Andrews Field, for the benefit of the Airmen's Living Improvement Fund.

The course covers 4.3 miles of smooth concrete runways, with straightaways up to 5760 feet, this making high speeds possible. Dr. Skitarelic expects to push his MG to its top speed and says he will make every effort to win the White House Trophy, although he realizes the competition will be keen.

Sponsors of the Washington races expect 150,000 spectators, and the military has made provisions for parking, refreshment stands, and all the other requirements for safely handling so large a crowd.

On May 16, when some of the nation's outstanding sport car enthusiasts assemble here for the second annual Cumberland event, a record crowd is also expected. The Lions Club, local sponsor, has had its committees working diligently the past week, making every conceivable provision for the event.

Hotels, motels and inns throughout the Cumberland area are reported booked solid for that weekend, indicating a crowd of spectators and competitors far surpassing last year's stellar performance.

A number of local sports car fans plan to go to Washington Sunday to see the races and to cheer Dr. Skitarelic on his attempt to break into the "really big-time."

Enters National Capital Races

County Teachers Will Take Conservation Tour Saturday

An Allegany County conservation tour for teachers and members of the supervisory staff of the Board of Education will be conducted Saturday as part of the "in service" training program of the board, Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of schools, announced yesterday.

The tour will be made in cooperation with the Agricultural Extension Service, University of Maryland, Maryland Department of Forests and Parks, Maryland Department of game and inland Fish, Maryland Department of Research and Education, Allegany County Soil Conservation District and the U. S. Soil Conservation Service.

Transportation for the 65-mile round trip throughout the county and luncheon will be furnished by the Board of Education.

Consultants for the tour which begins at Fort Hill High School at 9 a. m. Saturday will be Byron Ashbaugh, Maryland Department of Research and Education from Annapolis; Harry Hartman, assistant district forester; Dale Arner, wildlife field superintendent of the Department of Game and Inland Fish, Frostburg; Kenneth Stone, soil scientist; Martin Gordon, soil conservation aide and Fred Bull, extension service, University of Maryland, College Park.

The group, which will include 21 teachers from Beall Elementary, Pennsylvania Avenue, Hammond Street, Cresaptown, Columbia Street, Flintstone, Mt. Savage, Fort Hill, Valley of Lonaconing and Allegany, will leave Fort Hill school at 9:15 a. m. by bus traveling east on Route 40.

The schedule includes a stop at John Davis' sawmill on Route 40 to view the mill in operation, log scaling and lumber products; a scenic view from the top of Town Hill; grass seeding for wild rabbit production, subsoiling, diversion

Patricia Ann Priest Becomes 27th Apple Blossom Queen

WINCHESTER, Va., April 29 (AP)—Honey-haired, blue-eyed Patricia Ann Priest became Queen Shenandoah XXVII here today in the gala and colorful make-believe of the 27th annual Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival.

Secretary of Defense Wilson crowned the 17-year-old Arlington, Va., high school senior in an elaborate ceremony on the stately portico steps of Winchester's pride and joy, Handley High School.

Patricia's mother, Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, U. S. Treasurer, was unable to see her daughter's coronation because of a speaking engagement, but the rest of her family was present.

Several thousand persons witnessed the ceremony from the Handley Bowl, a block-long quandrangle stretching out from the foot of the high school's impressive steps.

Two performances of the spectacular "Forerunners—A Pageant of Springtime" were given from the portico, one immediately after the queen's coronation and another in mid-afternoon. More than 1,000 school children participated in the lavish production depicting springtime and youth, with a climactic patriotic motif.

Threatening skies and cold weather held down the size of the crowds, but officials were hoping—not too optimistically—for sunshine tomorrow when the pageant will again be given at 10:30 a.m. and when the afternoon grand feature parade will climax this apple country's springtime celebration.

Tonight, the annual fireman's parade wound for two hours through Winchester's spectator-lined streets. Firefighting equipment and firefighting companies from several states participated for prizes in this annual affair.

Tomorrow, Ed Sullivan of television will take over some of the limelight in this two-day extravaganza. Sullivan will be introduced to the pageant audience tomorrow morning and will be parade marshal in the feature parade tomorrow afternoon.

A final event on today's program was the Queen's Ball at the city auditorium.

Liquor Charge Hearing Is Set This Morning

$300 Bond Posted By E. L. Belfoure

A local bar and restaurant operator will be given a hearing today at 9 a.m. in Police Court on a charge of allegedly selling intoxicating beverages to minors.

Edward L. Belfoure, of 135 Polk Street, who operates the Hi-Dee Bar and Restaurant, 138 North Mechanic Street, was taken into custody yesterday at 6:20 p.m. by Lt. James E. Van, of the Police Detective Bureau and Officer Walter P. Dennison.

He posted bond of $300 and is being charged with violation of City Ordinance Chapter 10, Section 3A. The violation is "to sell, barter, furnish or give any alcoholic beverage to any person who is a minor, or under the age of twenty-one years."

Officer Dennison, who made a preliminary investigation said that on Wednesday night he saw four teen-agers sitting in a parked car on one of the city streets and noticed one of the party was taking a drink.

Upon further questioning he learned the alcoholic beverage was reported to have been obtained from the Hi-Dee Bar. The four teen-agers, who were involved in the purchase of the intoxicating beverage, were further questioned yesterday by Van.

Telephone Firm Tax Savings Get Airing By PSC

Consolidated Return Is Filed By AT & T

BALTIMORE, April 29 (AP) — People's Counsel for the Public Service Commission said today that the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. refused to pass on to its subsidiaries, including the one that serves Maryland, tax savings of $10,400,000 a year.

Joseph Allen, the people's counsel, told the commission the AT&T achieved the tax savings by filing a consolidated return for all subsidiaries.

Allen attacked the AT&T-subsidiary relationship in a hearing on a request by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. for rate increases that would produce $6,864,000 in additional revenue.

The proposed rates would work out to about three cents more per day per telephone.

E. Edward McLean, chief auditor for the PSC, said his computations indicated that it costs the C&P $203,235 a year to participate in the AT&T's tax savings plan.

R. M. Fowler, general accounting supervisor for the C&P, contended the AT&T was entitled to all the tax saving benefits. The intent of the law, he said, is only to prevent multiple taxation of companies which own more than 95 per cent of another company.

City Rec Survey Will Be Made In September

A comprehensive survey of Cumberland's recreational system will be conducted here about September 1, according to Robert E. Pence, city recreation director.

The survey has been asked by the City Recreation Board to point the best ways to use a $150,000 recreation bond issue sold recently.

G. Leslie Lynch, chief of the planning and survey division of the National Recreation Association, will be in charge of the study here.

Recreation officials here expect the study to provide the answer to steps needed to improve present recreation facilities and for the expansion of playgrounds and other facilities to meet the future needs of the city.

Revenue Chief Is Honored

Richard J. Stakem Retires Today From Internal Revenue Service

Just 20 years to the day he was assigned to the Cumberland office as a deputy collector, Richard J. Stakem, 414 Fayette Street, is retiring from governmental service as division chief of the Bureau of Internal Revenue covering Allegany and Garrett counties.

A native of Midland and lifelong resident of this county, Stakem entered government service September 22, 1933 as a deputy collector., working in the Baltimore office. On April 30, 1934, just 20 years ago, he was assigned to the Western Maryland area, covering Washington, Allegany and Garrett counties as a deputy collector.

At that time, his office was in the rooms now occupied in the post office building by the Red Cross.

Shared Office

Soon after establishing the local income tax office, Stakem moved to rooms 303-305 in the post office building and Edward V. Welsh, joined him as revenue stamp deputy. Welsh is now manager of the local office of the Maryland Comptroller of the Treasury.

In 1937, Stakem recalls, Washing County obtained its own deputy collector and he continued to work in Allegany and Garrett counties.

In January 25, 1943, the Cumberland branch was established as a division office and Stakem was promoted to division chief. This made it possible for people in this area, both individuals and business firms to transact every phase of their federal tax locally.

Stakem observed that many still go to the trouble of mailing withholding tax, income tax and other forms and payments to Baltimore, but since this is a division office, the same service can be given here.

Room Added

At the time the changeover was made, another room was added to the suite and eventually, with the closing of the district court clerk's office here, the Internal Revenue Bureau division offices were moved to the second floor of the post office building.

These present quarters were first occupied in October 1953. Regular employes include the division chief, three deputy collectors, a clerk-stenographer, a cashier, plus temporary help as needed.

Stakem has lived in Cumberland since December, 1939, when he moved from Midland. He worked in the coal mines in the Midland area for many years, and after being disabled in a mine accident, opened a confectionery and grocery store there. This place became a focal point in the community and he made countless friends.

Election Clerk

In 1916, after much interest in local civic affairs and politics, he was named assistant clerk to the Board of Election Supervisors. In 1920, he became clerk to the board and served in that capacity until he resigned to enter the Internal Revenue service in 1933.

During his time in Midland, Stakem served several terms as town clerk and was elected eight consecutive times without experiencing a single defeat. At one time, he served as mayor of the town for some months, after the mayor had resigned.

Stakem has seen the tax picture change and believes the present method of collecting income taxes through payroll deduction or "withholding" is the best plan ever adopted by the government. "It makes a lot more paper work for everybody', he observed, "but I don't know how people would get along without it."

Commends Service

As to a career in government service, Stakem says he believes

Board Defers Decision On Cleaning Plant

The Board of Zoning Appeals last night deferred a decision on the application of a South Cumberland man to operate a cleaning plant in a garage at the rear of his home.

Joseph Spera, 134 West Third Street, said he wished to set up a cleaning business in the garage and that he would like to enlarge it if business warrants.

The area is zoned as a Residential B area. Spera said the property is bordered by a bakery and a junk yard and that no harm would be done by allowing a cleaning business, the only trade he knows.

Granted to Albert F. Stine was permission to build a home at 10 and 11 Summit Avenue which will set back only 10 feet from the building line.

Stine explained the lot is too steep to allow the conventional distance, and that only one other person was likely to build on the street. The permit was granted on the basis of the terrain.

Withdrawn were applications submitted by William P. Roeder and William J. Robertson for buildings on Holland Street which would allow less side yard than called for by the code.

The Weather

The air was a little chilly again yesterday with overcast skies above. Some residents got their topcoats out again. The high temperature recorded at Constitution Park was 62 degrees with a low reading of 50 degrees. At 7:30 p. m. yesterday the mercury stood at 58 degrees and humidity at 6 p. m. was 73 per cent. Only a trace of rainfall was reported. Today's forecast calls for rather cloudy skies and somewhat warmer with scattered showers likely.

31,607 Obtain Jobless Pay

BALTIMORE, April 29 (AP)—Jobless payments went to 31,607 persons in Maryland last week, the top so far for 1954, although new claims were down slightly from the previous week, officials said.

The State Department of Employment Security said $765,330 was paid out in jobless benefits last week, also a new peak for the year.

Claims in the same week a year ago went to 12,745 with the checks totaling $240,659. Benefits have been liberalized since then.

New claims last week totaled 4,783, down 136 from the previous week.

Chairman Daniel Kline of the Employment Security Board said the new claims represented new layoffs in a number of industries.

District Forest Boards To Meet

A joint meeting of the district forestry boards of the four western counties in Maryland will be held Saturday and Sunday, May 8-9 at Herrington Manor in Garrett County, District Forester William H. Johnston said yesterday.

The foresters will meet to correlate programs in the district and to review the sample woodland management practices which have been instituted at Swallow Falls State Forest.

Chairmen of the boards are Joseph Fahey, Grantsville, for Garrett County; Arthur P. Hoffa, Barton, for Allegany County; and Lawrence Crickenberger, Frederick, for Frederick County. Washington County's newly reorganized board has not yet elected a chairman.

Seventeen members of the four boards as well as forestry supervisors and workers are expected to attend the two-day session.

Meanwhile, Johnson reported, the machine planting of young trees in the district will be completed by the end of this week with only state forest lands in Garrett County remaining to be planted.

The spring planting program involves approximately 1,500,000 trees being set in Allegany, Garrett, Washington and Frederick counties. Of these, 715,000 are being planted by machine.

Machine planting in Allegany, Frederick and Washington counties has been completed, Johnson said.

Applies For Permit

Bernard S. Miller, 70 Main Street, Lonaconing, has applied for a Class D beer license with the Allegany County Board of License Commissioners.

McHenry. McHenry, who retires Friday, has been secretary of the board since its inception in 1942. He will be replaced as secretary to the group by Joseph M. Steger, who also will take over the duties as county agent after having been assistant to McHenry for many years.

A resolution was adopted by the board in appreciation for McHenry's untiring and faithful service for the board during the past 14 years. McHenry, thanking the board for its kindness, praised the soil conservation work being conducted in the county and offered his services and assistance at any time following his retirement.

Plans were completed for the testimonial dinner to be held for McHenry May 5 at St. Mary's Hall on Oldtown Road. Gordon is chairman of the ticket committee for the program which gets underway at 7 p. m.

Gordon, in his report to the board, said the Boy Scout Council had offered its scout camp on Oldtown Road for a cooperative soil conservation program. He pointed out the scouts will work with the forestry department and game commission also in working out a full program.

Food patches for wild life will be taught the scouts along with training and education in land use, tree planting and general maintenance of the property.

Other land owners who agreed to cooperate with the soil conservation committee are Lenwood Walker, Mexico Farms, and Eugene Johnson, Corriganville. Altogether, Gordon reported, the three co-operators' land totals 284 acres. Appropriately 600 farmers and land owners are now participating in soil conservation work with the commission.

Ernest Slider, chairman of the group, made plans to attend the state soil conservation directors association meeting in Baltimore May 8.

Allegewi Staff To Be Honored

Some 30 members of the staff of Allegewi, the Allegany High School yearbook, will be honored today during a dinner scheduled at 7 p. m. in Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

During the affair the members will receive copies of the yearbook. General distribution to the student body will be on Monday and Tuesday next week.

Joan Bennett, editor of the book, will preside at tonight's affair and guests will include Mr. and Mrs. Ralph R. Webster, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McCullough, and Harold C. Wickard, adviser for the yearbook.

Brief talks will be given by Webster, superintendent of Allegany County Schools, McCullough, principal of Allegany High and Wickard.

Following the dinner a dance will be held with music by Marty Flynn and the Society Ramblers.

The 124-page yearbook has a modernistic cover done in gray and pink with the theme, "Life At Allegany." For the first time, the yearbook has a feature section devoted to outstanding events of the school year.

Physician To Compete In National Car Race

By F. ALLAN WEATHERHOLT
(News Staff Writer)

Cumberland will have an entry in the National Capital Sports Car Races at Andrews Air Force Base, Washington, D. C., Sunday, when Dr. B. Skitarelic, Baltimore Pike, enters the fifth event at 2:40 p. m. with his MG.

Dr. Skitarelic will have his entire family, Mrs. Skitarelic, and daughters Kathryn, 11 and Margret, 9, as his pit crew, thus making his entry a double challenge to the entire family of sports car fans.

The fifth race at Andrews Field is known as The White House Trophy Race and will be run over an approximate distance of 50 miles using a Le Mans style start. Dr. Skitarelic will compete with some of the same drivers who will appear here May 16.

The National Capital Sports Car Races are being sponsored by the Sports Car Club of America and the United States Air Forces at Andrews Field, for the benefit of the Airmen's Living Improvement Fund.

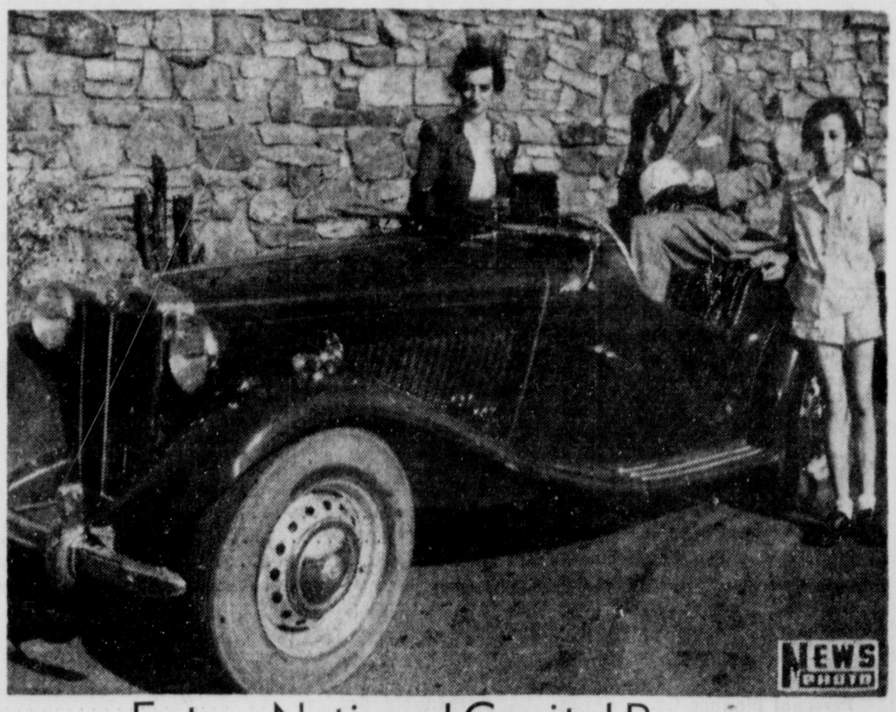

The course covers 4.3 miles of smooth concrete runways, with straightaways up to 5700 feet, this making high speeds possible. Dr. Skitarelic expects to push his MG to its top speed and says he will make every effort to win the White House Trophy, although he realizes the competition will be keen.

Sponsors of the Washington races expect 150,000 spectators, and the military has made provisions for parking, refreshment stands, and all the other requirements for safely handling so large a crowd.

On May 16, when some of the nation's outstanding sport car enthusiasts assemble here for the second annual Cumberland event, a record crowd is also expected. The Lions Club, local sponsor, has had its committees working diligently the past week, making every conceivable provision for the event.

Hotels, motels and inns throughout the Cumberland area are reported booked solid for that weekend, indicating a crowd of spectators and competitors far surpassing last year's stellar performance.

A number of local sports car fans plan to go to Washington Sunday to see the races and to cheer Dr. Skitarelic on his attempt to break into the "really big-time."

County Teachers Will Take Conservation Tour Saturday

An Allegany County conservation tour for teachers and members of the supervisory staff of the Board of Education will be conducted Saturday as part of the "in service" training program of the board, Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of schools, announced yesterday.

The tour will be made in cooperation with the Agricultural Extension Service, University of Maryland, Maryland Department of Forests and Parks, Maryland Department of game and inland Fish, Maryland Department of Research and Education, Allegany County Soil Conservation District and the U. S. Soil Conservation Service.

Transportation for the 65-mile round trip throughout the county and luncheon will be furnished by the Board of Education.

Consultants for the tour which begins at Fort Hill High School at 9 a. m. Saturday will be Byron Ashbaugh, Maryland Department of Research and Education from Annapolis; Harry Hartman, assistant district forester; Dale Arner, wildlife field superintendent of the Department of Game and Inland Fish, Frostburg; Kenneth Stone, soil scientist; Martin Gordon, soil conservation aide and Fred Bull, extension service, University of Maryland, College Park.

The group, which will include 21 teachers from Beall Elementary, Pennsylvania Avenue, Hammond Street, Cresaptown, Columbia Street, Flintstone, Mt. Savage, Fort Hill, Valley of Lonaconing and Allegany, will leave Fort Hill school at 9:15 a. m. by bus traveling east on Route 40.

The schedule includes a stop at John Davis' sawmill on Route 40 to view the mill in operation, log scaling and lumber products; a scenic view from the top of Town Hill; grass seeding for wild rabbit production, subsoiling, diversion

WINCHESTER, Va., April 29 (AP)—Honey-haired, blue-eyed Patricia Ann Priest became Queen Shenandoah XXVII here today in the gala and colorful make-believe of the 27th annual Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival.

Secretary of Defense Wilson crowned the 17-year-old Arlington, Va., high school senior in an elaborate ceremony on the stately portico steps of Winchester's pride and joy, Handley High School.

Patricia's mother, Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, U. S. Treasurer, was unable to see her daughter's coronation because of a speaking engagement, but the rest of her family was present.

Several thousand persons witnessed the ceremony from the Handley Bowl, a block-long quandrangle stretching out from the foot of the high school's impressive steps.

Two performances of the spectacular "Forerunners—A Pageant of Springtime" were given from the portico, one immediately after the queen's coronation and another in mid-afternoon. More than 1,000 school children participated in the lavish production depicting springtime and youth, with a climactic patriotic motif.

Threatening skies and cold weather held down the size of the crowds, but officials were hoping—not too optimistically—for sunshine tomorrow when the pageant will again be given at 10:30 a. m. and when the afternoon grand feature parade will climax this apple country's springtime celebration.

Tonight, the annual fireman's parade wound for two hours through Winchester's spectator-lined streets. Firefighting equipment and firefighting companies from several states participated for prizes in this annual affair.

Tomorrow, Ed Sullivan of television will take over some of the limelight in this two-day extravaganza. Sullivan will be introduced to the pageant audience tomorrow morning and will be parade marshal in the feature parade tomorrow afternoon.

A final event on today's program was the Queen's Ball at the city auditorium.
